BRYAN TO HEAR TAFT

And The Next Day Taft Will Listen To His Rival Orate.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 26.—Wm. J. Bryan and Wm. Taft will speak in Lincoln on consecutive days early in September and it is supposed each will listen to the other. That was the announcement made this evening at Gov. Sheldon's office in the State capitol following correspondence with Mr. Bryan and Mr. Taft, by W. R. Meller, secretary of the Nebraska Board of Agriculture. Promise, it was said, had been made by both gentlemen to attend the Nebraska State Fair and make addresses, but the exact dates were not announced.

NEW YORK, June 26.—That buyers of alcoholic beverages as well as sellers of them be compelled to take out licenses is the proposition which Geo. W. Culma, an architect with office in New York has embodied in an ordinance which he has presented for adoption in his home town of Montclair, N. J., near here. Under the proposed ordinance every purchaser of a drink must be supplied with license and a metal badge. Should a liquor dealer sell to a man not thus tagged he would be rendered liable to prosecution with the revocation of the selling license as a penalty. The ordinance does not say how the tag shall be worn, the idea being presumably to give the wearer the liberty to follow their own fancies in this respect.

SUFFRAGETTES AT WORK

One Hundred Thousand Will Appear Before House of Commons.

LONDON, June 26.—Convinced that their recent tactics have failed to persuade Premier Asquith to accelerate the legislative machine in their favor, the suffragettes project another novel demonstration next Tuesday with a view to exerting further pressure. While a deputation will seek an interview with the prime minister, it is the intention to surround the house of commons with a cordon of suffragettes which the leaders predict will number at least 100,000. It will be a peaceful gathering, however, and no attempt will be made to force an entry into the house.

TO EXTERMINATE RATS

Health Commissioner Will Begin Crusade in East St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—Assistant Health Commissioner Winn announced last night that Monday he will begin a crusade which he expects will exterminate rats in East St. Louis. He has discovered a new virus, which he expects will eradicate the pest. Rats from several parts of the city will be inoculated with the virus and if his theory works, he says, within a few months, the rodents will be unknown in the city.

EXPECT MANY VISITORS

Cleveland Home Coming To Be Made Next Week.

CLEVELAND, O., June 26.—With the arrival to-day of the majority of the general officers of the National Educational Association the work of taking care of thousands of contemplated visitors began. Members of the chamber of commerce are back of a moment to make next week a time of home coming. Letters and posters will be mailed to all towns in the state of Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Illinois, to point out the recent ruling by the Interstate Commerce Commission which makes it obligatory upon the railroads to offer to all the reduced rate of 2 1/2 cents a mile which they have promised visitors. The official program given out to-day is the result of weeks of work by National Secretary Shepard and his assistants. It is a document of 39 pages and contains, besides a full list of the addresses and exercises, much general instruction and information concerning the national Educational Association.

THEY NEED THE COIN.

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 26.—The Democratic Congressional Convention is confronting a hard proposition in the matter of money to carry on the campaign and Representatives Lloyd will go to New York early tomorrow morning for the purpose of tapping the barrels of democrats whose loyalty to the party he has confidence in. The fact is the party has begun its campaign two months ahead of scheduled time this year and while it usually calls for money in September, it is stated that it must have funds now or call a halt in the sending out of its literature. It has made extensive preparations which it is ready to put into effect in keeping with the early campaign project. Mr. Lloyd stated that he does not expect to have his campaign brought to a standstill and he believes the result of his visit to New York will be to allow him to go ahead with the execution of plans that have been made.

$100 A KISS.

CHICAGO, June 26.—A despatch to the Tribune from Kansas City, Mo. says: An offer by Dr. Hamilton Fisk Briggar, of Cleveland, John D. Rockefeller's physician, to kiss any woman who would give $100 to the propaganda fund, yesterday created a merry sensation at the Homeopaths' National Convention. The fun continued 30 minutes and $5,000 was pledged, enough of it by women doctor to keep Dr. Briggar busy trotting up and down the aisles trying to catch the givers and fulfill his part of the contract.

