GRAND EXPOSITION

Jamestown Will Pass Into History as Such.

GOVERNMENT MAY TAKE HOLD

Political Future of General Corbin Being Watched by His Friends Who Think he Will Come to the Front in Ohio Politics.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 16.—Should the Jamestown Exposition be recorded as a failure it will be an everlasting shame, for it is one of the most complete expositions of its class ever held.

Those who visit it under the impression that it will equal the great expositions of Chicago and St. Louis in size or splendor will be disappointed, but at Jamestown are many most interesting exhibits, the choicest of their kind, and any one, not excepting the wise exposition visitor, will be amply repaid by a few days there. It would be difficult to imagine a more beautiful location, though one not easy of access. Chesapeake Bay is seen at its best from the exposition grounds and close at hand are Norfolk, Portsmouth, Fort Monroe, Old Point Comfort and historic and interesting places. The buildings are distinctly good; far superior to the average of such structures for most of them were constructed to remain permanently and are of brick or frame where at former expositions they were composed of staff. The result is they have stood the wear and weather very well and are as fresh today as at any time. If any criticism could be made of the buildings it is that the management has erred in expending so much in their construction when simpler and cheaper buildings would have answered the purpose of the expenditure in this direction is probably largely responsible for the lack of funds to operate and advertise the exposition, which has hampered it almost to extinction. Early visitors were doubtless greatly disappointed, for it has only been within the past month or so that the exposition could be called complete. Even now work is progressing on the roads and walks and, goodness knows, it was needed. But the thousands who have visited the exposition lately, agree that for its size, and it is not small by any means, it equals any other. Analyzing the causes which have operated to prevent it from having the success it deserves the situation may be ascribed to poor management, comparative inaccessibility, dissensions and the plethora of adjacent attractions. It is safe to assume that the Jamestown Expositions has been visited by as many if not more persons from a distance, in proportion to its size, than either St. Louis or Chicago. As it has practically no local territory to draw on the great majority of people passing through its gates come from a distance. But, alas the exposition, they did not stay. The average visitor to Chicago or St. Louis spent a week, the average to Jamestown spends two days. This is partly because of the desire to see James O'Neil, the 40 miles up the James River, Fort Monroe, Norfolk, Old Point Comfort and others, and partly most visitors come one way and go back another. That is to say, those from the west are routed through the south one way, and by way of Washington, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, New York and even Boston, the other. In their desire to visit other places they slight the exposition. Thus, while the travel has been very heavy, the exposition has been benefited slightly in comparison to the surrounding and adjacent territory. The railroads have contributed to this outcome by establishing validating officers elsewhere than on the exposition grounds, so that many visitors, taking advantage of the cheap rates, pass through without even stopping a day at the exposition.

At this writing no one can predict the finish of the exposition but should the government take hold of it, many hope it will be continued through December. Just now the exposition is at its best and the weather superb, and the weather should continue fine through December. It is between November 1st and January 15 that wealth and fashion passes that way en route for Florida.

The political future of Lieutenant-General Corbin, retired, is being watched with interest by his many friends in Washington and elsewhere. General Corbin hails from the Buckeye State, which is equivalent to saying he is a natural born politician. Through his career in the army he maintained his legal residence in Ohio and now they are talking of sending him to Congress. He should have strong claims as he desires the honor for during the Spanish War General Corbin was as close to the late President McKinley as any one active in the conduct of that furry. He is very popular in Washington circles and his long term of service in the army, and especially as adjutant-general, has given him an insight into governmental affairs, and an acquaintance which would prove of great value to his district. His friends would welcome his return in the role of Congressman. It is interesting to note that General Corbin still retains a sentimental regard for Gen. Grant, his old commander. It was a suggestion from General Grant that kept Lieutenant Corbin in the army after the Civil War and in memory of their friendship Gen. Corbin recently erected a tablet on the spot in Ohio where formerly stood the house in which Grant was born. Gen. Corbin is in his sixties, vigorous in mind and body. Should he decide to enter Ohio politics he will be heard from.

A GOOD HOME RECIPE

Says Any One Can Prepare it, and Nothing Better.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. Every man, woman and child here should dress as warmly as possible, and, above all else, keep the feet dry. Avoid colds and exposure, and don't become constipated.

Rheumatism is strictly a blood disease, caused by inactive kidneys, which, through cold or exposure or improper diet, fail in their duty of filtering the rheumatic poisons from the blood. This poisonous waste matter, uric acid, oxalate of lime, urea, etc., if not strained from the blood promptly, decomposes and settles about the joints and muscles, causing rheumatic disease.

In damp or chilly cold weather the kidneys are made to do double work. The pores of the skin all over the body do not assist in eliminating the poisons of the body, throwing this work to the kidneys, which become clogged and feeble, thus causing not only rheumatism, but all forms of kidney troubles, back ache, weak bladder and urinary troubles, and sometimes terrible blood disorders.

At the first sign of any of these troubles the following simple prescription should be mixed and taken in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Any good pharmacy can supply these ingredients, and all the mixing required is to shake well in a bottle.

The other girls asked how it came. She was so fair to see; She told them they could be the same. If they'd use Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea.

WANTS NEW PARTIES

Colonel Watterson Wants an Entire New Deal.

HE HAS NO USE FOR BRYAN

Says Party Lines Have Ceased to Exist and That Election of Roosevelt President for Third Term Means Make Him Emperor.

view today Colonel Henry Watterson, of Kentucky, said to Julius Chambers, representing the International News Service:

"Party lines have ceased to exist. We must have a new party—a division of the people upon other lines. The old parties are dead. Roosevelt has destroyed what was left of the Republican party. Rooseveltism is like Bryanism in 1896—like it in many ways. Bryan would have Mexicanized our currency; Roosevelt's re-election will Mexicanize the state. If he is to be kept in the White House, by all means let it be for life. Make him king; do more than that—make him Emperor!"

The colonel then spoke of the hopelessness of Democracy until William Jennings Bryan is politically dead.

"Look at Bryan! For seven years I have been proving to him why he should not longer disturb the future of the once real party in which I was raised. But I haven't feazed him. If he is weak today, he is stronger tomorrow; or vice versa. He will not get out of the way for others. He will ditch the train, if he cannot ride in the box. I have quit politics forever. I wouldn't go to the convention, state or national. I have been pugnacious, heaven knows; but I'm through with that. I shall become, or try to become, an essayist, dealing with the simplicities of life—the beatitudes, if you like. No more politics for me."

"Of course, politics is the life's blood of the American newspaper," he resumed, after a bit of historical reminiscence. "I suggested Governor Johnson of Minnesota become I know him to be clean and intelligent. There are other men quite as sincere equally honest and surely as capable. I am not in favor of anybody, I am told that a Republican evening paper quotes me as saying that I never heard of Lewis Stuyvesant Chanor. I never uttered such a word because it is false. I knew his father. The son comes of fine stock. How would
