GRAND OLD LADY OF OREGON

MRS. ABAGAIL SCOTT DUNIWAY, OF PORTLAND, WITH THE OREGON EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION, IN ASTORIA.

Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway, of Portland, one of the patriotic and persevering women of the State of Oregon, was among the visiting members of the Oregon Editorial Association, which arrived in this city yesterday, for their annual convention and pleasure trip. Mrs. Duniway is one of the noted women of the state and she carries with her state reputation also a national one. In that for the past 36 years she has been actively engaged in furthering the cause of women's rights and equal suffrage.

In speaking about her work yesterday Mrs. Duniway said: "I think the time is fast approaching when the women of this state will have a vote and my work at the present time is to get things in shape so that an amendment to that effect can be brought before the people at the next June election. We are circulating petitions at the present time to bring the matter before the initiative law and refer it to a vote of the people."

"Although we lost at the last election I am confident that we will be more successful next time. I think that our ill-fortune can be attributed to the fact that women from the east were active in the last campaign and that if we had had women who had lived in the state as long as I have, out working we would have had different results. You can't be successful when you try and do things in a breeze sort of way; it takes sincerity and evidence of having your heart in the work. We have such men working for us at the present time and that is why we have more confidence."

Mrs. Duniway asked concerning the conditions in Astoria as to closing saloons and was told the present status affairs:

"While I have never approved of saloons," continued Mrs. Duniway, "yet I must say that I am not in favor of prohibition. I believe that every man has an inherited right to take a drink if he wants to only I believe that there should be stronger regulations. It is the same way with women suffrage. We believe in an equal liberty and that is the same attitude I hold against saloons. The only real antagonism that I could have against the saloon element is that I believe that those interests worked against the suffrage movement at the last election."

Mrs. Duniway, although the years have put traces of silver in her hair, is as active as any of the other members of the Editorial Association. She was much interested in the sights of Astoria and was busy looking up her old friends. With a pleasant smile and a kind word for everybody she will always be remembered as one of the kindest, and at the same time the brightest woman in the State of Oregon.

Spying on Bargain Gifts.

The engaged girl was found studying life in an auction room.

"I don't expect to buy anything," she said, "but I want to see if anybody I know buys anything. A lot of auctioneers are advertising that they have on hand bric-a-brac and pictures and odds and ends of furniture suitable for wedding presents. That set me to wondering if any of my friends would try to avail themselves of these auction room bargains when buying presents for me. I saw two girls here this afternoon who have been invited to my wedding. One bought some kind of a brass bowl, another a vase. They got the things dirt cheap. I fancy they are for me. If they are—well, just wait till those girls get married!"—New York Press.

When to Take Off the Sinker.

For angling in quiet, deep running water more sinkers should be placed on the leader to keep it down from the surface, but if angling in a quick running brook or river for chub, dace or brook trout the float and sinkers should be removed and the bait allowed to run in front of the angler wherever it wills on the surface by the action of the current, which takes it naturally just as nature does their general foot.—Louis Rhead in Outing Magazine.

Stetson Brings in Load of Hemp and Cord Age.

HEAD WINDS ALL WAY UP

Captain Bonfield Reports That the Weather Was Against Vessel During Entire Trip—German Steamer Eva Arrives in From San Francisco—Notes.

Yesterday afternoon the steamer J. B. Stetson arrived in under charter of the San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company from San Francisco and landed at the O. R. & N. dock where she discharged cargo. The Stetson came up well loaded and in addition to a full list of passengers brought up a load of hemp and cordage. She discharged considerable of her deck load of cordage here and proceeded on up the river. It is expected that on her return she will load lumber at the Tongue Point Lumber for return.

In speaking of his trip up the coast Captain Bonfield said: "We left San Francisco Tuesday afternoon and on getting out to sea and making our course north we ran into a succession of head seas that in all my experience I have never seen before. The weather was not bad nor the trip unpleasant but the vessels was continually ploughing into the seas which seemed for some reason to be directed right in the eyes of the ship. This condition continued all the way up and aside from this the trip was uneventful."

Agent G. W. Roberts, of the O. R. & N. Company is busy at this time of the year preparing tickets for returning fishermen who are going back to their homes in Europe. Many of these men come out to fish every year, returning each season. Some of the Europeans come out here and remain three or four years and with their savings in that time return home and live practically independent the rest of their lives. The concluding fishing season always brings business of this kind to all the offices selling tickets to foreign ports.

There is a suspicious character on the waterfront and lest he should be ambushed and taken away it may as well be said that the man is none other than W. J. Barry, of the water sports committee of the Regatta. His business at this time is in preparing something to make fun in the water out in front of the grandstand. He is fixing up some surprises and in having his rehearsals he has to be quiet and secretive about it. This accounts for his slinking attitude under a number of the docks and which has given rise to much laughing comment along the waterfront.

