MARATHON RACE

over the staff in the center of the arena with the American flag below it. The American officials quickly gathered about the judges and protested. In the meanwhile a third runner, Hefferon, in his South African green—the oldest runner of all, for he has 34 years to his credit—made his appearance. After this the competitors came in one by one, but it was not until 12 runners, including Lewis Tewinina, the American, had been registered, that an Englishman was seen. This was a hard blow to the Britons, who had counted upon having five out of the first 10 men home. The English in previous contests have always been pre-eminent in long distance running.

Half an hour after the Italian and American flags had been hoisted, three-fourths of the spectators had deserted the field. The exodus was quiet and subdued. The decision allowing the protest of the American officials was given out after the stadium had been practically emptied.

Hayes' time was 2 hours, 55 minutes, 18 seconds; Hefferon's, 2 hours 56 minutes, 6 seconds; Forshaw, 2 hours, 56 minutes, 10 1/2 seconds; Welton's, 2 hours, 59 minutes, 49 1/2 seconds; Wood's, a Canada, 3 hours, 1 minute, 44 seconds; Simpson's, Canada, 3 hours, 4 minutes, 28 1/2 seconds; Lawson's, Canada, 3 hours, 6 minutes, 47 1/2 seconds; Stranborg's, Sweden, 3 hours, 7 minutes, 50 1/2 seconds; Tewinina's, 3 hours, 9 minutes, 15 seconds.

The starting of the Marathon race, 26 miles and 385 yards, to the stadium, the most interesting event of all the Olympic games, from the east terrace of Windsor Castle, was a beautiful scene, which will be memorable in the annals of sport.

$3000 FISH HATCHERY.

To be Established on Lewis River at Johnson Creek.

WOODLAND, Wash. July 24.—John M. Crawford, general superintendent of Washington state fish hatcheries, accompanied by George Hogatt, who become local manager of the new hatchery to be established on Lewis River at Johnson Creek, about six miles east of Woodland, arrived here last night, and this morning, accompanied by carpenters and others workmen, went up to the proposed site to lay out the ground and commence work on the plant.

The state will expend $3000 in a hatchery that will have an output of about 2,500,000 salmon fry. It is proposed to handle nothing but chinook for the present, taking steelheads later.

No rearing pond will be put in until later, and any surplus will have to go to one of the other hatcheries that are equipped with these ponds.

Most of the spawn will be taken on Cedar Creek, in Clark county, across the river from the plant on Johnson creek.

HITCHCOCK AT LINCOLN.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 24.—While stopping in Lincoln for half an hour this afternoon on his way East, Chairman Frank Hitchcock said that he had planned a speaking trip through Nebraska for James S. Sherman in October. He also expects to send Senators Beveridge and Dooliver and other Republicans of National fame to Nebraska, expecting a bitter fight for the state. William H. Taft will not come to Nebraska under the present plans, according to Mr. Hitchcock. His campaign will be conducted from his porch at Cincinnati similar to the first campaign of William McKinley.

Mr. Hitchcock said he had never seen a better spirit manifested among political workers than among the state chairman and National committeemen who met him in Colorado Springs. All seemed ready and anxious to take off their coats and work, he said.

SUING FOR $5,125.

RENO, Nev., July 24.—Miss Katherine Collins, of this city, is suing a brokerage company for damages amounting to $5125 for not providing her with the proper kind of chair. She was employed as stenographer by the brokerage company, and worked from February 22 to March 23, and during that time used a chair much too high. On account of her feet not touching the floor, she says, serious spinal trouble was superinduced, so that she had to have two operations performed.

Unsportsmanlike Actions at the British Olympics

YANKEES GET NO CHANCE

Account Of The Race When Carpenter Was Ruled Off The Track By A Lot Of Excited Officials—Much Bitterness Has Been Engendered.

LONDON, July 24.—The unfortunate series of disputes which has been seen since the opening of the Olympic games, not only between Americans and the officials of the Amateur Athletic Association but between the athletes of other nations and the officials, culminated in an occurrence which threatened to wreck the inter-Olympic meeting.

The trouble was over the final heat of the 400-meter race, for which J. C. Carpenter, Cornell University; J. B. Taylor, Irish-American A. C.; W. C. Robbins, Cambridge, Miss., and Lieutenant Wyndham Halsewell, United Kingdom, qualified. With the exception of Taylor the men got off quickly on the firing of the pistol and Robbins sprinted in front, taking the pole from Carpenter, who was just behind with Halsewell trailing along beside him. It looked like anybody's race as they approached the last turn, the three leaders being bunched. Their spurt for the final hundred yards was begun, when suddenly one of the officials rushed onto the track, the tape across the finish was torn down and the race was declared void.