WHOLESALE VACCINATION

CHICAGO, June 26.—One hundred physicians from the Chicago Health Department descended on the population of the District bounded by sixteenth, Forty-fourth, State and La Salle Streets last night to vaccinate everyone in sight. Each physician was armed with full police power and had the right to arrest all who resisted vaccination. The move was ordered by Health Commissioner Evans because of the large number of smallpox cases which have come out of the district and the large percentage of cases among the colored people compared with the white.

PECULIAR ACCIDENTS.

The "Irony of Life" Illustrated in Stories of Falls.

The "irony of life" was strikingly illustrated recently in the news of a rustle who slipped from a six barred gate and broke his neck and of an Italian aeronaut who fell 1,000 feet with his collapsed balloon with no worse result than a sprained ankle. A Frenchwoman, Mme. Morel, and her daughter, while climbing in the Alps, near Zermatt, fell a distance of 1,200 feet, not much less than a quarter of a mile, and although the mother was killed on the spot, her daughter escaped with a few bruises. Mr. Whymer, the famous mountaineer, had a similarly miraculous deliverance from what seemed to be certain death when scaling the Matterhorn. Losing his footing, he fell from rock to rock to the bottom of a precipitous gully, 100 yards in depth, only to recover his feet with no worse damage than a badly cut head. And M. Parville, a French writer, tells the story of an East Indian living in the island of Oghin who fell over a precipice 1,000 feet deep with no more serious consequence than a good shaking, his fall being broken by the dense vegetation which grew at the foot of the cliff. While climbing a waterworks tower 240 feet high in Chicago a steeple-jack dislodged a loose stone and was precipitated to the ground from a height of 175 feet, fortunately striking telegraph wires forty feet above the street and thus breaking his fall. The spectators gasped with horror as they saw the man drop swiftly to destruction. A rush was made to pick up his shattered remains only to discover that he was practically unharmed. Not a bone was broken, and a week later he was walking about as if nothing had happened. More remarkable and indeed almost incredible was the experience of Charles Woolcot when he was making a parachute descent in Venezuela. At a height of 3,000 feet Woolcot flung himself off his balloon into space, when, to the horror of the thousands of onlookers, the parachute failed to open. The man dropped like a stone with terrible speed until, when about 200 feet from the earth, the parachute flew open and at once collapsed. He was dashed to the ground, his right

Just Satisfied Herself.

People of all sorts weigh themselves on the penny in the slot machines found widely distributed in public places, but never before had this man, anyway, seen anybody weigh on one of them anything but himself or herself as this weigher, a woman, did in a subway station. She came in carrying in one hand a muff and in the other a box of polished oak that was narrow and proportionately high and maybe a foot in length. That the box was heavy was shown by the fact that the leather handle had been stretched somewhat by its weight. And apparently its present carrier had found it heavy and was curious about its weight, for now she set the box on the platform of one of those weighing machines and dropped a penny in the slot. It weighed ten pounds, certainly a heavy box to carry. That was all she wanted to know—didn't weigh herself. She just picked the box up again, this time with a smile, and went aboard the train.—New York Sun.

Perhaps the severe and somewhat unseasonable storms of May may be accounted for by the fact that circuit and picnic schedules bore unusually early dates this year.

"Our naval policy," says Army and Navy Life, "should be preparedness in the far east, on our Pacific and on our Atlantic coasts and supremacy in the gulf of Mexico."

The boy who whistles to keep his "courage up" shows that he has some spunk anyway.

TO RE-NAME SAG HARBOR

May Add An "E" To Sag In Honor Of Mrs. Sage.

NEW YORK, June 26.—There is an effort on foot to re-name Sag Harbor, the old Long Island whaling port, in honor of Mrs. Russell Sage to show the residents' appreciation of her gifts to the village. Mrs. Sage states the proposed gift is to be the old driving park grounds north of the town for a public park. It is now proposed by the village improvement Society to add a final "E" to the "Sag" thus making the name of the village "Sage" Harbor including the building of the handsome new Pierson High School Mrs. Sage's gift to the village now amounts to $200,000.