About 150 tons of coal a day are being discharged from the Colonel Villebois Mareuil. The work of dumping the coal from the ship is interesting and to the uninitiated rather exciting, especially when the huge bucket is drawn high up in the air and makes a great swoop down towards the coal dump and just before striking is opened up scattering the black coal and dust in the heap on the dock.

The launch Rocello which has been engaged in the purse seining business during the fishing season, has been loaded on a flat car down near the Elmore dock and will shortly be sent to the home of her owners in Seattle.

The gasoline schooner Evie left out early this morning for Nestucca with passengers and general cargo of freight.

The Union oil tank steamer Santa Maria left out last night for San Francisco after discharging oil in Portland.

Captain P. Schanwald brought in the German steamship Eva yesterday from San Francisco after a successful voyage. The Eva is bound for Portland with a part cargo of sulphur. Captain Schanwald reports that he had a pleasant trip up from the California port but that he was running into head seas all the way.

The river steamer Telegraph yesterday brought down about 30 members of the Oregon Editorial Association. While coming to her slip at the Callender dock the members of the Saengerbund who were aboard gathered on the hurricane deck and sang one of their songs. The effect was novel and extremely pleasant.

At the custom house yesterday the oil tank steamer entered from San Francisco with Portland for her destination. She will discharge cargo at St. Johns.

The Roanoke cleared yesterday from Portland to San Pedro and way points with general cargo and passengers.

The schooner Oliver J. Olsen entered yesterday at the customs from San Francisco to Astoria. She will go to the Tongue Point Lumber Company and take on lumber for return.

CHINESE GAMBLERS RAIDED

SHERIFF POMEROY, WITH DEPUTIES, MAKES THE FIRST RAID ON CHINESE GAMBLERS—GAMBLING DEVICES CAPTURED.

Last night at 10:30 Sheriff Pomeroy, accompanied by Deputies McLean, Knutson and Chris Christiansen made a successful raid on a Chinese gambling house situated on Astor street opposite the postoffice. The sheriff had laid his plans well and with his deputies proceeded to the house at the above hour and being refused admittance proceeded to batter down a door leading to the gambling room. He soon gained an entry and the Chinamen scampered like rats but the officers captured Ah Woh who was apparently the manager of the place, and secured the gambling devices which will be used as evidence and then destroyed.

Ah Woh claimed to have no connection with the place and that the owner was in Portland. He was however placed in jail from which he was later released on the bail bond of Hop Hing Lung in the sum of $500.

Considerable excitement was caused by the raid and the sheriff's office and vicinity for a time was crowded with jabbering Chinese and curious whites. The fact that the evidence in the shape of the devices was secured is of great importance and the success of the raid was a matter of much favorable comment. The Chinese are known to be very cunning in violating the law in regard to gambling and an entirely successful raid is unusual and for that reason is appreciated.

SOME BABY DON'TS.

- Don't rock babies; it injures the brain. Don't tease babies; it will make them cross. Don't trot babies; it disturbs the whole system. Don't romp with babies; it excites the brain too much. Don't dress babies stylishly; it is cruel to adorn a rose. Don't wake babies up to show them; they need all the sleep they can get. Don't let too many strangers handle babies; it will spoil their disposition. Don't put too many clothes on babies in hot weather; it will cause prickly heat. Don't forget to give cool water often; it is the only thing to quench thirst and ward off fever. Don't put long clothes on any baby; the weight has killed dozens of babies. Twenty-eight inches is long enough for comfort.—Pearson's Weekly.

Clay's Ready Wit.

When Henry Clay was stumping Kentucky for re-election, at one of his mass meetings an old hunter of wide political influence said, "Well, Harry, I've always been for you, but because of that vote (which he named) I'm goin' ag'in you." "Let me see your rifle," said Clay. It was handed to him. "Is she a good rifle?" "Yes." "Did she ever miss fire?" "Well, yes, once." "Why didn't you throw her away?" The old hunter thought a moment and then said, "Harry, I'll try you again." And Harry was elected.

Hard on the Reporters.

"I had a strange dream the other night," said the major. "What was it?" asked the young thing. "I went to heaven and as an old newspaper man was interested in their journal up there. It was a miserable thing—not a well written story in it—and I told St. Peter so." "What did he say?" "He said: 'It's not our fault. We never get any good reporters up here.'"—Philadelphia Press.

What One Enjoys.

At Otto Sund's pretty and cozy resort "The Commercial," one finds all that the inner man desires in the refreshment line and of the best quality too. To pass a little time in such a neat place and spend it in pleasant conversation with genial friends, probably a little business talk, is, to say the least, enlivening. Courteous treatment is another thing that is appreciated and one receives it from Otto himself who takes charge during the day and from his pleasant night manager both of whom dispense the best to be had. "The Commercial," 509 Commercial street, is well known and widely patronized.
