

ALONG THE WHARVES

Roanoke Arrives in From California Coast.

MARCONI AT HER HOME DOCK

Captain Richardson's Port Anniversary—Costa Rica Here From San Francisco—Redondo In—Poulsen Out—Odd Notes.

The steamship Roanoke crossed in yesterday afternoon from the lower coasts, with forty people in her cabins, the following disembarking here: Mrs. Harriet Gill, the mother, and Mrs. G. W. Gries and four children, the sister, nephews and nieces, of Mrs. Joseph Phillips, of 582 Exchange street, in this city; at whose home they are welcome guests: Mrs. Gries joined her husband here, he having been here for some months. The party comes from Ferndale, California.

The schooner Marconi, of the Simpson fleet, arrived in yesterday afternoon from San Francisco and went to her berth at the Columbia mills lock at Knapppton, where she will lie for order, there being a strong probability of her going foreign on her outward trip, though it is not definitely yet. The five masted schooner Louis is expected in from the Bay City sometime during the coming week.

Twenty-seven years ago today yesterday morning, at 10 o'clock, Captain Charles Richardson, of the handsome tender Columbine, first entered this port, as first officer of the U. S. steamer Shubrick, after having come out from New York as second officer of the Manzanita. He is now one of the ranking officers of his branch, and an honored citizen afloat and ashore.

The steamer Redonda came in yesterday morning on the flood and went straightway up the river to the metropolis.

The ships Elwell and Sintrim went up the river on the tow lines of the Oklahama, and both will load lumber for their outward trips.

The steamship Costa Rica came in yesterday and docked for a brief season at the O. R. & N. pier and then went to Portland.

The British steamship Gymeric came down yesterday morning en route to Shanghai, and is anchored in the lower harbor.

The steamer Johan Poulsen came down from Portland at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and went to sea and San Francisco without delay.

The steamer Charles Nelson came in yesterday and went on up the river without wasting any time in this harbor.

The oil tank steamer Atlas wended her way up the river yesterday to discharge her fluid cargo where it is needed the most.

The steamer F. A. Kilburn was among the arrivals from the south yesterday morning, and she docked at the Callender pier, her own berth at the Elmore dock being occupied by the oil tank barge, No. 91, of the Standard people, discharging cargo. Mrs. A. Gerow, of Portland, was among her cabin passengers.
