CRIME IN PARIS.

Detectives Are Advancing Theories to Account For Death.

PARIS, June 2.—In spite of the affirmations of the police that the Steinheil affair belongs in the category of vulgar crimes, all the amateur detectives of Paris are advancing fantastic theories to account for the strangling to death of Adolphe Steinheil and Mme. Japy, his mother-in-law, in Steinheil's studio, last Sunday morning, and many of the Parisian newspapers are pandering to the French love of romantic sensationalism by persisting in their intimations that the crime is shrouded in deep mystery. They emphasize particularly the conduct of the man-servant, Couillaud, in not descending from his quarters when he heard unfamiliar sounds, and the failure to discover the footprints of the assassins outside the house. The absence of any evidence of a struggle, the strange positions in which the bodies were found. Mme. Steinheil's insignificant injuries and her retraction of the statement that she recognized one of the murderers as a model who had worked for her husband, together with Chief of Detectives Hamard's sudden reticence concerning the result of the examination and investigation, lend some color to the theory that sensational developments are possible.

The autopsies on the bodies were held today, at the conclusion of which the examining magistrate announced that the death of the victims was due to strangulation.

The autopsies proved there had been no struggle between the assassins and their victims, and the bodies were devoid of marks of violence except where the cords had been drawn around their necks. The belief is emphasized that the perpetrators were experienced criminals.

No Need of Suffering From Rheumatism.

It is a mistake to allow rheumatism to become chronic as the pain can always be relieved and in most cases a cure effected by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes sleep and rest possible. Even in cases of long standing this liniment should be used on account of the relief which it affords. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

Sore Nipples.

Any mother who has had experience with this distressing ailment will be pleased to know that a cure may be effected by applying Chamberlain's Salve as soon as the child is done nursing. The pleasant intelligence was received in this city yesterday that Col. William B. Homer, U. S. A., has been assigned to the command of the Forts at the mouth of the Columbia, though the date of his taking over the post has not yet been fixed.

Colonel Homer is one of the latest to receive the rank he bears and is an officer of proven worth and ability. He has been stationed, for sometime past, at Fort Warren, Mass.

Major Bartlett, who for the past fortnight has been busily engaged at the forts on the river here, supervising the establishment and improvement of the fire-control stations and the apparatus incident thereto, has completed his labors there and left yesterday for Fort Flagler, up on the Sound.

Lieutenants Kerfoot and Keller, from Fort Stevens, were in the city yesterday, on matters of official business. The former officer is in command at the end of the river during the absence of Captain Lamereaux, who, with Mrs. Lamereaux, left for the metropolis yesterday, to visit their son who is at school there, and to take in the pleasures of the Rose Festival.

The Palace Restaurant

The ever-increasing popularity of the Palace Restaurant is evidence of the good management, and the service, at this popular dining room. For a long time the reputation of the house has been of the best and it does not wane as time progresses. The system used, that of furnishing the finest the market affords, and all can be obtained, in season, is a plan that will always win, coupled as it is with the best of cooking and prompt service. A common saying nowadays is "Get the Palace habit."

LADY MANICURIST ENGAGED.

"The Modern," A. E. Petersen's beautiful tonsorial establishment, has been further modernized by the permanent engagement of a highly trained young lady manicurist, who will also serve the house as cashier.

The Commercial

One of the coziest and most popular resorts in the city is the Commercial. A new billiard room, a pleasant sitting room and handsome fixtures all go to make an agreeable meeting place for gentlemen, there to discuss the topics of the day, play a game of billiards and enjoy the fine refreshments served there. The best of goods are only handled, and this fact being so well known, a large business is done at the Commercial, on Commercial street, near Eleventh.

aboard the Kennebec. Over 2,000 figures of dragons, ancient figures and mystic hieroglyphics adorn the copies. On it are also cut the Nestorian odes and eulogy to the religion.

Dr. Von Holm says the original tablet was transferred to the forest of Tablets after its discovery by the Jesuit missionaries in the seventeenth century and that it testifies to the Nestorian religion in China as far back as 1663.

JELLIED VEGETABLES

"Jellied vegetables are particularly suitable for a luncheon or supper dish to be served as an accompaniment to almost any kind of cold sliced meat," says Fannie Merritt Farmer in Woman's Home Companion for June. "Remove the jelly to a serving dish, and surround with the slices of the meat overlapping one another; then garnish with celery tips. Cold meat needs to be very thinly sliced to be at its best, therefore do see to it that the closet can boast of sharp knives, for without them the work cannot be perfectly done. Soak one tablespoonful of granulated gelatine in one fourth of a cupful of cold water, and dissolve in one cupful of boiling water then add one fourth of a cupful each of sugar and vinegar, two teaspoonful of salt. Strain, cool, and when beginning to stiffen add one cupful of finely shredded cabbage and one and one half canned pimientos cut in small pieces. Turn into a mold, and chill thoroughly."
