Attorney for State is Back Again With Another Hot Retort When Judge Lawler Takes Dignity of the Court to Bear Upon the Situation and Reprimands Both Men.

EVIDENCE USED TO KEEP OUT OPPOSITION "STRAW" COMPANY

SUCH FRANCHISE WAS SECURED IN OAKLAND AND LATER TURNED OVER TO PACIFIC STATES COMPANY—WERE DRAWN UP BY LEGAL DEPARTMENT OF COMPANY WHICH WAS CONTRARY TO TESTIMONY IN LAST WEEK'S TRIAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 29.—The task of showing that by means of a "straw" Home Telephone Co., the Pacific States Telephone Company sought to prevent the entrance of the real home company into Oakland, was resumed at the Glass trial today.

The evidence introduced tended to show that the franchise for the "straw" Home Company was secured, and later transferred to the Pacific States Company. Finally the Pacific States Company, it is alleged, through Zimmer asked to have the franchise forfeited and the bond returned.

Delmas secured the admission from Attorney Bessley of San Jose who testified regarding the "straw" company, that the legal papers connected with the matter were drawn up by the Pacific states legal department presided over by Attorney Pillsbury, who while on the stand last week, swore this work to be solely under the direction of Glass.

President Scott and Auditor Sherwin, of the Telephone Company, testified that the approval of vouchers for Abe Ruef's salary was made known to the grand jury as long ago as last month.

During the afternoon session had blood between Heney and Delmas showed itself again. Secretary Ryan of the board of supervisors was called to the stand to identify the franchise granted by that body to the Home Company.

Henev and Delmas got into a wrangle over the physical character of the evidence offered and finally Heney exclaimed impatiently to Delmas:

"Oh, well, I'm not as particular about my dress and speech as you are, anyhow."

"I have always understood," said Delmas, "that there is nothing more ill-bred than to refer to a gentleman's dress."

"That is true," said Heney, "and there is no man who is more punctilious in his dress and less careful in his conduct than you are."

"And there is no greater blackguard living than you are," answered Delmas.

The contest of words was getting close to the personal contact point and both Attorney Delmas and Attorney Heney were getting red in the face and shouting to each other. Their wordy passage of the day before had brought a great many to the court room who anticipated such another exhibition today and there was considerable disturbance in the court room. The jury lost all interest in the words of the witness and Judge Lawler rapped impatiently on the desk in front of him while he strived to make his voice heard above the din of the two lawyer's snarling speech and that occasioned by the spectators in the court room.

"I desire this evidence to be read without any further exchanges of this sort," said Judge Lawler, his manner being very curt and impatient.

When the two lawyers had been reprimanded by the court they settled down again into the detail of carrying on the trial but it is easy to see that there is a keen personal rivalry between the two which may break out at any time in such an incident as occurred today or even worse. Both men are of a testy temperament and the clash today will only bring more of the curious minded to the trial room who wish to see the great Heney and Delmas have a set-to.

PRINCE A WALTZER.

Leaves Formal Dinner to Slip Royal Arms Around Girls' Waist in Mazy Dance

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 29.—A certain small section of Newport voiced its horror this morning and the rest expressed disapproval when it became known that the early disappearance of Prince William, of Sweden, from the dinner given by Mrs. Ogden Mills last night was due to his democratic instincts that sent him to the dance given by the Swedes of this city for the sailors on his cruiser, the Fylgia. Fully an hour before social form and royal custom required his departure the Prince arose and accompanied by Baron De Lagercrantz, the Swedish Minister at Washington, hurried to the dance hall, where he entered into the fun with such zest that as the night advanced Baron De Lagercrantz was obliged to remind him of his royal dignity.

When the Prince first arrived everything was formal. On the platform were Mayor Clark and Stuyvesant Fish, who told the Prince that his crew were the best behaved lot of sailors Newport had ever seen. The Prince expressed his thanks and the ceremony ended. When the floor was cleared for dancing the Prince watched until he could keep still no longer. Jumping down on the floor, he placed his royal arm around the trim waist of Miss Gerda Swenson and joined the dancers. After that the Prince danced with half the girls in the room, until Baron Lagercrantz led him, exhausted but laughing, to a seat.

DOES NOT WANT IT.

Anderson Says that Permanent Job of Chief of Police is Not For Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—Acting Chief of Police Anderson stated very emphatically yesterday that he would not by any manner of means accept the permanent office of Chief, even though the honor be urged upon him.

"I have been asked this question a great many times lately," said he yesterday, "and it has been somewhat embarrassing because I have been given no intimation by the Board of Police Commissioners that they had me in mind as an appointee. Naturally I have had a delicacy of expressing myself definitely but I thought it over carefully lately and I have made up my mind that I would not accept the office under any consideration.

"My wife has been in poor health for a number of years, and I am afraid that the attacks that might come to one in such a position would result perhaps fatally to her."

Notwithstanding this positive assertion by acting Chief Anderson, many of his friends say that he would be obliged to accept if the proper arguments were brought to bear. His long and efficient service in the department, his good record and his personal qualities make him particularly eligible in the eyes of many members of the department.

