Handling City's Food Supply—Stranding of Big Ocean Liners. Demands Remedy—An Old-Time Ocean Race Between Windjammers — Broadening Influence of Carnegie Foundation

NEW YORK, June 6.—To the general public, peace is supposed to reign over the down town business district from the hour when darkness falls until office hours approach next morning. Yet at this time of the year pandemonium reigns in one section of the lower West side during the midnight and early morning hours. This territory, which embraces six blocks on West street, is the primary distributing point for all the garden stuff eaten in New York as well as other towns, ranging all over New England, out into Pennsylvania and up into Canada. Boats from the South loaded with fruits and vegetables arrive in the early evening, and from that time until midnight the longshoremen are busy unloading them, and the commission men, or their employees, a yelling, pushing, excited mob, like that of the stock exchange multiplied by a thousand and then gone mad, are busy seeing that they get all that is consigned to them and that it is taken to the right places. This same region is the rendezvous of the farmers who drive in from Long Island and New Jersey with loads of produce, often from points

Star liner Baltic, the Atlantic Transport Liner Minnetonka, and the Currier Caronia.

South street resorts of master mariners are discussing the great 15,000 mile ocean race of the three square riggers, the Inverness-shire, the Stronsa, and La Perouse, which left Oregon in December for a voyage around the Horn and across the Atlantic to England, where they arrived early in May. The tale is told by the second mate of a British tramp which has just reached her berth in a South Brooklyn dock. The three windjammers were all up at Astoria, Oregon, loading for the Mersey, when the captains began a discussion of the relative merits of their respective craft, which resulted in arrangements for a race and immediately roused the sporting blood of North Pacific ports and led to the wagering of considerable money. On December 27 the three vessels were towed out of the Columbia river and east off from their tugs at the same moment. A few hours later they had lost sight of one another. The Inverness-shire made the run to Cape Horn in fifty-six days, and there spoke the British ship Robert Duncan, which had left Astoria fourteen days earlier. On March 15 she signalled and passed the French ship Emperor Menelik. On April 9 the Menelik overhauled her again, and for six days the two vessels sailed bow to bow. Then the Scotch ship drew ahead and was heard of no more until she reached the Mersey on May 2, having made the voyage of approximately 15,000 miles in 126 days. Two days later the La Perouse dropped anchor beside her, and on May 15 the Stronsa made her appearance, thus rounding out a long distance sailing race that would have been remarkable even in the days of the famous Yankee clipper ships.

Perfect Womanhood

The greatest menace to woman's permanent happiness in life is the suffering that comes from some derangement of the feminine organs. Many thousands of women have realized this too late to save their health, barely in time to save their lives.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study. If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headache, bearing-down sensations, nervousness, irregularities or the "blues," she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as the great woman's remedy for woman's ills, made only of roots and herbs. It cures Female Complaints, such as Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and all Organic Diseases, and is invaluable in the Change of Life. It dissolves and Expels Tumors at an early stage. Subdues Faintness, Nervous Prostration, Exhaustion, and strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, and invigorates the whole female system. It is an excellent remedy for derangements of the Kidneys in either sex.

A few days ago Senator Tillman suggested an even less desirable place than either. But permitted a somewhat wider range of choice, and evidently a little particular as to his associations in any event, Mr. Harriman first selected one of the most expensive corners available on Fifth Avenue as the site for a city mansion, and now has paid $80,000 for a hundred-acre estate overlooking the Hudson River on which to erect a modest country home. The property is near to the estate which William D. Rockefeller recently purchased as the site for a $500,000 villa to be erected this summer for his son Percy. Not far away is Pocantico Hills, the $1,000,000 residence place of John D. Rockefeller, when he is not dodging process servers, and a little farther up the river a Wall Street broker is spending $250,000 on a medieval palace to contain 75 rooms. Nowhere in all Mr. Harriman's surroundings is the poorhouse which he appears so much to dread in evidence, but in case the Interstate Commerce Commission should get him finally, the big stone building at Sing Sing, in which misguided financiers who neglect to take their legal advice in advance find more or less permanent homes, is near at hand.

The congestion of the shopping district was suddenly increased last Friday morning by the advent of sixteen pretty girls and one more man from Oregon, who have just arrived on a trip which they are making to see the effete East. The man is Phillip S. Bates, editor of a farmer's paper published at Portland, and the girls are a selected bunch of rosy-cheeked farmer's daughters, each of whom won the privilege of becoming a member of the party as the prize for securing the most subscriptions to the paper in her county. In addition to becoming a champion canvasser, most of them have other claims to distinction which count for a lot in the home county, even if not very well understood along Broadway. Miss Ada Metcalf, of Benton County, for example, can milk ten cows without stopping to rest. Miss Ella Harrison, is the champion cheesemaker of Tillamook. Miss Grace McCosker is the champion hop-picker of Yamhill, besides being a college student, while Miss Audrey Woolery can drive a 36-mule team on her father's harvester in Morrow County. Since leaving Oregon, the party have visited Washington, where they were introduced to President Roosevelt, the Jamestown Exposition, and other points of interest in the South. It is the unanimous opinion, however, that New York beats them all. As a matter of fact, the girls should have numbered seventeen, but Miss Daisy Stansell, nee Betterley, made the mistake of bringing Mr. Stansell along, and so got separated from the party when it reached the Martha Washington Hotel, where even new and timid husbands, are accustomed to being out alone, are barred.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

LACK OF ENERGY.

