nor for nurses in hospitals to refuse to attend hydrophobia patients because they feared they would be bitten.

The only difficulty that remained when Pasteur died was that due to the absence of any sound method of diagnosis; pay from 22 1-2 to 25 cents an hour even Pasteur himself did not know the cause of rabies. Now, thanks in a large measure to the efforts of Amerilaboratory at Brown, an accurate means nized." of diagnosis is offered to the medical world through research work done in the ordinary course of preparation for advance degrees in the department of biology. Mr. Hadley, the discoverer of the improved "smear" method, comes from Shelburne Falls, Massachusetts. He received his degree of Ph. B. at Brown special work in comparative anatomy and bacteriology as a candidate for the degree of Ph. D. Through him Brown's bilogical department has added considerably to its list of marked achievementa.

and the recent "smear" method of di- from vessels because of overcrowding. agnosis are positive facts in the lifesaving revolution which has been accomplished by applied bacteriology in recent times. But there are other positive facts not so well known. One is that stray dogs are the chief carriers of the disease. Therefore no mongrel cur can be above suspicion. "Beware of the dog" when rables is prevalent in the community, and particularly the dog that nobody owns. He is the animal that does the most damage, for he is the one that is usually running around biting and snapping. The home-trained dog more often gets rables in the paralytic form. But in any case the disease cannot, so far as is known, he communicated except by biting, for the germ, which is peculiar and belongs in the olwest forms of animal life, the protozoa, does not arise spontaneously, nor does it, like the bacteria which produce diphtheria typhoid, fever, scarlet fever, and tuberculosis, and which are low forms of plant life, haunt the air we breathe, the water we drink and the food we sat. Indeed if all the rabid animals could be exterminated, it is prohable that the disease would never be heard of again
