TERSE TALES OF THE TOWN

Deputy Sheriff Karl Knutsen returned Sunday night from Portland and reports Mrs. Knutsen as improving.

Back at His Post—
Deputy County Clerk Trullinger has recovered from his recent illness and is filling his position at the court house as of yore.

At the Hospital—
C. J. Stanley, who was operated upon for appendicitis, is still very low although he showed some signs of improvement yesterday.

Died Yesterday—
Peter Svenson died yesterday morning in Uppertown of cancer. He was 46 years of age and a native of Sweden. The body is now in Pohl's undertaking parlors and the funeral will take place from the Norwegian Lutheran Church, probably tomorrow.

No Meeting Yesterday—
Police Commissioner Ford arrived in the city on Saturday but was called away yesterday, so there was no meeting of the commissioners as was expected. It is thought that as Officer Tomblby has refused to resign that he will be dismissed from the force at the next meeting.

Work Suspended—
Work on the new court house was suspended yesterday afternoon for the half day, on account of the death of Mrs. G. M. Dougan who was buried at Seattle yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Dougan was the wife of Contractor Dougan of the firm of Hasty & Dougan who have the contract on the county building.

Max Pracht in Town—
A. H. Pracht and wife, the well known hotel managers of Ashland, Portland and Seattle, are visiting Astoria chaperoned by Max Pracht, the hustling Oregon politician, himself a noted hotel man, otherwise known as "the cheerful fighter" who stands ready to O. K. any desirable hotel deal that Astoria has ready to offer. They are quartered at the Occident.

First Football Game—
The first football game of the season in Astoria will be played here next Sunday. The game will be played by the team of the Albany Athletic Club and Astoria's team, and as the clubs are well matched, an interesting game is expected. On the following Sunday, November 10th, a game will be played by the Bunker Hill Club, of Portland, and the local team, and on Thanksgiving Day the Chemawa Indians will come to do battle with Astoria's giant.

In From the Nehalem—
Claude Phair came in from the Nehalem Valley last evening with a fine lot of Berkshire hogs, 17 in number, for the local market. He leaves tomorrow evening, homeward bound.

Rain Helps Water Supply—
The rain that fell yesterday and last night will be a great help to Astoria's water supply. There was danger of a shortage in the amount of water necessary but the rain coming, as it did, at this time, has obviated the danger.

Finishing For Court House
The marble for the interior finish of the court house will probably arrive today. The marble workers who will place it in position arrived yesterday, and there will be no delay in the work after the material arrives.

Left For Portland—
Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Coolidge left for Portland last night and will reside there in the future. Mr. Coolidge leaves to take the superintendency of the new electric line between Portland and Salem which will be soon in operation.

Trust Deed Filed—
A trust deed was filed in the county clerk's office yesterday for 160 acres of land in section 28, township 18 north, range 5 north, wherein Lot Q. Swetland, who is interested in a contract with Adam Mueller secures the American Surety Co., for a bond of $50,000 furnished for work to be done on the Perkins Hotel, at Portland.

Certified Copy of Will—
There was filed in the county clerk's office yesterday a certified copy of the last will and testament of Lucinda Hill of Walla Walla, who died on August 9, 1907. The will which was probated on October 19th, names Bertha Hill Brackett, the daughter of the testator, as legatee, and Dorsey Hill, a son, as executor, without bonds. Part of the property left by the deceased is 400 acres of land in section 30, township 6 north, range 36 east. A certified copy of the action of the superior court, of Walla Walla county, shows that an order of solvency was made by that court and the executor was directed to manage the estate without further intervention of the court.

MEETING CALLED.

Those Interested in the Oil Well Proposition Please Attend.

The promotion committee of the Chamber of Commerce has called a meeting of those who may be interested in the proposition of drilling for oil and gas, to take place at 8:00 o'clock this evening in the Chamber of Commerce. The call which is dated the 28th sets forth the object of the meeting as follows:
"Dear Sirs—The promotion committee of the Chamber of Commerce invites you to an informal meeting at 8 o'clock, Tuesday evening, the 29th, in the offices of that organization, to discuss the proposition of drilling for oil and gas. Mr. C. N. Sherman has promised to be present. We will take up the question, do we want to drill a test well for oil and gas, and what is the best way to accomplish this?"

Died in Portland—
Arthur M. Smith of this city was in Portland on Sunday and returned yesterday. Mr. Smith was called there on account of the death of Mrs. Smith's brother, Lewis M. Dobyas, who passed away at the Good Samaritan Hospital, on Sunday. Mr. Dobyas was very well known in Portland having been secretary of the Painters' Union. He was always a member of Columbia Lodge, No. 114, A. F. & A. M., under whose auspices the funeral will take place probably today. An operation was performed on him on Saturday, but in his weakened condition he succumbed from the shock. He left, besides his sister, Mrs. Smith, a brother, living at Ione, Ore., a maiden sister and his father residing in Portland.

Train Late—
The train due here at 9:40 last night was five hours late. The delay was caused by a freight car of the Northern Pacific becoming derailed at Houlton, and the Astoria train was held at Portland until the track was cleared.

Brought For Medical Treatment—
Olof Ottosen was brought down from Brookfield, Wash., yesterday, for medical treatment. He was accompanied by Alex. Mesford by whom he is employed at that place.

At the Hospital—
Edgar Merrifield, who was operated on for appendicitis, on Saturday, is reported as doing nicely.

Cranberry Growing—

The industry of growing cranberries in the Columbia River district is increasing from year to year and it will not be long before the Pacific Coast will be producing enough of the delicious adjunct to roast turkey to supply the local markets. In this respect J. M. Arthur and Dorsey Smith are developing quite a cranberry marsh at Long Beach. They have already this season gathered 1800 barrels, of which half have recently been shipped, and expect to pick about 300 barrels more. They have not quite finished picking, but as soon as it is completed the marshes will be flooded and the berries that have dropped to the ground will float to the surface of the water.

Winds will blow the berries to one side of the temporary lake, thus formed, and they will be gathered and screened, and by this method the marshes will be made to yield another 300 barrels.

Coast Biological Station—

Master Fish Warden Van Dusen is in receipt of a communication from L. F. Falkenstein, secretary of the North Bend Chamber of Commerce, with reference to the establishment of a biological station on the Oregon coast. The Bureau of Fisheries, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, to which the matter must be referred for final action, have been placed in possession of the inducements that the Coos, Yaquina and Tillamook bays have to offer as the proper place to establish the biological station.

Good Old Mulligan—

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bartleson entertained a few friends at a regular "mulligan" dinner last evening, that was enjoyed by those present. Mr. and Mrs. T. Lowenthal, Mate Fordhuber, of the ship John Currier, and H. Wilson were the guests of the evening, who enjoyed the hospitality of the host and hostess.
