Mrs. Ray-Shershay had just returned from a visit to the foreign cruiser that lay at anchor in the harbor of the great American city.

"We had a fine time," she said. "They showed us all over the ship and paid us every attention. We didn't know they had arranged an elegant luncheon for us, and we were agreeably surprised, of course, when the captain invited us into the dining saloon and seated us at a long table spread with everything that could tempt the appetite. I tell you, Mrs. Upsome, we enjoyed that luncheon. We didn't have to hurry through it either, and we were waited on with the utmost politeness and cordiality."

"The service was first class, was it interrupted Mrs. Upsome.

"The service?" said Mrs. Ray-Shershay, lowering her voice. "No; that was nearly all imitation. I give you my word there was hardly a thing worth carrying away as a souvenir. All I grabbed was this little pickle fork, and I do believe it's nothing but plated ware!"-Chicago Tribune.

Euphemisms For "Mad."

In order to avoid the blunt word "mad" many cuphemisms are resorted to in the English language. SENATOR KNOX MAKES EFFORT Claims to be Pioneer Government Official in Work of Bringing Transportation Companies Under the Control of the Government.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18 .- President Roosevelt, in his recent message to Congress, strongly recommends additional legislation to make effective the anti-trust laws. He says: 'Not only should there be action on certain laws affecting wage carners; there should also be such action on laws better to secure control over the great business concerns engaged in interstate commerce, and especially over the great common carriers."

The recommendation of the Presideffect during the present Congress, and if legislation is undertaken along this line, Senator Philander C. Knox. of Pennsylvania, will have an important part in it. Senator Knox was the pioneer government official in the work of bringing the transportation corporations under federal control and is conceded to be the best informed man in the country upon the sub-

It was Mr. Knox, then Attorney General, who, in 1902, recommended to Congress that in respect to railroad rebates, a penalty should be imposed upon the incorporated carrier and the beneficiary alike, and that the rights of the courts to restrain such practice at the suit of the United States should be provided for in new legislation. He recommended that it should be made unlawful to trans-published rate," and that all who par- and the giving of testimony, whether ticipated in the violation of such laws should be punished. He recommended that comprehensive plans should be framed to enable the Government to secure all the facts bearing upon the organization and practice engaged in interstate and foreign commerce essential to a full understanding bills embodying every idea in the legthereof. He recommends the act to islation enacted for the correction of suspend the final decision of cases under the anti trust law. All of these cases were promptly acted upon and became laws before the expiration of that session of Congress.

The act to expedite the hearing and was passed Feb. 11, 1903. Under its provisions the Northern Securities case was set down for argument before the circuit judges of the Eight Circuit and argued in March, 1903.

On February 14, 1903, the Department of Commerce and Labor was Bureau of Corporations established, completing the government's power to make investigation into the organization, conduct, management and business of all corporations engaged in interstate and foreign commerce.

Along the line of his suggestions already indicated, and pursuant to others which he made Congress also by providing that anything done or which if done by an employe thereof would constitute a misdemeanor under the law, should also be held to be a misdemeanor committed by such corporation: requiring every common carrier subject to the law to publish his tariff rates or charges, and to maintain them; making it unlawful for any person or corporation to offer, grant, or give, or to solicit, accept, or receive any rebate, concession or discrimination in respect to the transportation of any property in interstate or foreign commerce, whereby such property shall by any device whatever be transported at a less rate than the rate published by the carrier; and also making the rate published and filed with the interstate commerce commission the legal rate.

It provided also for the production port traffic by carrier subject to the of all books and papers, both by car-'Act to Regulate Commerce," and riers and shipper, which directly or 'at any rate less than such carrier's indirectly relate to the transactions, such documents can incriminate the party or not.

The inseparable identification of Mr. Knox with all these measures is proven not only by the recommendations which he made from time to time, but by the fact that he prepared the evils over which the government has gained its splendid triumphs.

HOW THE TIGER KILLS.

I have taken considerable trouble to determination of suits under the anti and out how tigers kill large game trust and interstate commerce acts Some time ago I was asked to come and see a full grown bullock that had it I found the animal had its neck broken, and there were claw marks on the nose and aboutles, but nowhers en the nose and shoulder, but nowhere else. There was no doubt that the tiger had jumped at the bull and landcreated and in that Department the ed on the shoulder, and when the bull turned his head to gore the tiger he must have put his claw out and with a sudden jark broken the neck.

On another occasion I went to se foung buffalo which had been killed by a tiger and found the same thing had happened. There were similar marks on the nose and also on the near shoulder, which clearly indicated that this animal had been killed in the same amended the interstate commerce law a tiger killing a buffalo told me they way. Malays who have actually seen saw the same thing happen; also that ent is quiet likely to be carried into omitted to be done by a corporate in dragging off a heavy carcass, such common carrier subject to the act, as buffalo or bull, he gets most of the weight across his shoulder.

This must be fairly correct, have often followed a kill, and the marks left indicate that only a portion of the animal was trailing along the ground. I have known a full grown bull, which ten men could not move, dragged for two miles by a tiger in a beavy jungle, where roots of trees and swamp had to be gone through. In no case have I seen the pug marks facing the wrong way except when stopping to feed, which proves he must carry portion of the animal over his shoul

The old idea of a tiger killing large game by a blow from his paw is non sense; besides, in India a tiger never faces his prey, but attacks him on the fank unless charged. Another curious fact that may seem very like a fairy tale is that a tiger does not seem to mind a small lamp being tied over s kill about ten feet high, but will come and feed. I have known three occa sions when this has been tried, each time a tiger has come to feed

LONDON, Feb. 18.-The shipbuilding strike along the Tyne which has already lasted a month, is likely to be greatly extended, further first by a lockout which will go into effect at the end of the present week, and second, by a strike of allied trades engineers, who have just decided by an overwhelming majority against a reduticon in wages. Unless a compromise can be reached many thousands of men will soon be idle.
