IMPROVED SERVICE OF TRAINS

THE ASTORIA & COLUMBIA RIVER RAILROAD ANNOUNCES CERTAIN IMPROVEMENTS AND ALTERATIONS IN SEASIDE AND PORTLAND SERVICE.

General Passenger Agent Jenkins wishes to call the special attention of the public to the following, in the service of the A. & C. R. R. between here and Portland and Seaside.

The Seaside special leaves Portland at 3:10 p. m. and arrives in Astoria at 6:20 proceeding hence to Seaside. This train goes into effect next Saturday. The night train from Portland leaves Portland at 6 p. m. daily, including Saturday and Sunday and arrives in Astoria at 9:40, proceeding hence to Seaside.

Commencing Sunday (the 30th) the daily morning train from Astoria to Seaside will leave Astoria at 8:15 a. m. By changing the time of departure of the night train from Portland to 6 o'clock it is hoped that the delays which have sometimes occurred between Portland and Goble will be entirely avoided.

His Share.
A gamekeeper found a boy fishing in his master's private waters. "You mustn't fish here!" he exclaimed. "These waters belong to the Earl of A."
"Do they? I didn't know that," replied the culprit, laying aside his rod. He then took up a book and commenced reading.
The keeper departed, but on returning about an hour afterward found the same youth had started fishing again. "Do you understand that this water belongs to the Earl of A.?" he roared.
"Why, you told me that an hour ago!" exclaimed the angler, in surprise. "Surely the whole river doesn't belong to him? His share went by long ago!"—London Telegraph.

No Hessians Need Apply.
Aunt Sally Llanekin was looking admiringly at a collection of souvenir postal cards brought back from Europe by one of her summer boarders.
"Now, this one," said he, showing a handsome card. "Is from Hesse, where those Hessian soldiers came from, you know."
Aunt Sally put down the cards and rose up in intense indignation.
"Land sakes!" she exclaimed in horror. "Did you go there?"

No Secret.
"Well, well," exclaimed Miss Passar, "so she's twenty-five today. I guess it would surprise her if I should tell her I was the same age."
"Oh, no," replied Miss Knox; "she knows that, of course."
"She knows that I'm twenty-five?"
"No; that you were."—Philadelphia Press.

IDAHO, OREGON AND WASHINGTON

THE THREE STATE UNIVERSITIES CONTEST IN ORATORY AND WASHINGTON PROVES VICTORIOUS.

University of Oregon, June 21, 1907. Morning Astorian.—Last night Villar Haall was the scene of the fifth state oratorical contest between the universities of Washington, Idaho and Oregon. Washington represented by Mr. Erickson of Astoria, was awarded first place; Idaho, represented by Mr. Frazier, won second place; while Oregon, represented by Mr. McKinney, the great athlete, was given the third place.

Mr. Erickson, who spent his freshman year at the University of Oregon and now has senior standing at the University of Washington, was a great surprise to all of us who knew him. His subject, "The Power of the Press," was handled with masterly skill. In clear, distinct, forceful language he at once threw himself into his subject and at times mounted to the greatest heights of oratory. He first showed what a powerful influence the press exerts upon public opinion, how the attitude of a whole community could be moulded by any one of our great daily papers. He then recounted how, at the time of Horace Greeley, the press sought to arouse and uplift the moral, conscience and instincts of the masses, but how it gradually had come under the influence of the all-pervading spirit of commercialism and how, at the present time, the Associated Press was almost completely dominated by the Western Union Telegraph Company whose shareholders were mostly trust magnates, and that the press thus virtually was an exponent of plutocracy. He clearly illustrated the demoralizing effect of "yellow journalism" and in a magnificent appeal to the just and moral sentiments of man brought his rare display of oratory to a close.

Mr. Frazier from Idaho had chosen for his subject, "The Problem of the Twentieth Century." He very ably and gracefully presented the conditions of the negro in the South and maintained that the black race had not advanced materially in civilization since the days of slavery, but that it had in many instances actually retrograded. The white man must retain his supremacy irrespective of what might happen. He had clearness and stage presence, but he lacked the vigor and force of both gesture and speech which had so ably characterized Mr. Erickson's presentation. "Precedent," was the title of Mr. McKinney's oration. It was rather abstract, but excellent in both thought and construction. His presentation was both able and forceful, but he did not control his audience to the extent that did Mr. Erickson.

This is the fifth interstate oratorical contest in the northwest. The first was won by Idaho; the second by Oregon; and Washington has now won three in succession. Oratory is the only college enterprise in which Oregon can not claim the championship this year. In athletics she has no peer in the northwest, while in debate she has an undisputed championship of eight states.

Oregon has always been a good loser, when such has been her lot, and last night was no exception. As soon as the decision of the judges was announced, the students flocked to the stage and congratulated the happy and well-deserving winner. Mr. Erickson will spend a few days in Eugene with his friends. L. L.

THOUSANDS CURED OF ECZEMA.

Records of Patients at Charles Rogers' Drug Store Attract Attention.

Mr. Charles Rogers, druggist of Astoria, has secured the letters and records of hundreds of persons who formerly suffered of eczema and psoriasis and have now been cured by simple treatment. He also has pictures of a number of patients, men, women and children, showing the skin—cracked, bleeding and polluted—while cleansed a few months later.

Here, for instance, is one of the letters:
"I have used the bottle of medicine you sent me and the result is that I can say with solemn truth that I am a well man," says W. J. Dalton, of Wilderness, Mo. "Please accept my heartfelt thanks. Your remedy cannot be praised too much. I trust that every sufferer will learn to seek your cure and let all other treatments alone, so they can get well and live, as my doctor said I would never get well."

Every sufferer from eczema or psoriasis, ringworm, poison ivy, will be interested in the above mentioned records. A complete pamphlet on the cause and cure of skin disease, method of treatment, diet, and exercise, may be had free at the drug store named above. Better post yourself on the cause of your own ailment.

A Lesson in Health

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE.

It makes all the difference in the world to the convivial man where, and what, he drinks. Most men desire beauty and cleanliness, and handsome appointments in the saloon they patronize regularly, as well as the essential pre-requisite of genuine wines and liquors that are served to them. And these things are so particularly and properly conspicuous at Otto Sund's elegant resort, the Commercial, at No 509 on the street of that name that they account thoroughly for the fixed and splendid custom he enjoys. There is nothing allowed to pass his counter but the best and choicest in every department of indulgence, and the service behind it all, is the most pleasing and satisfying in the city.
