IN THE POLICE COURT.

A Vagrancy Case In Which a Woman Figured—Got a Floater.

In the police court yesterday there appeared John Ingalls and Martha Mayer, charged with vagrancy. When the case was called and the officers who made the arrest testified, it developed that Ingalls was one of those despicable wretches, who, though well able to support themselves prey on the misfortunes of one of the gentler sex and make themselves undesirable in any community. It appears that the man and woman appeared in Astoria about three weeks ago and that she immediately entered a crib in the lower end while the man made no effort to secure work. The police have been on the lookout for him but could not catch him until 2 a. m. yesterday morning when he and the woman emerged from a noodle restaurant in swilltown and were arrested. They came here from Los Angeles and San Diego where they had spent nearly a year together. Judge Anderson fined the woman $30 or 15 days in jail but suspended sentence on condition that she would leave the city. In the man's case the judge read him a good lesson and regretting the fact that there was no rockpile here, he sentenced the culprit to 30 days in jail and he was committed. The woman was released later in the afternoon. Judge Anderson and the police are determined that this class of parasites must leave Astoria and they cannot expect any leniency when once in the law's clutches.

SETTING HEN SAT.

Mothers Young Kittens When Owner Takes Eggs Away From It.

Warrenton has produced a novelty among sittings hens which may be termed unusual. Sitting hens are known all over the world for their contrariness and stick-to-it-iveness, and a hen belonging to Mrs. H. MacDermott, of Warrenton, proved no exception to the rule.

The lady did not want the hen to "set" and kept taking eggs away from it by the score. The hen stuck to its object with a vengeance, however, and it was a contest between the hen and its owner.

A cat belonging to the family had kittens about this time in a corner of the yard. It was a cat with no motherly instincts and it staid away from home, especially at night. The hen promptly began to mother the little kittens at night and part of the day. Sitting on top of this squirming mass it has the self-satisfied look of a mother who has done her duty.

When the kittens are hungry they turn to the cat, and show contempt for the pickings of the motherly hen, who not to be frustrated keeps "a-sittin."

This is a true story, although not from Kansas, and the hen is still "a-sittin."

"LADD" TO DREDGE CHANNEL

HEAD OF ENGINEER CORPS GIVES PROMPT REPLY TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE REGARDING SHOAL MENACE TO SHIPS BELOW POINT.

Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, the shoal reported in the channel between Astoria and Fort Stevens will be dredged shortly so that an ample depth of water will provide easy access for the big ships coming in and going out of the harbor.

On August 10 Secretary Whyte sent a letter to Lieut. Col. S. W. Roessler, of the Engineer Corps, at Portland, stating that there was a shoal in the channel which was proving a nuisance to shipping. The letter was sent after the matter had been discussed by the organization.

Secretary Whyte yesterday received a letter from the head of the Corps of Engineers at Portland, stating that an examination of the channel had been made during the past few days and that the dredge Ladd will be put to work on the channel just below Smith's Point, as soon as the dredge is through with the work being done at Pillar Rock which will be in a few days.

As a means of securing results where they are needed the Chamber of Commerce is doing some splendid work for the city and the surrounding section, also giving some idea of what this energetic body may do in the future, when its advertising campaign of telling the world about Astoria has reached the desired point.

Saengerfest Plans Progressing

S. L. NANTHRUP, President.

AUGUST PETERSEN, First Vice-President.

Plans for the big celebration of the Norwegian Saengerfest of the Northwest are progressing rapidly as the opening day, August 30, draws near. President Nanthrup and his working committee are actively engaged in perfecting all arrangements for the annual gathering of the noted Norse choruses and the large array of special talent secured for the program.

The latter was given into the hands of the printers yesterday and will be in the nature of a souvenir of the Saengerfest. Each year the program is made up in a style which makes it beautiful as a remembrance of the annual gathering, and this year the program will surpass that of any other year, both the booklet itself and the talent recorded on its pages.

De Caprio's band of Portland, which played at the Exposition two years ago, has been secured for the Saengerfest and will undoubtedly be a big drawing card for the thousands of visitors. Professor Sperati will arrive in the city on Friday from the Puget Sound district where he has secured the other members of the big chorus of 300. He has added other special numbers to the program and will make it the richest in talent and numbers of any ever given in the west.

Madame Norelli, one of the first singers on the program, has an international reputation, and the Boston Evening Transcript says of her: "Perhaps the greatest artist of the present organization of the Savage Grand Opera is Mme. Norelli, who is meeting with nothing but success wherever she appears. This is not difficult to believe, after hearing her in 'Lucia.' She is a remarkable actress and her voice is under such perfect control that it is little short of marvelous. Even in the most finished, the most flute-like tones no one who has heard Mme. Norelli in the role will soon forget it, for she gives it a strong and charmingly artistic delineation. She was the recipient of many well deserved curtain calls."

Carl Venh, the noted violinist is another artist of uncommon talent who will be a strong feature of the program. He has been playing in Seattle, Portland and other coast points recently and has come in for a great deal of press notice. Dr. Enna, the pianist, is a number on the bill which will not soon be forgotten, when heard as it will be in the Astoria Opera House on the afternoon and evening of September 1.

The tickets for the performance in the theatre are limited because of its size and have already been put on sale at S. L. Nanthrup's store and at the E. Hauke & Company store. Reserved seats may be secured on and after August 26 for the tickets, which are being eagerly sought.

The Viking feature of the Regatta commencing on the following day, September 2, 3, and 4 is being put into excellent shape. The huge boat secured for the purpose has been thoroughly overhauled and is being fitted up to represent a Viking ship of the olden days. The suit and Viking paraphernalia ordered in Portland are being made up and will arrive here during the week.

S. L. Nanthrup, chairman of the committee having charge of this feature of the big celebration, is seeking a crew of thirty men all of whom must be six feet in height at least. They will be selected mostly from the fishermen and while most of them have been secured he is still looking for a few more to make up the quota and to get them drilled in their parts as rovers of the sea in the days of the Thor and Odin gods.

Vacation.

This is the time of year when nearly every one thinks of shady trees, babbling brooks, fishpoles, flowers and good country butter. How many thousands of people are obliged to confine themselves to thoughts only of these pleasures!—Business—Household duties, or sad to say, lack of means make it necessary for such to keep right on at the same old grind even though evidences of failing health urge them to go away for a few days weeks or maybe months.

To such it will be a relief to know it is not necessary to go away to regain health. The healing breath of the pines can be brought to them for 30 days and at a cost of $1.00. Think of it! Pineules contain the soothing, healing properties of the pines, long-famed for their health-giving qualities. These qualities have been condensed into little yellow globules—easy to take. A few doses will relieve that dull pain across the back, the rheumatic stiffness of the joints, that melancholy feeling of dull, dire foreboding brought on by weakened kidneys. The effect is noticed with the first dose. Remember if you are not satisfied after using Pineules your dollar will be refunded. We would be glad to have our readers try them.
