LAUNDRIES.

THOSE PLEATED BOSOM SHIRTS The kind known by dressy men in the summer, are difficult articles to launder nicely. Unless you know just how to do it, the front pleats won't iron down smooth, and the shirt front will look mussey. Our New Press Ironer irons them without rolling or stretching. Try it. N. C. ENTERS WALLA WALLA

Engineer Opens Headquarters and Prepares to Make Survey.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Oct. 7.—Edwin S. Clark, engineer for the North Coast Railroad company, reached here yesterday, and is establishing headquarters in the eastern part of the city. Mr. Clark says he will survey a route from the city in a southerly direction, probably across the Blue channel. Already the company has made its survey from Wallula to this city.

This survey runs along the Walla Walla river for several miles. The grade is considerably lighter than that of the O. R. & N. company, and is from 25 to 100 feet higher in elevation than that company's line. The line will probably enter Walla Walla at the northeastern part, along Ninth street.

COMMITTS SUICIDE.

Cle Elum, Wash., Woodman Cuts Throat in Struggle.

CLE ELUM, Wash., Oct. 8.—Pinned under a log and either unable to bear the terrible pain or fearing that even if rescued he would be a helpless cripple for life, Claude Harkness, 30 years old, pulled a knife from his pocket and cut his throat. Several hours later his lifeless body was found by his uncle, Marion Harkness, who was working in the timber with him. How long the unfortunate man cried for assistance will never be known. The ground was torn up on the spot where he was found and tells the mute story of the awful fight he made to free himself before he decided to take his life. Harkness was working on a big timber when it rolled over and pinned him. His ribs were crushed to the thighs and doctors assert it is doubtful if he would have lived had he been rescued alive. It is their opinion he struggled violently until he felt his strength leaving him then committed suicide.

KEENE'S WINNINGS.

His Stable Clears $377,090, Within $460 of World's Record

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The latest victory of James R. Keene's 2-year-old Colin, in the Matron stakes at Belmont Park, brings the total earnings of Mr. Keene's horses this year up to $337,090, nearly $100,000 in excess of the American record for a single stable in one year, and only a few hundred behind the world's record of $377,554 held by the stable of the Duke of Portland. As there are nearly six weeks of the New York season for racing left, the Keene stable is practically certain to gain the world's winning record for this year.
