THE POLICE COURT SESSION

MAYOR WISE POSTPONES C. F. WISE CASE UNTIL MONDAY BECAUSE OF POSSIBLE PREJUDICE

Mayor Wise presided in police court yesterday and in the case of C. F. Wise charged with harboring minor girls in a saloon and refusing to surrender the same to a police officer on request, the Mayor felt that his recent actions in the matter of dance halls and the like might give cause to some talk of prejudice and bias on his part and at the request of the counsel for the defense, he postponed the case until next Monday when Judge Anderson will have returned. The postponement was against the wishes of the city attorney who wanted the case tried at once. The prosecution's witness, Emma Johnson, one of the minor girls who has been under arrest since last Friday and in the city jail has been released, in custody of Police Officer Twombly and is at the present staying at his house, but is returned to the jail at night so that she is always under the care of the officer. It not being considered that the jail is a proper place for a girl of her years to be confined for any length of time.

C. G. Lund, charged with being a vagrant and without visible means of support, was fined $50 or 25 days in jail. Sentence was suspended on the condition that he leave town at once. Two Japs were found fighting on Sixth street Monday night, on being arrested one drew a knife and evidently had intentions of cutting one of the officers. He was disarmed and appeared in police court yesterday afternoon and was fined $30 or 12 days in jail, his antagonist forfeited bail.

Hedges on the Gamblers

Prosecuting Attorney Hedges was in Astoria yesterday during a few leisure hours from St. Helens. On being approached as to what action (if any) he contemplated taking with regard to the gamblers the prosecuting attorney said that he was not prepared to discuss the question as he was not sufficiently supplied with data or information to enable him to express any definite opinion or to outline any course of action. He is at present very busy at St. Helens where there is a very heavy docket including a murder case, an abduction case, and a commission in lunacy.

The steamer Hyndford, which came up in ballast, went up to the Portland Flouring Mills to load for the Orient. She is a vessel of 2775 tons.

The Costa Rica was at the O. R. & N. wharf last evening en route for Frisco. She took a goodly list of passengers and considerable freight.

The tug Harvest Queen, after towing down the schooner Columbia, went back to St. Helens to bring down the schooner Eclipse.

The four-masted schooner King Cyrus sailed in last evening about 6:30. She is from Frisco and is anchored off the Lurline dock.

The schooner Glendale arrived in the river from Frisco and went on to Hume's Mill at Tongue Point.

The lighthouse tender Heather passed out at 6:5 a. m. yesterday on her trip to Gray's Harbor.

The tug Tatoosh was tied up below the O. R. & N. wharf last night.

The tug Melville was down the river yesterday afternoon.

The schooner Irene went up to Portland Monday night.

BUSY DAY AT THE WHARVES

The Roanoke In From San Francisco With 144 Passengers and Five Hundred Tons of Freight—Steamer Disabled Outside—Strong Nor-wester Blowing.

The scene on the waterfront last evening was busy in the extreme, and with a choppy sea and a nor-west breeze all the mosquito fleet were hopping around like peas on a drum. The Costa Rica tied up at the O. R. & N. wharf on her way down from Portland where she took on a large quantity of cases of salmon. She was scheduled to sail at 6 but did not get away till sometime after that hour. The King Cyrus, a four-masted schooner, sailed in and dropper anchor opposite the Lurline dock, just after the Lurline herself had tied up. Closely following the King Cyrus came the steamer Roanoke from Frisco, and with an ominous crashing and swaying of the timbers of the Rose-Higgins' wharf which she brushed as she passed by, she went on to tie up at Callender's. The steamer Kilburne was due to follow her. In the early hours of the morning the Hyndford had already footed it up to Portland.

The San Francisco steamer Roanoke came up about 6:45 and tied up at Callender's wharf. She carried 144 passengers, five of whom were for Astoria and 500 tons of freight, 60 tons of which came off. The captain of the Roanoke reports the steamer Johan Polson as broken down outside with a strong nor-wester blowing. The Roanoke proceeded to Portland at 8 p. m.

Yesterday morning a four-masted schooner sailed in over the bar and kept on up the other side of Simpson's lumber mills. This was probably the schooner Churchill.

The steamer Lurline came down from Portland last night about on schedule. Captain Larkins reports the water still rising up above. The vessel went away about 8 o'clock.

The four-masted schooner Columbia came down from Rainier with a load of 820,000 feet, loaded at Rainier. She was towed down by the tug Harvest Queen.

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE.

It makes all the difference in the world to the convivial man where, and what, he drinks. Most men desire beauty and cleanliness, and handsome appointments in the saloon they patronize regularly, as well as the essential pre-requisites of genuine wines and liquors that are served to them. And these things are so particularly and properly conspicuous at Otto Sund's elegant resort, the Commercial, at No. 508 on the street of that name that they account thoroughly for the fixed and splendid custom he enjoys. There is nothing allowed to pass his counter but the best and choicest in every department of indulgence, and the service behind it all, is the most pleasing and satisfying in the city.
