BOMB STARTS FIGHT

Many Are Killed in Battle at Teheran

PEOPLE NOW TURN TO SHAH

Hundreds of People Who Demonstrated Against Him, Now Cry "Long Live the Shah" and "We Don't Want a Constitution."

PARIS, June 24—Special dispatches received here from Teheran say that the fighting began about 8 a. m. and was provoked by a bomb thrown from the roof of one of the buildings among the Cossacks. The fighting continued until late in the afternoon many being killed on both sides. The Shah sent the Cossacks and artillery to surround the parliament building as a result of the parliament's ultimatum refusing to hand over certain persons whose arrest the Shah had ordered. An officer and 50 soldiers requested the assembly to surrender five men who had been leaders in the agitation against the Shah. This being refused the officer left the men to guard the doors while he proceeded to military headquarters for further instructions. An hour or so later and before the troops had taken any action, a bomb was thrown from a roof among the Cossacks. It killed two horses and did other damage and created a panic owing to the absence of the officer. The latter hurried back and was fired at. The Cossacks returned the fire and there was a lively exchange which continued for three hours.

Later artillery was sent into action and shelled the assembly building for several hours. When all was over it was found that casualties on both sides were very heavy. Apparently blank shells were used at the beginning, as the damage to the buildings was very slight for a considerable time. A man who fought on the roof of the building says he and several others fired steadily into the troops until the ammunition was exhausted and the rifles were too hot to hold. Eventually a shot crashed through the parliament building and the Cossacks charged, the occupants of the building fleeing. The soldiers had no sooner entered the place than they began to loot it, next turning their attention to the neighboring shops. Hundreds of people, who a few days ago assembled before the parliament building and demonstrated against the Shah, now proceeded to the work of demolishing the building, with cries of "Long live the Shah," "We don't want a constitution."
