MULES AND CANNON.

Two Mountain Batteries May Come To Seaside—Astoria Men Active.

If the business and commercial organizations of Astoria are energetic they may be able to persuade Major Parke, of Fort Vancouver, to send the 17th and 18th mountain mule batteries for a practice march, which will end in a five-days' encampment at Seaside. This would be a novel attraction at this resort and indirectly would be of benefit to Astoria as the men would spend their money here as would also the visitors who would be attracted by the encampment of the mule batteries.

At the present time several members of the Astoria Chamber of Commerce are considering the matter and maps of Clatsop county showing the roads which the batteries could use in reaching Astoria and Seaside will be furnished Major Parke.

The matter came up for discussion at Seaside on Sunday when Captain H. U. Welch and Lieutenant Clark, of the First Battery, Field Artillery, O. N. G., were down from Portland looking for a camp site for the battery which will go into camp at Seaside on August 6.

Captain W. E. Carll, battery surgeon, was with the two battery officers and Major Parke was met at the Seaside House. The Vancouver officer said that he was undecided where he should send the men for the practice march but that he would like to be present at Seaside at the same time that the Oregon battery was there. Several Astoria men talked with the officers, among them Benham Van Dusen, who will present the matter to the officers of the Astoria Chamber of Commerce and will see that Major Parke will have maps of the county showing roads for the movements of troops. In this way Astoria will do her duty by the Vancouver detachment and it will then be up to the Vancouver officers to take advantage of the information.

with the clothing she was wearing when the Astorian reporter met her. Miss Akeesson states that Mr. Liggett was listed among the lost but that he was saved. He was seen on the San Pedro and also on the Elder. This lady will proceed to Great Falls, Mont., where she will follow her profession of teaching.

The first officer of the Roanoke when asked how the Roanoke learned of the wreck stated: "We came along and saw the Elder busy with the wrecked passengers. We laid to and endeavored to do what was possible. We picked up one body and learned some of the particulars and not being able to do anything proceeded on our way. We found some of the lumber of the San Pedro's cargo but did not pick it up. It was from this that we were able to bring the news to San Francisco."

The Roanoke proceeded to Portland at 11 o'clock and will reach there this morning.

WILLARD COMPANY

MAKES HIT

LARGE HOUSES GREET PERFORMANCES—MISS ETHEL ROBERTS IN "CAMILLE" TONIGHT, WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

Large audiences turned out to see the performances of "My Partner" at the Astoria Theater on Sunday and Monday nights. The popularity of Lee Willard and his stock company in this city is very apparent. The quality of the performing is high class in every particular and the scenery could not be better.

Mr. Willard has already attained considerable prominence as an actor, and the display of his talent in "My Partner" proves conclusively that he is bound to rank among the first of America's actors at no very late date. The ease with which he carries himself through the entire performance, the clever portrayal of the character he represents, his earnest efforts to please and his extreme modesty, all combine to make him a popular man on the stage in Astoria.

The company will spend five weeks in the city, changing the performances twice a week. Only an actor can realize the amount of study and work required to carry out such a program. The members of the company are all first-class in their particular lines. The versatility of many of them is unusual and it is only during a summer engagement that a company as good as Mr. Willard's could afford to stay more than a couple of days in Astoria at the prices asked.

Commencing tonight, and lasting three nights, with a matinee Wednesday, the company will play "Camille," in which Miss Ethel Roberts will star. This young actress is said to carry the part remarkably well, and theater goers may anticipate a treat in seeing the play, which consists of five acts, which never for a moment lag or lack excitement.

SUNDAY'S BASEBALL GAME.

Bohemians 5, North Pacific 2.

The Astoria Bohemians trounced the baseball tossers of the North Pacific Brewing Association, of Portland, Sunday afternoon, in a way to make one's blood run cold. In the fourth inning, with three men on bases, and two hands out, Carlson poked out a home run amid great cheering. The Bohemians secured another run later in the game which ended in a victory for the home team by a score of 5 to 2. Next Sunday the Frakes team will play the local team on the Astoria grounds.
