

THE DREAD SPECTER

Menacing Englishmen and Europeans in India.

FEAR OF NATIVE UPRISING

Government Is Getting Ready For Another Revolution And Suppressing Orators And Native Newspapers—Memory Of The Mutiny Is Still Fresh In Minds.

CALCUTTA Aug. 16.—Fear of the uprising of the natives—the dread specter of the yellow peril, which constantly hangs over the hearts of all Europeans residing in India, continues to grow daily. It might almost be said hourly—the Madras government is showing considerable energy in dealing with the disorders stirred up by incendiary orators. As a result of the visit of Bepin Chandra Pal to Rajahmundry the students in the college there became most refractory. They appeared in school with "Bande Mataram" lockets and when told by Mark Hunter, the principal, to remove them, they left college in a body and subsequently refused to apologize for their conduct. One of the teachers was even implicated.

The authorities are moving not only against the orators, but against the native newspapers which have long appeared to possess immunity. The Calcutta police, for instance, have just raided No. 7 Santi Ram Ghose street and No. 211 Cornwallis street on a search warrant granted by the chief presidency magistrate empowering them to seize any document, paper or article, connected with the printing of a periodical called "Sonar Bangla." At the former place the police made a discovery. This was that the paper called Jugantar was being printed at this place. On questioning the printer the police learned that the paper had been published from the office for the last month. As there was no declaration, as required by section 25 of the press act, 1869, the forms and sheets of the printed matter were seized. In the course of the search they also found that the Swadeshi paper, Navasakti, of Mongranjan Guhi of Barisal fame, was also printed here. The police took possession of the documents connected with the printing of this sheet. In the matter of "The Sonar Bangla" the authorities seized the proof sheets, printers bill, press file, etc.

Ten Years in Bed.

"For 10 years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys," writes R. A. Gray, J. P. of Oakville, Ind. "It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a God-send to me."

AORTA IS PUNCTURED

But Philadelphia Man Does Not Die.

CLEVEREST OPERATOR OF DAY

Man Suffering From Aneurism Is Saved By Putting In His Artery 20 Feet Of Silver Wire—Young Doctor Was Going To Operate For Boil.

OMAHA, Aug. 16.—Nature and a silver wire 20 feet long have saved the life of Fred Williams at the end of one of the most remarkable operations on record. It was for aneurism of the aorta and was performed upon Williams in the Medico-Chirurgical hospital, Philadelphia, by Dr. James H. Mann.

The aorta is the great parent trunk artery through which blood is distributed from the heart to the smaller arteries which run to all parts of the body. An aneurism is a thickening of the walls of a blood vessel. It arises frequently as a consequence of rheumatism and figures largely as a cause of death in the vital statistics of every city. The usual treatment for aneurism is the removal of the affected portion of the blood vessel and the tying of the free ends of the artery. When this has been a compensatory circulation is set up by the blood vessels near the one that has been removed, and no serious results follow.

In the case of an aneurism of the aorta, however, such an operation is impossible. No artery or series of arteries can do the work of this great blood canal. The only thing to be done in such a case is to strengthen the artery wall and let nature do the rest.

Williams, who is 39 years old and a man of immense vitality, several months ago noticed a swelling on his breast and went to a hospital for treatment. The young resident surgeon looked at it critically and said it was a boil. He applied a local anesthetic and prepared to lance the lump.

"Hold on there!" cried Williams. "I don't want any operation yet."

It was lucky he stayed the young surgeon's hand. Had he not done so, it seems certain death would have resulted almost immediately.

The sufferer went to the Medico-Chirurgical hospital. After several days of preparation he was placed upon the operating table without having been etherized. A hollow needle was plunged in to the aorta, and through this the silver wire was fed from a spool. The wire was about as thick as No. 60 cotton thread. There was little pain and Williams aided the surgeon by his stoicism.

"Go as far as you like, doctor," he said, as the operation was begun. The blood pressure, had been reduced to the minimum by a long stay in bed and by a starvation diet. As the wire was fed into the great blood vessel it coiled itself closely in the form of a cylinder which fitted exactly the inner surface of the affected part. Then the needle was withdrawn and the little wound made by it was dressed.

The process that was then set up in the weakened part was this. The blood clotted over the wires and "organized" a new wall, strengthening that which had been weakened by the rheumatic growth. The efficacy of this "organization" depends upon the general condition of the patient and the quality of his blood.

The operation upon Williams was performed two months ago. Last week he came into the hospital with blood trickling from a pin-point hole in his chest. Again he was placed upon the operating table. The blood was found to be coming from a wound from which protruded the tip of a silver wire. With infinite care the whole strand was taken out.

Then, to the amazement of everybody, the bleeding stopped. There is every indication Williams is now absolutely well and that the new inner coating of the aorta is sufficiently strong to re-enforce the weakened tissue that lies outside it.

"I feel as well as I ever did in my life and work every day without fatigue," said Williams today.
