Schooner Mindora Arrives 103 Days From Australia

SECOND MATE DIES AT SEA

Travel Out of Portland on San Francisco Liners Taxing Their Capacity
—Tatoosh Sprucing up—Quiet Day on the Waterfront.

Just before sundown yesterday, the long-looked-for schooner Mindora, arrived in this port, 103 days out from Newcastle, Australia, with 990 tons of coal consigned to the Pacific Coast Company, at Portland.

Captain E. C. Larson, of the Mindora, reports that in all his nineteen years of master's service at sea, he never saw a voyage so full of shifting and baffling weather as this just closed. It was gale and calm and storm, intermittently, all the way over, and his provisions were beginning to show the bottoms of boxes, barrels and cans pretty plainly, and he was only too glad to drop his anchor within the savory precincts of a good restaurant.

On the 4th of February he lost his second mate, W. Schroeder, at sea in sudden and inexplicable manner. He was talking to that officer, close to the rail, and had just turned away from him, when he heard a cry from the man and turning about beheld him struggling in the sea and calling for help. Captain Larson threw him a life-preserver instantly and called away the life-boat and was beside the mate inside of five minutes, but he was dead when they hauled him in the boat. The drowned man's throat was distended by a quid of tobacco that had lodged there in his struggles, and it is hard to say whether the man coked to death from this cause or was drowned outright. He was buried on the high seas the next evening.

On the voyage preceding this Captain Larson lost his second mate, from heart disease, and considers that he has reasonable distrust of all officers of that rank, and a third event of the same unhappy nature will convince him beyond all peradventure of his peculiar line of misfortune; though it is cordially hoped he may never have to tell the story again. The Mindora will leave up for Portland today. Customs Inspector Charles H. Haddix goes up in charge of her.

There is such a demand for staterooms on the San Francisco liners out of Portland, that the Geo. W. Elder was sold out almost before she reached there on the up-trip; and the Senator is practically closed out also. Mrs. Charles Haddix was just fortunate enough to secure quarters for the next trip south, and will depart on Saturday morning next for the Bay City, where she will enjoy the reception glories in honor of the Armada; after which she will proceed to her home in Waco, Texas, for a home-visit of several months' duration.

The French bark Moliere arrived down from Portland last night on the hawsers of the Harvest Queen, and will leave out for Europe today.

The bar tug Tatoosh is up on the sands at the eastern end of the O. R. & N. pier, having her hull painted a glowing red.

Notice to Mariners.

The following affects the List of Lights and Fog Signals, Pacific Coast, 1907.

OREGON.

Beacon 2 Light, page 34, No. 117 (List of Lights, Buoys and Daymarks, Pacific Coast, 1908, page 63). Located in 6 feet of water, on the southeasterly side of the channel of the Columbia River, at the turn, about 2 3/8 miles above Tongue Point.

The structure from which this light was shown, carried away and the light extinguished April 17, will be rebuilt and the light relighted as soon as practicable.

Wallace Island Light, page 36, after No. 134 (List of Lights, Buoys, and Daymarks, Pacific Coast, 1908, page 66). To be located on the extreme northeasterly point of Wallace Island, southerly side of the Columbia river.

About May 20 a fixed white post lantern light will be established, 19 feet above the water, suspended from an arm on a white stake, to guide vessels in the easterly entrance to Wallace channel.

WASHINGTON.

Umatilla Reef Light Vessel, page 46, No. 212 (List of Lights, Buoys, and Daymarks, Pacific Coast, 1908, page 76). Moored in 150 feet of water, about 2 1/2 miles SW 5-8 S from Umatilla Reef, Flattery Rocks, making off from Cape Alava, sea coast of Washington, and about 4 1/4 miles west southwesterly from the Cape.

About May 20 Light Vessel No. 67 will be replaced on the station and Relief Light Vessel No. 76 will then be withdrawn.

Columbia River, page 67.—Cottonwood Island Shoal Buoy, 3, a first-class spar, found missing April 9, was replaced the same day.

Juan De Fuca Strait, page 83.—Neah Bay Whistling Buoy, red, marked, "Neah Bay" in black, was numbered "2," without other change. April 6.

Words of Praise From Portland.

Mr. Greenleaf demonstrated conclusively that he has the ability and knows how to entertain an audience of children and older persons. The evening was pronounced a success by a large and appreciative audience. From a literary standpoint the evening was worth much to our school. —A. R. Draper, Principal Shattuck School, Portland.

Mr. Greenleaf gave us a very interesting program. Our audience was larger than we could comfortably accommodate, yet the pupils and patrons of Clinton Kelly School had a very enjoyable evening.—L. H. Morgan, Principal Clinton Kelly School.

Mr. Greenleaf, appears tonight, auspices of Epworth League, at the Methodist Church, admission 50 cents.

The Palace Restaurant

The ever-increasing popularity of the Palace Restaurant is evidence of the good management, and the service, at this popular dining room. For a long time the reputation of the house has been of the best and it does not wane as time progresses. The system used, that of furnishing the finest the market affords, and all can be obtained, in season, is a plan that will always win, coupled as it is with the best of cooking and prompt service. A common saying nowadays is "Get the Palace habit."

The very best board to be obtained in the city is at "The Occident Hotel." Rates very reasonable.

The Commercial.

One of the coziest and most popular resorts in the city is the Commercial. A new billiard room, a pleasant-sitting room and handsome fixtures all go to make an agreeable meeting place for gentlemen, there to discuss the topics of the day, play a game of billiards and enjoy the fine refreshments served there. The best of goods are only handled, and this fact being so well known, a large business is done at the Commercial, on Commercial street,
