PORTLAND MARKETS

Latest Quotations in the Portland Markets.

Complete Market Reports Corrected Each Day Giving the Wholesale Prices of Commodities, Farm Produce, and Vegetables.

PORTLAND, Jan. 22.—With the arrival of a car of celery yesterday and a car of cauliflower today and the shipment of green stuff through in by the last steamer from the south, the vegetable market is for the present well supplied, but the demand continues steady and prices are maintained. Cauliflower today is quoted at $1.80 to $2 a crate and cabbage at $1 to $1.25 a hundred. Celery is unchanged. Three cars of bananas, all in good shape, came in today. The sweet potato market grows steadily stronger in the south. Local quotations are $3.25 to $3.50 a hundred.

WILD OUTBURSTS OF JOY.

Meleking Night, When London Flung Aside All Dignity.

"Meleking night" gave a verb to the English language. "To melek," defined in a phrase, means to turn everything upside down in a wild outburst of joy. Certainly we did turn everything upside down that night—Friday, May 18, 1906—in London, and we had joy and to spare to justify us. It was not merely that Meleking was relieved—the town in which Baden-Powell and his men, edging close to starvation, had sat tight so long and so pluckily; it was the far greater relief that came to all England at the end of that dark winter through which all England, stealthily, doggedly, had taken its nasty punishment, with the winning at last of a substantial victory. The tense strain was relaxed suddenly, and London, with good cause for it, meleked exultingly through all that glad night long.
Tiddlers are peacock tail feathers. Tiddling is tickling other people's noses with them. With my own happy eyes that night I saw two Whitechapel girls, with proper Whitechapel curls twisted on their temples, tiddle the nose of a Pall Mall policeman! And that policeman—imagine, if you please, all possible impossibilities fused into one single ultra violet ray of incredulity—fairly thrust forward his law embodying nose to be tickled by those worse than regicides—he was a Pall Mall policeman, remember—and benignly rewarded them with the sneeze of their desire!
On the same lines I may cite another example from that same evening. I saw on Piccadilly an intensely respectable looking Englishman—middle aged, stout, gray whiskered, dressed in seemly black and wearing a seemingly top hat—who most obviously was a member of the conservative middle class, a well to do city man, I should say, with a tidy villa at Shepherd's Bush or Hackney, who on Sundays very likely handed the plate. And this by rights typically phlegmatic Briton was seated, with his chubby legs very wide outspread before him, on the roof of a four wheeler, and he had the union jack in one hand and the standard in the other, and he was coming along the middle of one of the great streets of London in the thick of the roaring crowd filling it waving those national banners with an incomparable fervor and hurrahing just as loud as he possibly could hurrah!
But I saw no mote in the eye of my phlegmatic English brother—we were about an age—flag waving and hurrahing up there on the roof of his growler, possibly because at the moment I had something of a beam in my own. Strictly speaking, the relief of Meleking was not my affair at all. But, God bless me, there I was, too, with my standard and my union jack (they cost me sixpence apiece, mounted on little bamboo poles, and as long as I live I shall cherish them), and I went about London that night waving those flags just as crazily as anybody and roared away with the national anthem and "Soldiers of the Queen" and the "Absentminded Beggar" just as loudly as anybody. — Thomas A. Janvier in Harper's.

PAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for an Old One—How it is Done in Astoria.

The backaches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one.
Mrs. Nancy Sewell, living on Jefferson street, Hillsboro, Ore., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and think very highly of them. My kidneys were too frequent in action and forced me to arise many times during the night. My back was so sore and lame that I could not stoop or bend over. I tried liniments and plasters, but without any good results. At last Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and I procured a box. In a short time, the pains left my back and my kidneys were restored to their normal and natural condition. I am now well and free from kidney trouble and do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other sufferers."
Plenty more proof like this from Astoria people. Call at Chas. Rogers' drug store and ask what his customers report. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

REORGANIZATION PLANNED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A bill increasing the compensation of officers of the revenue cutter service was passed by the Senate yesterday. The bill provides for a general reorganization of the revenue cutter service. Under its terms petty officers receive an increase of 10 per cent for every five years' service.

Fever Sores.

Fever sores and old chronic sores should not be healed entirely, but should be kept in healthy condition. This can be done by applying Chamberlain's Salve. This salve has no superior for this purpose. It is also most excellent for chapped hands, sore nipples, burns and diseases of the skin. For sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

AN UNCONQUERED PEAK.

Lizard Head on Mount Wilson Has Defied the Climbers.

The mountains and peaks of the San Juan in northwestern Colorado present a different appearance from any of the northern Rockies.
They are grander, more precipitous, with sharper pinnacles and more jagged in outline. In height Mount Massive, Elbert and Blanca slightly outrank those of the San Juan, but nowhere else can be found whole groups of mountains rearing their heads to and above 14,000 feet.
Mount Wilson—14,250 feet—the dominant peak, is one of the most massive in the entire Rocky mountain range. Just east of this mountain is the remarkable trachyte obelisk called Lizard Head. The vivid imagination of an early pioneer who had been "seeing things" is said to be responsible for the name.
The summit is 14,100 feet above the sea. From a ponderous base the pinnacle rises 200 feet, with a diameter at the foot of only about sixty feet, gradually tapering to less than half that at the top.
Lizard head has defied all attempts of mountaineers to reach its summit. The foot of the pinnacle is easily accomplished, but thus far the steep sides of the 200 foot shaft have proved insurmountable. No doubt the time will come when the venturesome mountain climber will find a way, but many a failure is the record of the past.
Trains circle this mountain for miles on the way from Telluride to Rico—New York Post.

Two Horse Tales.

An Albanian who had been in an eastern state while freshets were in full swing told the following about a horse which had been attached to a footbridge crossing a brook to keep the structure from going adrift. The flood finally swept horse and bridge down stream. Later the bridge was discovered lodged against the bank, with the horse sitting quietly on the former.
A bystander who had listened intently to this tale remarked quietly: "I see suthin' similary oncot."
"Indeed? What was it?" asked the story teller.
"Ye see," was the reply, "arter the hoss I see was took down stream no budy ever 'spected to see him alive ag'n. But he was a pow'ful sort o' brute, an' 'bout a hour arterward we see him a-comin' up stream a-pullin' the blame old bridge arter him!"—Albany Journal.

Mortar Tossers.

There is no hod carrying in Japan. The native builders have a method of transporting mortar which makes it seem more like play than work—to the onlooker. The mortar is mixed in a pile in the street. One man makes this up into balls of about six pounds weight, which he tosses to a man who stands on a ladder midway between the roof and the ground. This man daffly catches the ball and tosses it up to a man who stands on the roof.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Women and the Theater.

The first aim of the modern playwright is to please the women in the audience. The second thought is for the female characters in the play. If a play finds favor with the women it is bound to be a success. The men will go if only because she is there or to act as her escort.—Theater Magazine.
