Columbia Arrives in From the California Coast.

ALLIANCE BARRED AT BAR

Geo. W. Elder Off For 1300 Mile Voyage—Puako Down and Ready For Sea And San Pedro—Odds And Ends.

MARINE

Deputy Collector of Customs Allen Y. Anderson yesterday took the official measurements of the new launch "Red Buoy" just finished at the yard of Wilson Brothers, for the Pacific Fisheries Company, of Bellingham Washington, and found they tallied as follows: length over all, 57 3-10 feet, breadth over all 12 4-10 feet, and depth 3 2-10 feet. Just as soon as she is equipped with her engines she will be taken around to the station on the Sound and enter upon her duties.

The steamer Alliance arrived down from the metropolis yesterday afternoon with a good crowd of people and lots of merchandise for Coos Bay points, but when she got to the bar she found it was doing some of its fanciest stunts under the pressure of a 50 mile wind outside, and she came back to the Callender, and remained there until the early flood of this morning.

The barkentine Puako, came down from Portland on the lines of the Oklahama yesterday morning and went to an anchor in the city channel. She is lumber laden for San Pedro and when she has delivered her cargo will take a straight shoot across the Pacific for her home port Honolulu.

The Lurline was behind her time last night, and did not get away for Portland until quite late.

The Hassalo keeps well in touch with her schedule and seems to be doing her usual share of the river traffic.

The steamship Columbia arrived in over the bar at 1:35 o'clock yesterday, and was at her dock an hour later. She brought up a heavy list of people in her cabins and was gorged with freight.

The steamship Geo. W. Elder came down from the metropolis early yesterday morning and laid here until the noon hour, when she went to sea and San Francisco, Eureka and Los Angeles.

Arrangements are being made to have the steamer Telegraph resume her old run between this city and Portland, on April 15. She will arrive here at 1 p. m. and leave again at 2 p. m. While still carrying freight, the passenger end of the business will receive the greater share of attention. Stops at but few of the landings along the river will be made. The Telegraph is owned by Captain U. B. Scott and will be in charge of Captain Archie Riggs.

The Oriental Liner Arabia is scheduled to pass this morning on her way to Hongkong and way ports. In her cargo is a $200,000 wheat shipment for the Orient, amounting to 55,000 barrels. Also 500 bales of cotton, 350 tons of wheat and 500,000 feet of lumber. The total value in her hold comes to $235,000.

The steamer Johan Poulsen, which the Portland papers have had loading at Rainier for the past several days, will finish loading at Knappton sometime today, and will leave out for San Francisco at once, with her cargo of 800,000 feet of lumber from the Simpson mills.

The federal inspectors got after the Elder at the Callender pier yesterday morning for a fire drill and found all hands on the qui vive, the result of the surprise drill being very satisfactory.

The Oklahama went up the river yesterday without a tow on her hawsers, for the first time in a long while.

A VALUABLE REFERENCE.

There is no end of information about newspapers in the American Newspaper Annual (published by N. W. Ayer & Son, Philadelphia, $5.00 net), the 1907 edition of which is just out. Catalogued in simple tabulated form are the facts one needs in dealing with newspapers, with particular attention to circulations, which are all given in plain figures. There are supplementary lists of daily newspapers, magazines and class publications. A colored map map of each State is bound in the book. It also contains for the first time the Advertising Telegraph Code, compiled especially for the use of the publishing interests and filling a long felt want in this direction.

EMBARGO REMOVED.

Yard Will Now Be Cleared And Hundreds Of Men Return To Work.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., April 3.—The officials of the Northern Pacific received orders, today, removing the embargo on the eastern shipments of forest products which went into effect on January 1. This order will effect some 200 mills in this state, many of which have been closed down owing to the inability to make shipments. Many mills will start up a season as their yards are cleared of the accumulated stock and hundreds of men will return to work. Six thousand cars of lumber, it is estimated, are awaiting shipment on the lines of this company in western Washington.

SPECIAL EFFORT MADE.

Well Known Astorians Seek An Order To Keep the A. & C. Offices Here.

In compliance with a suggestion here to fore made in that behalf, the Chamber of Commerce of this city recently named Messrs: Samuel Elmore and Brenham Van Dusen as a special committee to wait upon President C. M. Levey, of the Portland & Seattle Railway Company, and urge that the regular passenger offices of the A. & C. system be retained here with the force so well known in continued charge.

On Monday last these gentlemen went to Portland in this behalf, and had a long and pleasant talk with President Levey, stating the desire of the people here to have this branch of the service kept up for all time, to all of which Mr. Levey responded in terms.

He said that the men who had taken over the Astoria & Columbia road had no desire to mimic the needs or the importance of Astoria in any way; that they had made very heavy investments in this relation that did not end with the mere purchase of the Astoria line, but involved the buying of other and collateral services, and that for the time being it was absolutely essential that the whole business be operated and despatched from a central source, not only as a matter of economy, but on the score of actual convenience; that the management had no motive nor wish to deprive this city of any advantage, but that until the north bank line was completed into Portland it would be very necessary to minimize the work and expense of the new establishment; that when the line was entirely completed and in continuous operation and alignment, he did not doubt that Astoria would receive all the benefits generally inuring to terminal points in the way of offices and officers.

He was quite frank and made it plain that his candor was due to the policy of his superiors, and left the impression that the future held all that this city might reasonably expect in the way of official consideration, giving logical and reasonable predicate for all he said, in either direction.

ATTACK FIGARO.

Scandal in France Over Publication of Campaign Letters.

PARIS, April 3.—President Clemenceau has addressed another long letter to the Figaro because of the publication by that paper this morning of three articles which were sequestered at the expulsion from France of Mgr. Montagnini, former papal secretary of the papal nunciature. The premier attacks Jacques Plou, president of the Liberal League, saying his actions, as revealed for the first time by the publication of these documents were nothing but a series of attempts to "Tap" the Vatican for its own electioneering campaign. For this purpose M. Plou did not hesitate to take advantage of a man, "Whose intelligence is below the average, but who shows nothing of the low characteristics that must be his if M. Plou spoke the truth."

M. Clemenceau, explains at length the famous meeting which M. Plou communicated to Mgr. Montagnini, under a pledge of deepest secrecy and which took place at the request of M. Plou in the house of an American woman.

M. Plou told M. Clemenceau at the time that he was not in favor of separation. M. Clemenceau answered that he did not agree with him and that was all. M. Clemenceau said he was mystified at this extraordinary proceeding when he saw the document published in the Figaro when it became evident to him that this had simply been another scheme to "Tap" the Vatican.

"The criminals," concluded M. Clemenceau's letter, "who steal and kill, are worthy of public esteem compared with the man who tries to dishonor the people under cover of the strictest secrecy and then hopes to extricate himself by stammering denials."
