ANOTHER CAUSUS BELLI.

The people of Woodburn have ordered the Japanese section hands on the Southern Pacific railway to quit work there, and famous. The little brown men have obeyed the order to the letter.

The American laborer has long ago abjured section work on the railways. We do not blame him for chucking it, either: it is the hardest and coarsest and worst-paid labor in the American world of work.

The railways are to blame for many things, but they are not to be censured for using the Japanese or any other recent element of foreign labor in this field long ago abandoned by the American and quasi-American. And we might go further, while we are at it, and declare that the railways are today the heaviest patrons of organized union labor on the continent, and this should weigh heavily in disparaging such silly breaks as this made at Woodburn.

TOMORROW'S CRISIS.

The City of Astoria and all her tributary territory will face a crisis in current history tomorrow night, when the brains and wealth and spirit of this section meet in conclave at the Astoria opera house, to forge new links in the commercial chain that links this port and county to the progress of the world.

There is the making of new and potent records in this organic movement of the commercial bodies here, if only the spirit of real enterprise and common good shall supervene to direct the conclusions. There will be a plenitude of good counsel, words of cheer and plans for improvement, enough to give ample and wise direction to every dormant faculty and facility in our midst, and it is for us to choose the best and safest and most expedient, and apply it at once, hot from adoption, to the needs of the city and county; to cut out the individual, broaden our perspective and learn that we live with, for and by each other, and not ONE UPON ANOTHER!

Come out tomorrow night as an Astorian, not as a mere individual, and fit yourself into the new organism at that particular angle that common sense and common good will indicate, and then when the unified community takes up the strain of the new work, do your pulling with the crowd, for the whole thing, at all times, for the solid and single advantage of the city and county. If they progress and gather wealth and strength and prestige, you cannot lose your share of it and could not if you would!

EXTRA SESSION AT SALEM.

With half a hundred bills yet to come from committee, be debated and passed up and but twelve days left of the forty, it begins to look as if there might be need of an extra session, a matter determinable mainly by the governor, and he not very much disposed to call it, if one may draw reasonable inferences in such a relation.

The majority might do the clever thing for once in history and stay with their unfinished business until it shall be disposed of sans per diem, and sans all other perquisites, a concession the ordinary legislator is not commonly given to making. There is a vast deal of really important business yet to be done at Salem, far more than can be achieved in the allotted time. Just how it will eventuate is a problem at present; but in the light of what has been accomplished to date, and the dubious outlook for the realization of any effective and popular work, the people of Oregon will be better off with her legislators at home, doing something in a private way, of elemental good, than at the capital doing practically nothing, at $20,000 a day.

THE BRIX BILL.

The Brix bill, making a highway of all unnavigable streams in the county has not a comfortable sound to many people in the rural districts hereabout. It not only has a suspicious look of ulterior purpose on the part of the logging industries, but it smacks of an encounter, sooner or later, with the fundamental edict of property rights as maintained by the individual, and with the old legal fundament, the law of eminent domain. It is susceptible of very rigid analysis and we doubt if it will stand much of that sort of thing.

EDITORIAL SALAD.

All honor to Representatives McCune and Brix, of Clatsop, for standing pat for the people on the Chapin bill to put the Oregon railroads in the purview of the law. And this includes Senator Schofield, as well, in his particular province at Salem.

"Haste makes waste at Salem." About three-fourths of the ultimate legislation rushed through there in the next ten days will go to pieces for want of constitutional stamina, or on account of being imperfectly framed up and loaded with errors.

Now let the United States Senate t-r-r-emble. Jeff Davis has been duly elected by the legislature of Arkansas and the avalanche will strike Washington early in March. By the way, how is Davis on apologies in open session?

What's the matter with the Washington legislature creating a "Port of Columbia" and making Pacific and Wahkiakum counties bear the burden of a half-million tax charge for the benefit of Vancouver?

Jamestown wants a government advance of $1,700,000, to be returned from the receipts, and points to the St. Louis example. The precedent includes repayment in full and the certainty that there would be no shortage.

Col. Bryan is shaping up the Democratic platform for 1908 with the help of some of the party leaders in New York. The work of the latter, however, is simply a matter of concurrence in anything the colonel may suggest.

The 2-cent-a-mile railroad bill passed the Missouri house by a vote of 99 to 1. It seems that the wicked minority is a ghost that has ceased to wa'k.

Appropriating money to the Indians will not do any vast amount of harm to the treasury. The white man will soon recover and restore it to the channels of trade.

This is not a good time to boom the Canadian northwest among immigrants but the southwest continue to march right along.

Tired Nervous Women Make Unhappy Homes

MRS. NELLIE MAKHAM

MRS. GEO. A. JAMES

A nervous irritable woman, often on the verge of hysterics, is a source of misery to everyone who comes under her influence, and unhappy and miserable herself.

Such women not only drive husbands from home but are wholly unfit to govern children.

The ills of women act like a fire brand upon the nerves, consequently seven-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, the "blues", sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some organic derangement.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness alternating with extreme irritability? Do you suffer from pains in the abdominal region, backache, bearing-down pains, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, and almost continually cross and snappy? If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous troubles of women than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.

Mrs. Nellie Makham, of 151 Morgan St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was a wreck from nervous prostration.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; a Woman's Remedy for Women's ills.

I suffered so I did not care what became of me, and my family despaired of my recovery. Physicians failed to help me. I was urged to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I want to tell you that it has entirely cured me. I think it is the finest medicine on earth and I am recommending it to all my friends and acquaintances.

Mrs. Geo. A. James, a life long resident of Fredonia, N. Y., writes:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was in a terribly run down condition and had nervous prostration caused by female trouble, in fact I had not been well since my children were born. This condition worked on my nerves and I was irritable and miserable. I had tried many remedies without getting much help but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me back to health and strength. It has also carried me safely through the change of life. I cannot too strongly recommend your medicine."