No man or woman can be successful or happy if they lack energy. If they get up in the morning dreading the day work ahead they will accomplish very little. A great many people are this way. The cause is lack of vitality. Vitality or energy is the power to go and keep on going without becoming more than healthily tired. It comes from a perfectly working system just as power comes from a perfectly working engine. If you lack this power something is out of order. Ten to one it's your stomach.

Take two bottles of Cooper's New Discovery. It will get the stomach in shape. See if energy and ambition don't come back before the two bottles are gone.

This letter is from a man who tried it: "After suffering for some time from stomach trouble, loss of appetite, headaches and a kind of 'all tuckered out' feeling I decided to try Cooper's New Discovery."

"I used to get up in the morning with my tongue coated and sick at my stomach. I would feel as though it was almost impossible to drag myself to work. Lots of times I had dizzy spells and backaches. After I used several bottles all these symptoms began to disappear and soon I began to feel like my old self again. Now I feel like a new man. It is a pleasure to work, for I always feel like it. I eat well, and sleep well and am sure I will have no further trouble with my stomach." A. G. Latubys, 167 Porter St., Detroit, Mich.

ASTORIA HOMESEEKERS AND INVESTORS EDITION.

We have been planning for some time to keep up with the times by getting out a highly illustrated edition of our paper, setting forth the advantages offered here for the homeseeker and investor. Large numbers of Eastern and Middle West people are coming West and the people of most of the leading towns of Oregon and Washington are encouraging their papers to get out special editions of the local paper to be sent East. This is not an experiment as it has proven the best method of attracting the attention of the investor and homeseeker to the location written up. It is our purpose to issue at least 20,000 copies of this number which will be second to none and a thing of beauty and a joy to all enterprising citizens of this city. We have secured the services of Mr. L. C. Martin for this work. He is a specialist in this line and has issued the best and most attractive industrial magazines seen in this state. We believe we can count on the co-operation and assistance of every live property holder and business man in Astoria in this effort for the benefit will be shared by all.

twenty miles distant. The 2,000 "wagon men," the hucksters who cry their wares up and down the city streets during the day, are on hand, as well as all the jobbers who are going to take the great bulk of what will feed New York for the following twenty-four hours, ready to transport it to the various wholesale markets to which the scene of activity is transferred at three o'clock in the morning, and to one or another of which repairs every retail dealer in New York for his day's supply of garden truck. The business is one of tremendous proportions and it reaches out to every section of the country to secure its supplies.

Because it is extremely hazardous, it is impossible for the gigantic liners which are now under construction on the other side of the Atlantic to enter this port, even under the most favorable conditions of wind and tide, New York stands face to face with the prospect of a big loss in commerce and the permanent diversion of a large amount of trade which rightfully belongs to her. The later and larger vessels of the transatlantic fleet draw 35 feet of water when carrying full cargo; but they are compelled to refuse freight which would make the draft greater than 30 feet because vessels with a greater draft cannot hope to clear the shoals of the channel, except under the most favorable conditions. A few days ago the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse went aground in the main ship channel for the second time since March, and the rapid succession of similar accidents which recently occurred is causing much concern to New York's shipping harbor. The only hope of relief appears to lie in the movement inaugurated by the National Rivers and Harbors Congress for more waterways improvement in which presumably New York would have a share. Among the other steamers which have recently stuck in the sand and mud and which choke the entrance to the bar for deep-draft vessels are the White ken at the meeting of the associated alumni of Brown University to be held on June 18, when an effort will be made to put through the petition to the General Assembly of Rhode Island for permission to amend the charter of the University so as to make the institution non-sectarian. The present charter, a product of the days when the form of a man's religion was considered as important as its substance, provides that a majority of the board of fellows shall be members of the Baptist denomination. While Brown's record in turning out three such remarkable executives as the present governors of New York, Rhode Island and New Jersey is held to be sufficient proof of virile and efficient management, those in favor of the proposed change claim that the denominational clause in the charter is deterring desirable students from attending the university and that in several instances the same reason has prevented the college from participating in numerous bequests. When the Carnegie Foundation was established with the primary object of providing for college professors and teachers who have devoted their lives to the cause of education its provision were so framed as to encourage the letting down of sectarian bars in education. The Brown alumni of New York, who themselves include every denomination under the sun, are anxious to see their alma mater take the lead in giving expression to the undoubted tendency of the times away from restrictive features in educational work.

While the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington is barking up the railroad-combination tree in which it has located Mr. E. H. Harriman, the chief anxiety of that eminent financier seems to be the selection of a permanent place of residence. At the time of his appearance before the Commission at the hearing in New York, he was credited with the statement that if it came to a choice between jail and the poorhouse, he would prefer the former.