CLAMS FOR THE EDITORS.

Seaside is Going to Give Knights of the Shears a Clam Bake.

SEASIDE, Or., August 29.—Plans for the second big clam bake of the Clatsop Beach summer season are now well under way, and by the time the 100 or more members of the Oregon State Press Association are ready to tackle the steaming bivalves in the grove back of Hotel Moore next Sunday night, more fun will be unceremoniously for the Beaver State editors than when they receive word for subscriptions.

Dan J. Moore, at whose hostelry the two deliberations of the Press Association will take place, and who will be the host for the convention, declares "claims is ripe."

Clatsop Beach rockpiles, from Tillamook Head to Gearhart, have been drawn on for the construction of a properly equipped al fresco "oven," and by Saturday night the long rustic tables at which the "pencil-pushers" and their friends will be regaled will be illuminated by electric lights and Oriental lanterns, and good music will be on tap for the evening's fun.

GIVES LIFE FOR OTHERS.

Portland Boy Saves Two From Drowning But Dies From Over Exertion.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—At the sacrifice of his own life, Guy H. Moore, 23 years old, a student at the National Medical university, saved two young men from death in Lake Michigan after a most heroic struggle against wind and waves. Moore died yesterday morning from hemorrhage of the lungs caused by the too great task which he performed. Twice he swam from a capsized craft on the lake to shore, each time bearing a burden the body of one of his friends. Then he sank to the ground exhausted and was taken to the hospital where he died.

Moore's home was at 294 Eugene street, Portland, Oregon, where his mother, Mrs. S. Moore, resides.

SNOWBALLS ARE HOT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—A family quarrel was revealed in a suit brought in the Superior Court yesterday by H. H. and Norman P. Snowball, brothers, against their sister, Leutie Snowball, to have set aside a deed to three parcels of land in the Sunset district, made May 9th, by their mother, Mrs. Lucy Snowball, who died in Yolo county July 2d.

According to the complaint, Leutie and two other brothers poisoned the mind of their mother against H. H. and Norman P. A. L. Snowball, who by the way, is the former policeman, who was permitted to resign from the force a few years ago while charges of grafting in the Tenderloin were being entertained against him.

J. W. Snowball, the father of the family, died at Knight's Landing January 23, 1906 and a state o, about $100,000 to his widow, it having been the understanding that she should share it with the children, in even amounts after her death.

But when H. H. and Norman P. learned that they were to get $1000 and a piece of land respectively, they were greatly chagrined, and charged that the other two brothers and the sister had told their mother ugly stories about H. H. and Norman P., accusing them of being dissipated men who would squander their patrimony in riotous living; with the result that Leutie, A. L. and M. S. Snowball received large shares while the other two children were left out in the cold. On the score of undue influence, they wish the deed granting the real estate to Leutie to be annulled.

WELLMAN ON HIS WAY.

CHICAGO, August 29.—Cablegrams received last night from Walter Wellman, sent via Spitzbergen and delayed two days, give rise to the belief that he is already on his airship journey to the Pole. The cablegrams announced that everything was in perfect condition and a trial trip of 50 miles was to be made that day. In the event that the trial was satisfactory, the tart was to be made the next day, Saturday.

Wellman cabled that the monter airship was holding the hydrogen well and behaving perfectly. The manufacture of the gas to fill the balloon began the last week in April, and it was inflated without any trouble. In tonight's message— which, of course, is delayed two days—he announced that the flight could be delayed to September 1st or even as late as September 5th if conditions were not satisfactory; but it is believed he found the Arctic favorable and is now far in the trends regions.

ROCKEFELLER GETTING FEE.

CHICAGO, Ill., August 29.—John D. Rockefeller is having trouble in collecting $73.95 from the United States government for his traveling expenses and witness fees in the recent hearing before Judge Landis.

In making application for the amount due him Mr. Rockefeller declared that he had traveled 1149 miles to attend the session of court. He did not say, however, whether he came from Pittsfield, Mass., or Cleveland.

The government is therefore holding the money until it receives official information as to where Mr. Rockefeller started from when he came to court.

Actually, United States Marshal Hoy knows the claimant came from Pittsfield, but officially he does not know, and Mr. Rockefeller will not get his money until the marshal obtains the official information he is seeking.

Various Supplies From the United States Are Used in English Army Much to the Chagrin of Protectionists There—Will Have to Reduce Prices.

LONDON, August 29.—The British war secretary, Mr. Haldane, answering a question in the house of commons last evening, announced that he proposed purchasing army stores in America when he can get them there equally as good as elsewhere at more satisfactory prices, without apologizing to the local protectionists who insist that British firms should be given the preference irrespective of price or quality.

The matter was brought up by Sir Howard Vincent, Conservative and Free Trader, representing the central division of Sheffield, who asked for explanations of why the war office ordered 100,000 pieces of horse shoes in the United States for the use of the British cavalry, instead of supporting British industries and workmen.

Mr. Haldane, in the course of his reply, said the American goods were satisfactory both as regards price and efficiency and in the interests of the economical administration of the army he declined to disregard this source of supply.
