HOPPER FEEDING.

Experiment Which Seems to emonstrate Its Superiority. An experiment station worker sends some interesting information about a lot of chickens. He says: "Early in July we had an incubator hatch come off, and the chicks, fortyseven in number, were given to three bens. One, a Brahms, was given twenty, one Orpington ben fifteen and a Barred Rock hen twelve. All were placed on free range. The Brahma was placed on grass and fed nothing but soft food for the first two weeks, the food being equal parts oatmeal, cornmeal and bran, with 25 per cent meat meal. This was fed twice a day and the other two feeds bread and milk. At the end of two weeks we fed two mashes daily, hard grain in morning and sprouted wheat at night.

"The other two hens were put in the middle of a twenty acre field, and a hopper filled with cracked wheat and cracked corn and coarse beef scraps mixed with the grain was put in each coop. They were only visited twice a week. All the bens were given full liberty after five days, and one result is the cornfield chicks are as wild as partridges; have to crawl up on hands and knees to get even a glimpse of them. Noting that they were growing right away from the others that were band fed, I went out one evening with a set of small scales and a box to weigh them. The chicks were not selected at all; were just taken from under the hen as I could reach them. Four were weighed from each coop.

Pounds. Ounces hand fed chicks weigh...... 0 hopper fed (with black hen)... 1 hopper fed (with B. Reck).... 2

"What of that as a showing in favor of hopper freding! The chicks are twenty-six days old. Hopper feeding makes the work twice as easy for poultrymen. We have hoppers here now and have over 1,000 growing youngsters. Since this style of feeding was established here I get up threequarters of an hour later of a morning and do not have to break my back carrying three or four bushels of wheet at a time to feed in the mornings."

Some Poultry Evils. George A. Palmer, a prominent English breeder, very truly says:

"The most serious evils of present farm mismanagement are crowding the birds on an acre or two of poultry tainted land just around the homestead that has probably been overstocked with fowl for hundreds of years; inbreeding, which, however useful occasionally in show stock, can only resuit with utility stock in decreased productiveness, attended by liver disease and tuberculosis; the neglect of pure bred sires, which are just as impressive in the poultry yard as in larger stock; insanitary bouses, improper feeding, consisting too often of any odd sack of grain that happens to be about the place or, worse still, solely of purchased corn; the greatest evil of all, setting eggs indiscriminately from the whole flock without the slightest attempt at selection unless it is for the largest eggs, which result in the greatest proportion of infertiles and usually bring out the weakest chickens."

Feeding For Size.

Some may be interested in knowing how we feed for size, says an old breeder. We induce exercise, but feed plentifully and make the diet as varied as possible. Milk, mest, grain and green food form the main basis of our feeding. Skimmed milk at 6 cents per gallon is a cheap food, and we also use quantities of thick sour milk. Practically no corn is fed our young stock until six months old. Bran and middlings are a daily portion of the diet and are kept before the chicks at all times in a dry state, but sometimes we moisten this mixture for a change. Have found whole outs soaked in skim milk a great growth producer, but they should not be fed until chicks reach the age of six weeks. Charcoal, grit and cool water are not forgotten.

Labor on Poultry Farms

The demand for labor on poultry farms is, of course, strictly limited and is confined almost entirely to experienced workers, although on the large establishments a large number of men and women are employed in plucking. dressing and packing, and if this is not skilled labor it is something akin to it and is not the kind of work a person could take to without some experience and practice. There is a good opportunity for young men who are prepared to undergo a thorough training in the management of fancy stock. This branch offers good reward for workers, and progress is made in it entirely through merit. Wages run up to $30 and board per month.

The Narragansett Turkey.

The Narragansett turkey is a native of Rhode Island and Connecticut It is next to the bronze variety in size, the standard weights being: Cock, 30 pounds; cockerel, 20 pounds; hen, 18 pounds; pullet, 12 pounds. Disqualifying weights: Cock, less than 22 pounds; hen less than 14 pounds. In plumage color this turkey is black, each feather ending in a broad, light steel gray hand edged with black.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

This artistic little frame cottage was built as a summer residence near Minneapolis at a cost of $1,300, exclusive of heat and plumbing. It should not cost over $1,500 in less favored localities. The striking feature is the large front living room with its open fireplace. It is designed to be finished inside in Norway pine, varnished. There is a small cellar under the kitchen. GLENN L. SAXTON.

I TO AND THE PROPERTY. To cure a severe cold in a fowl, begin treatment with a dose of epsom salts, twenty to thirty grains. For any swelling around the eyes upply melted lard to which has been added a small quantity of kerosene oil. Also give the bird a tenspoonful of this mixture twice a day.

Percing For Eggs. Where fowls are given the proper feed and care there will be no occasion to force them for egg production. Where egg forcing feed is given the eggs are seldom fertile.

Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup is a new remedy, an improvement on the laxatives of former years, as it does not gripe or nauseate and is pleasant to take. It is guaranteed. T. F. Laurin, Owi Drug Stere.

MENNENS

Facsimile of Box.

The Guaranteed Purity of Mennen's Borated Talcum Toilet Powder

Under the new pure drugs law the Mennen Com-pany guarantees every box of Tlennen's Toilet Powder supplied to the trade, and each box bears the government serial number 1542, guaran-teeing that Tlennen's Toilet Powder is made and teeing that Hennen's Tollet Powder's made and sold in conformity with the terms of the new law. Doubtless there will still be offered substi-tutes and imitations described as being "as good as Mennen's." But no one need be deceived by this flimsy excuse for counterfeiting a valuable article. Anyone who has used Mennen's knows that it is absolutely inimitable. There is nothing like it; nothing just as good.

To protect purchasers to the utmost, Men-nen's Powder's now put up in the "box that lox," a box which cannot be refilled with an inferior substitute. Insist on having Mencen's end only Mennen's as the only protection against imitations and substitutes.

Have you tried Mennen's Violet Borated Talcum Toilet Powder? Ladies partial to violet perfame will find Mennen's Violet Talcum fra-grant with the odor of fresh-placked Parma violets.
