FASHION JOTTINGS.

One of the Newest Fur Coats of the Season—The Modish Collar. Women who like to look at novelties even when they cannot buy those things have been struck recently in a fashionable fur shop by a coat of seal-skin and heavy gold flet net. The coat is short and loose and is inset with flet net. On that is embroidered a heavy raised design in shaded brown chenille and brown velvet matching

The seal-skin in tone. Large pendent ornaments of brown velvet, chenille and gold are set on the fronts and the sleeves. Doubtless such jackets will be craved by many beauties, but the price will prevent these little garments of gold and fur from becoming common this season.

The fashionable collar is fitted close to the neck and is very high at the back and sides, curving to a comfortable line under the chin. The fur storm collar is here again.

It is not so high as it used to be, but high enough to suit women who suffer from drafts on the back of their necks.

Even women who have themselves pictured by expensive artists are wearing low cut gowns for the sittings. The great Sargent under fashion insistence has been obliged to put a scarf about the shoulders of his models.

Among the fashionable jewelry of moderate price lapis lazuli, jade, camoes cut from shell or coral, Venetian beads and the old time jet are all back. Antique patterns in brooches, bracelets, rings, etc., are to be had in sterling silver gilt at moderate prices.

Above the modish coat collar one sees more often than anything else a lingerie stock high to the tips of the ears at the sides and high at the back, but rounded under the chin.

Very smart is the bolero illustrated to be worn with a princess frock. It is trimmed with braid, and the becoming notched collar is heavily braided in several varieties of braid. The cuffs are treated in the same fashion.

This simple discovery banishes uric acid from the blood loosens the stiffened joints, purifies the blood, and brightens the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. ### A Bit Hazy.

"But," said Brightley, "if you were sure the fellow who beat you in the saloon was a policeman why didn't you take his number?" "Well," replied Rounds, "I had a number too many already."—Philadelphia Press

SNAPSHOT OF THE MODES

Because a woman has passed middle age is no reason for adopting black and wearing it on all occasions as if she were in mourning. The dark shade brings out in a most pronounced way her lack of freshness and faded color all the crow's feet and lines in her face, and often throws shadows that give a drawn and haggard appearance to the skin.

Some of the new skirts for dressy gowns have tunic effects that are carried out by an upper skirt trimming rather than by an upper skirt of the material. It is more than probable that what will succeed the present type of toilet will in some form or other be the tunic.

One of the most popular jumper modes for ladies is here shown. It is in mandarin style, with the large arm-hole and broad shoulder characteristic of Japanese dressing. A pretty yoke of odd shaping is an attractive feature and gives an opportunity for the introduction of a contrasting fabric. It may be of silk, crepe de chene, veiling or any of the seasonable dress goods. JUDIC CHOLLET.
