Big Gale Blowing Off Columbia River Mouth.

LIGHT SHIP DRAGS ANCHOR

No. 50 Blown Off Anchorage and Driven Inshore—Rescued By Tug Wallula—Now at Buoy Station—News Along Busy Waterfront.

Lightship 50, anchored off the mouth of the Columbia, dragged her chains last night in a 75-mile-an-hour gale and was blown inshore. The tug Wallula went to her assistance and picked her up off North Head. She was then brought in and anchored at the buoy depot at Tongue Point.

This is the third time No. 50 has been blown off her anchorage. The other two times she was beached on the Washington shore but no lives were lost. She is managed entirely by sails and in a big gale so close inshore is nearly helpless if her anchor drags. A ship equipped with an engine should be stationed off the bar as hard winds occur too frequently for the safety of a sailing vessel.

The Cintram arrived in yesterday from San Pedro in ballast. Notwithstanding the fact that a heavy gale was blowing off the bar she sailed in unattended.

The lighthouse tender Armeria leaves today for Alaska, where she will deliver supplies to all the lighthouses in the Arctic Ocean. She stops at Seattle for a full supply of coal.

The Annie Larsen is lying in the harbor with a full cargo, ready to go to sea. She is delayed, however, by the desertion of a portion of her crew who abandoned her yesterday.

The gas launch General Sheridan was sold yesterday by her owners, C. M. Johns, to the River Transportation Company for $3600.

The General Sheridan was built in Astoria this year and has first papers. Her purchasers will take her to South Bend, Wash., to be used in the coast-wise trade.

The British steamship Kirklee came down from Portland yesterday bound out for Kobe and Shanghai with wheat and flour.

The Johan Poulsen is in the harbor waiting for a favorable passage across the bar. She is bound to Frisco with lumber.

The steamship Quinault came in yesterday morning from San Francisco in ballast.

The Kilburn left out last night for San Francisco.

Police Court—Harry Platt entered a plea of guilty to being a vagrant and having no visible means of support was sentenced to 20 days in jail or pay a fine of $40. On a motion by Prosecutor Abercrombie the judge suspended sentence providing Pratt leaves town, which he agrees to do. One plain drunk pleaded guilty through an interpreter and was fined the usual $5 or two days. Bell was forfeited to the extent of $5.

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE.

It makes all the difference in the world to the convivial man where, and what, he drinks. Most men desire beauty and cleanliness, and handsome appointments in the saloon they patronize regularly, as well as the essential pre-requisite of genuine wines and liquors that are served to them. And these things are so particularly and properly conspicuous at Otto Sund's elegant resort, the Commercial, at No. 509 on the street of that name that they account thoroughly for the fixed and splendid custom he enjoys. There is nothing allowed to pass his counter but the best and choicest in every department of indulgence, and the service behind it all, is the most pleasing and satisfying in the city.

FOR SERVICE AND CONVENIENCE.

The prime essential of a business establishment is to have it open for the purposes of business when it is needed; not closed by custom nor any rule of hours. This essential attaches to the drug store of Dr. C. E. Linton at 135 Eleventh street, which is open every one of the 24 hours in the day; and with a stock that meets every requirement likely to arise in that time. It is one of the exceptions and is thoroughly endorsed.

Remember the big closing out sale of millinery goods at Mrs. Ross's. Children's hats at less than cost. This sale will continue until everything is sold.

For The Little People. Every parent in this city should investigate, at once, the new and appreciable shoe for the youngsters, at Charles V. Brown's Commercial street house. They are called the "E. C. Scuffer" and are the very epitome of good wear and real comfort. They are going like wild-fire and the kids themselves are after them because they look so "comfy."

If a man knows anything of his own anatomy he must be aware that his stomach is a magnificent organ and entitled to the utmost consideration; knowing that he will eat at the Palace when he can conserve its safety and comfort, by eating only the best cooked, best served and most compensating meal in the city of Astoria, day, or night, it is always the same, and the Palace habit is one that pays to acquire. Arthur Smith is a master of the art of preparation and service, of all things edible.
