REGATTA

AMUSEMENT STANDS ARE BEING REGATTA COMMITTEE MEETS AND ENTHUSIASM PREVAILS OVER PROSPECTS FOR MOST SUCCESS-FUL CELEBRATION IN HISTORY.

Regatta and County Fair preparations are engaging the attention of Astoria bration. Stores are being decorated, the official caps of the Regatta are on sale, the big grandstand is finished and be held after the celebration to form a ready for the sports to be held in front of it on the water.

The Viking ship is nearing completion and will be a pleasant surprise to the citizens of the city when they see it. The boat has been constructed from a 70-foot steamer, without the engine. On either end have been crected the typcal bow and stern works seen in pictures of the old Norse fighting ships. Huge sweeps will propel her at a rapid rate and of all the marine features to be presented the Viking ship will be the most original and spectacular. Dell Scully has been appointed chairman of the Baby Show and the judges are Mrs. Herman Prael. Mrs. C. L. Houston and Mrs. W. E. Schimpff. The show will be held in the old offices of the Astoria Savings Bank in the Odd Fellows' building. The event will be at its height on the third day of the Regatta and it is expected to surpass all records in the Baby Show line.

The amusement stands granted by the concessions committee, of which C. R. Staples is chairman, are looming up on the leading street corners in the business section. J. J. Russell has secured five corners for the same number of stands, which will include the knife, cain ruby glass, novelties and ball games. His concessions are on the northeast corner of Eleventh and Commercial streets, the southwest corner of Eleventh and Commercial and the northwest corner, also the southwest corner of Twelfth and Commercial and the northwest corner. Loretta Buford, the armless lady, with her specialty will be at the Twelfth and Commercial. J. E. Carter, who has the prospects are that the street amusements will surpass those of any previous year.

A big fleet of sailing boats and yachts is reported on its way to the Regatta from Portland. They left on the first of the week for Astoria and are taking their time on the trip. Passengers on the Portland trains report quite a fleet of them and they will help to swell the Enthusiasm unbounded prevailed among the members of the committee of the Regatta at its regular semicitizens during the past week and on weekly meeting last night and the finevery hand may be seen "something ishing touches to the celebration and doing" in connection with the big cele. > permanent Regatta organization. Reports of the races the securing of tugs, what had been done during the past week in regard to the baby show, the Queen and her attendants, and the plans for the big labor day parade and the marine parade at night were gone over thoroughly and finished.

W. J. Barry and James Wallace re-ported that the headquarters of the Regatta had been installed in the of-fices in the rear of the First National Bank on Tenth street. The big sign which has been in front of the Chamber of Commerce offices was put up oppo-site the new headquarters which will be open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock in the evening from now until the close of the Regatts.

Entries for the various sports on water and land and all information may be secured at the headquarters. A large number of entries have already been made in the fishermen's races, and the oarsmen in the city and the tug-o-war men have been practicing for the past three weeks. Hundred of other events are being taken advantage of by contestants and there is room for everybody who can make any kind of a showing. It was decided last night to offer a number of prizes for the best decorated boat in the marine parade. For the best decorated steamboat the prize is $60; for the best decorated gasoline boat, $40, and for the best decorated small boat the prize will be $25. The line of the parade will be from the Co-Operative Cannery along the harbor to horse with a living snake in its eye, Will be at the corner of Fourteenth and the grandstand at the foot of Eleventh Commercial streets. Mr. Staples is negotiating with a umber of others for prominent business corners and the have been secured to decorated the hundreds of boats which will participate. On one rope a string of lanterns nearly half a mile in length will be seen. Dr. John Holt will be admiral of 'the marine parade.

The labor day parade is expected to surpass anything of the kind ever held on the coast. All the labor unions will be represented with huge floats and a interesting features of the big celebra- full turn out of paraders. The parade will commence sharp at 12:30 o'clock

Carl Ahlers was in Astoria, last night, and secured a warrant for the arrest of Luther Wright for assaulting him. Ahlers stated that Wright followed him on the street and without any known provocation struck him in the face, blacking his eye and otherwise bruising him. The warrant will be served this morning and the offender probably be brought to Astoria today.

adies and children who will be present the management of the Odd Fellows building has decided to leave the offices formerly used by the Astoria Savings Bank open for their use. This will be a great boon to a large number who will become tired from rambling around taking in the numerous sights and interesting features of the big celebration.

A number of the stores in the city will be closed during the opening of the Regatta festival, in the afternoon, and be closed on Tuesday. The retail grocers' and butchers' association has decided to close these stores during the Regatta fetival, in the afternoon, and on the afternoon of Tuesday. The stores will be open during the morning.
