NATURAL RESOURCES.

NEW YORK, Mar. 6.—Announcing that there was no issue before the American people so important in his judgement, as the conservation of natural resources, urged upon congress by President Roosevelt, Gifford Pinchot, forester of the department of agriculture, told 1,500 people at a meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers last night that a timber famine in this country was imminent and that unless there was a great change in public sentiment, the country would have to face in a few years the problems of how to do without wood.

At the present rate of consumption, he said, the trees now standing could supply timber for 20 years. There have already been set aside in the west 165,000,000 acres of forest lands protected by the government.

AN INGLORIOUS WOUND.

The Hard Luck That Was Handed Out to the Old Veteran. On one of the volunteer ranges in the north of England is a well known old Irish sergeant, who has charge. It may be mentioned that he went through three wars—the Crimean, the Indian mutiny and the Chinese—and during the whole of that time never received a single wound.

Old W., as he is called, occasionally acts as a marker at the targets, and his utter recklessness has become a proverb.

He has been known to walk forth from behind the mantelet without the slightest warning and touch up a bulleye which did not quite satisfy him or to note the exact position of a shot.

At all remonstrances he would smile contemptuously. "Me be shot? Me?" he would ask. "Why, I've bin through three wars and was never shot yet. Pah! Phwat's a bit o' lead flying through the air?"

It actually occurred, however, at last, and he was shot through the shoulder.

For a moment, as frequently happens with rifle shots, such is their terrible force, he did not know he was struck; then when he observed the blood streaming down his sleeve he commenced to walk down the range, right in the line of fire.

It was seen that something was wrong, and they hurried to meet him. As he did so he tottered and had to be carried.

"Shot!" he groaned, with a look of shame. "Shot and by a Saturday afternoon soldier!"—London Tit-Bits.

An Inspiration. Mrs. Knicker—Henry, why did you leave your shoes on the stairs last night? Knicker (dazed, but inspired)—English custom, m'dear. Left 'em to be blacked.—Puck.

Repressed Sentiments. People who marry always hear good wishes, congratulations and other pleasant remarks, but they miss much in not hearing the repressed sentiments which burst forth to others.
