JENNINGS SET AT LIBERTY.

GRANTS PASS, Or., Sept. 26.—Judge Hanna yesterday afternoon dismissed Jasper Jennings from custody. Jasper was convicted of murdering his father two years ago in a cabin near here. The trial was long and expensive to the county. After Jasper's conviction his sister, Dora, who has since died, was placed on trial for the same offense, but was acquitted. The supreme court ordered a new trial of Jasper on technicalities, and his dismissal is due to the fact that many of the witnesses at the former trial have moved away and the expense of a new trial would be enormous. Judge Hanna's action meets with public approval.

OREGON CAVES LEASED.

EUGENE, Or., Sept. 26.—R. W. M. Veatch and G. O. Glenn, the telephone linemen, have leased the famous Oregon Caves property in this region and will proceed to make that one of the popular resorts of the Pacific Coast. They will have the place for 10 years and will erect a big tourist hotel and install an electric light plant in the near future. One of the first things they will do will be to make the public roads leading to the place much better, says the Grants Pass Courier.

HILL VISITS OVER THE ROAD

PRESIDENT OF NORTHERN PACIFIC MAKES FLYING VISIT TO SEASIDE WITH PARTY AMONG WHICH WERE A COUPLE OF ENGINEERS.

President Louis Hill, and party, among which were a number of the Northern Pacific's engineers, passed through Astoria yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the way to Seaside. They remained a few hours across Young's River, and then sped back to Portland by special train.

The party did not stop long enough to be interviewed, and what their object in making the trip was, can only be surmised. It is figured that they investigated their holdings briefly while making given rise to the suspicion that they intend to do something in this section pretty soon.

MAKE WAR MUNITION.

Pacific Coast Armories and Magazines Are Being Lilled With Supplies.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—The United States Navy and War Departments have issued orders for the preparation of munitions in the Pacific Coast armories and magazines are being filled with supplies and hundreds of additional men have been employed for the work within the last few months. Activities have increased remarkably at the Mare Island Navy Yard, where the force of men employed in the magazine has increased from a half dozen to almost two hundred. Stores and supplies are being placed in all of the army depots. Each cruiser and warship arriving in port are being equipped with a full supply of powder and shells. The transport Warren, though scarcely fit for a voyage, has been ordered to the Philippines with a cargo of miles and other war materials. Government agents offer no explanation.

The coming of the big fleet of cruisers, battleships and destroyers to this coast is said to be the cause of the activity at the Mare Island Navy Yard, where a few months ago there were a half dozen men at work in the magazines, situated at the southern end of the Island, and where now 200 skilled employees are working overtime making powder and shells for the warships. Carloads of powder for the big guns of the navy are received at the navy yard and put in readiness for instant use, and huge shells are loaded and piled up in convenient places.

PUGET SOUND COMES SIXTH

Department of Commerce and Labor Issues Report For Past Eight Months—New York First and Philadelphia is Second.

PORTLAND, Sept. 26.—For the eight months ending with August, Portland is classed as the third largest wheat-shipping port in the United States, in a bulletin of statistics issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor, which was received from Washington this morning. The Puget Sound district comes sixth, occupying a position of lesser note than ports which have never been known as leading grain centers.

In the period named Portland set about 3,620,888 bushels of wheat. New York took the lead with a shipment of 10,186,069 bushels, and Philadelphia is second, with 5,846,186 bushels. Galveston is fourth, next to the Willamette River metropolis, with a showing of 3,212,508 bushels. Baltimore exported 2,408,362 bushels of the cereal, and the combined ports of Western Washington 2,354,638 bushels, or about 1,200,000 bushels less than the amount forwarded from lone Portland.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

Trial of Charles Johnson, Accused of Felonious Assault, in Circuit Court.

The case of Chas. Johnson, charged with a felonious assault on a 6 year old girl, was on trial in the circuit court yesterday. District Attorney Hedges is prosecuting the case, while J. A. Eakin and Howard Brownell are the defendant's attorneys. The morning session was taken up in selecting a jury, which is composed of the following: Frank Cunningham, Geo. T. Hills, Wm. Bell, A. Nystrom, J. W. Walker, Percy E. Allen, Jas. Finlayson, Chas. E. Ford, Geo. Flavel, B. J. Sloup, A. R. Cyrus and A. C. Miller.

The mother of the child testified to having found Johnson in a compromising position with the child in his cabin which is located near the child's home. Dr. Mohn, who examined the little one, a few days after the alleged assault, testified that he found no external marks of violence, on the girl, that would ordinarily result from the treatment alleged. Johnson denies that he assaulted the child and claims that when found with the little one, in the cabin, that he was playing with her. She had begged him for a nickel and followed him to the cabin to get the nickel and a basket that she was to carry home.

E. A. Gerding, Otto Carlson, Alex Bremner, E. McCoy, S. B. Graham, J. C. Butts and John Frye all testified to the good character and peaceful disposition of the defendant. All the evidence is in and arguments to the jury will open this morning at 9:30.

CONFIDENCE IS THE KEYNOTE

BOOSTING SPIRIT AMONG ASTORIA'S CITIZENS GROWING DAILY—EVERY MOVE OF RAILROAD MEN AND CAPITALISTS IS CLOSELY WATCHED.

There is a prevailing impression in Astoria that something big is going to happen in the way of developing the city before the end of another year. Optimism is the keynote of a great deal of talk which is in circulation, and the spirit of boosting is taking a strong hold of many of the citizens.

The continual visits of railroad magnates, engineers, surveyors, and investors to this section are being noted with the keenest interest, and with the arrival of every man of prominence in railroad matters, rumors begin to go the rounds with remarkable rapidity.

Even the most staid people of the city are becoming inoculated with enthusiasm, which has arrived after a close study of the situation from all sides. Pessimists are few and far between, and the man who doubts the future greatness of Astoria in the past few months does not get much of a hearing from the majority of the citizens.

The establishment of new institutions in the city have been very stimulating, and the fact that those prophets of progress, the real estate men, are beginning to get very active in Astoria, has also added to the feeling that there will be "big things" going on in the city before many months.

The interest shown in this district by the Northern Pacific officials has contributed to no small part in the making of optimists. That a railroad of such huge interests should select this section of the west, when it is so actively engaged in other parts of the country, as a field for extensive endeavor, is being noted and saluted down by the landed owners of the city and county.

One of the most stimulating features of Astoria's grasp for a share of the general progress throughout the country, is the work of the Chamber of Commerce. That body has not been blocked in anything which it has gone after with spirit, and this has produced a feeling among its members that there are great possibilities for it to overcome in the making of a great seaport and metropolis of this section.

Words of praise for the location of the city are heard from every new arrival. In almost every case the newcomers have added to the general feeling that Astoria at last is to come into her own as the shipping port of the Northwest coast, and that nothing can stop her progress.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON.

EUGENE, Sept. 26.—The University of Oregon opened its doors Tuesday, September 24th. The first and second days' registration has shown an increase of more than 20 per cent over the registration of the same time last year. Almost every high school and academy in the state is represented, and a large number are presenting credentials from eastern preparatory schools. The year will mark the highest point in enrollment that the University has yet reached. The very serious question that is presenting itself is how to take care of all students. The lack of funds has made it impossible to furnish and heat all of the rooms in the library building, and for the same reason, the new girl's dormitory will have to lie idle for the year. Students, however, are adjusting themselves readily to the conditions, and the outlook for the year's work is exceptionally good.
