Complete Market Reports Corrected Each Day, Giving the Wholesale Prices of Commodities, Farm Produce and Vegetables.

PORTLAND, Jan. 21.—A tour of the street this morning brings out two generally accepted facts regarding country produce values. Eggs are on the down grade, with 34c named in a majority of houses as top of the market, and poultry tending to lower prices. Hens and large springs rule at 13½ to 14c. The milder weather started in supplies, known to have accumulated in the country with a rush, and dealers state they expect larger receipts right along during favorable weather. Demand for live poultry is slow.

LACKS IN COURAGE

Congress too Timid to Vote Itself Increase in Salary.

PRESENT PAY IS NOT LARGE

Cost of Living in Washington is Very High and Statesmen Without Private Income Are Practically Barred from Society.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—There is sorrow at the south end of the Capitol where meet for purposes of debate and legislation the direct representatives of the people. The sorrow is of the self-pitying kind and is mingled with indignation, the latter directed at the Senators who represent the sovereign states at the Capitol's other end.

And it is all because the senators refused to give the Representatives something the Representatives refused to take for themselves to wit, an addition of $2,500 to their yearly stipends. The House, by its course, had said to the Senate: "We want this additional pay, we ought to have it, but are afraid to take it; you vote it to us, and let our constituents curse you instead of us. Your terms are longer and the people cannot get at you directly."

That was all very nice and logical, from the view point of the House. But the Senate could not see it that way. It was recalled that year after year, at the behest of temperance organizations, the House passed a resolution abolishing the sale of intoxicating liquor at the Capitol. It was a well-understood part of the game that the Senate would kill the resolution, and year after year it did kill it. But at one session, about three years ago, the Senate decided it was tired of the House's "monkey business," and quietly and unostentatiously it concurred in the House resolution.

There was sorrow then at the House end and a disposition to charge the Senate with bad faith; but the Senate stood pat, and under the Dome today it is not possible to buy intoxicants. That bibulous members manage to keep their supply in their committee rooms has no bearing at all upon the subject.

The part hard to understand is why there should be any hesitancy either in the Senate or House about increasing the salaries of members of Congress. It is doubtful if there would be any serious amount of criticism in any part of the country. Not only has

NATURE'S CATARRH CURE.

Sensible and Scientific Way to Cure This Disagreeable Disease.

Nearly everyone suffers at one time or another with catarrh. The natural way to cure this disagreeable disease is by applying healing medications direct to the diseased spot.

In no other way can this be done as naturally as by the use of Hyomel. Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit. Put several drops of Hyomel in the inhaler and then for a few minutes, four or five times a day, let the air you breathe come through it. In that way all the air that enters the nasal passages, the throat or the lungs, is filled with Hyomel's healing medication, reaching the respiratory organs, destroying all catarrhal germs and soothing and healing the irritated mucous membrane.

A few days' use of Hyomel will show how quickly it relieves all catarrhal conditions, and you will not have to use it long before you find it has effected a complete and lasting cure.

So strong is T. P. Laurin's faith in the power of Hyomel to cure catarrhal troubles, that with every dollar outfit he gives a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy gives satisfaction. He takes all the responsibility and you cannot afford to suffer longer with catarrh when an offer like this is made to you.

Should extra bottles of Hyomel be needed they can be obtained for 50c, making this one of the most economical as well as the most reliable remedies for catarrh that is known.

The part hard to understand is why there should be any hesitancy either in the Senate or House about increasing the salaries of members of Congress. It is doubtful if there would be any serious amount of criticism in any part of the country. Not only has

Washington become a world capital and a "City Beautiful," but it has become about the most expensive place in the country to live. Members of the diplomatic corps aver that living is more expensive here than in any capital of the world, with the possible exception of St. Petersburg.

Out of his salary of $5,000 a year a Senator or Representative must pay his campaign expenses and contribute to numberless charities. He is lucky to have $3,500 a year left for his family. That doesn't go very far in Washington. It will enable him to live, of course in a modest sort of way, but unless he has a private income he is absolutely barred from participation in society, except to attend the White House receptions and an occasional "combination affair at one of the second-class hotels. Society plays a large part, larger than most people believe in the running of this or any other government; and the poor man in Washington is tremendously handicapped, no matter how brilliant his mental attainments.

It is notorious that a poor man cannot afford to accept a diplomatic post, because our diplomats are not adequately paid. It is getting to be true of the United States Senate and in the House cloak-rooms the same thing is talked.

A time will come no doubt, when Congress will have the courage to vote itself more salary, but the time is not yet. Either the country will have to be educated up to the point of clamorously endorsing such a project, or men will have to come to Congress who have more back-bone.