It was hard for a time to understand what had occurred, but the official pronouncement was that Carpenter had fouled Halsewell at the turn. Everybody close to this spot had noticed that the three men had swerved toward the outside of the track as they came around the bend at a terrific pace, but there was no sign of a deliberate foul visible to those in the press stands.

An uproar followed such as seldom or never was witnessed on an athletic field. Officials of the Amateur Athletic Association, with whom the arena had been filled since the opening of the gates, ran along the edges of the track shouting "foul," and appeared even more excited than the runners, who, with the exception of Taylor, continued the race to the finish, Carpenter passing the post first, Robbins second, and Halsewell third. Taylor, who was a considerable distance in the rear, was dragged off the track by one of the excited officials, who shouted all the while that it was no race.

This and other signs of ill-feeling toward the Americans have not escaped the notice of Continental visitors, the French representatives who have been following the sports particularly condemning the way in which the Americans have been treated, and after the 300-meter race and the Holmes incident they, with others of their countrymen, took up the arguments in behalf of the Americans.

America, is not alone in her protestations against unfair treatment. Sweden has withdrawn all her men from the Graeco-Roman wrestling contest, on the ground that one of the Swedish representatives, Anderson, was unfairly deprived of a bout yesterday.

Whatever may be the facts in the unfortunate episode, both the English and Americans firmly believe that their men were absolutely right and the others wholly wrong, and the result is likely to be extremely damaging to Anglo-American athletics for years to come. The British public takes sport more seriously than any other nation and has the fullest confidence in the English officials' decisions in international events.

Moreover the Englishman concerned in this event, Lieutenant Halsewell, is a gentleman of the highest standing and an officer of a popular regiment, which counts for much with his countrymen, who are certain that he would not knowingly profit by an unfair ruling in his own favor, or accuse an opponent of foul unless sure of the facts.

It is an undeniable fact that the American athletes have not been popular in England since the famous Cornell rowing episode. The public mind has been changed with the belief that American amateurs are tainted with professionalism and this suspicion has been vastly increased by charges of the sort reproduced from American magazines. No one attending this Olympiad could fail to notice the disinclination of the public to applaud American victories, and the games officials apparently have thought the American competitors needed sharp watching. The Americans have been conscious of the atmosphere of suspicion surrounding them and have done their utmost to win victories so clearly that no one could grumble.

The American committee further announced tonight that, although Carpenter and Robbins would not get the Olympic medals, they would receive medals from the American committee and they would be credited with their win in America.

Committeeman McCabe said that the breaking of the tape was done under the influence of 30,000 people who filled the stands and who were influenced by the games, officials and newspapers.

"It is no surprise to me," he said, "in view of the statements in the morning papers that Halsewell had been pocketed at Athens and that today's race would be watched by the people. It is fair to assume, therefore, that the audience was ready to denounce an American victory in the 400-meter race and that the officials were influenced by this fact."

Carpenter, a bright and quiet young American, who does not look as though he could do the trick and who, his team-mates say, would be the last one to resort to fouling to win medals, thus described the race:

"As we approached the last bend, Robbins had the pole and was leading by a yard. I made my effort there and I certainly ran wide, as I have done every time I have been on the track. Halsewell had lots of room to pass me on either side. It is ridiculous to talk of a team 'boring' or pocketing as good a man as Halsewell is in a quarter-mile race. No team could do it. We had nothing of the kind in view; we just raced him off his feet and he could not stand the pace."

Ray Ewry, the American high jumper, who left the high-jumping contest to watch the men pass the turn and who immediately afterward made note of the tracks left by the running shoes, said:

At no time was there any flapping or confusion of the tracks. I thought Halsewell lost his head. He had the option of going either on the inside or on the outside of Carpenter, but apparently he could not make up his mind what to do."

All the men agreed that Trainer Michael Murphy called the runners together before the start of the race and in telling what a good man they had to beat and how careful they had to be, owing to statements in the papers that the Americans would try unfair play, cautioned them to be fair above all things and to run their hardest. They all say they were doing this and nothing more.

F. Leroy Holes, of Chicago, also had an unpleasant experience. He was giving a splendid exhibition in the standing high jump when, without any cause whatever, the spectators commenced to "boo." This got so bad that the referee had to call out that, if the disturbance did not stop, the jumping would be postponed. This threat served to bring quiet, after Holmes had been made very uncomfortable.

DELICIOUS BANANA CREAM

This recipe is highly recommended by one of our correspondents; try it for desert tomorrow.

Peel five bananas, rub smooth with five teaspoonfuls of sugar. Add one teacup sweet cream beaten to a stiff froth, then add one 10c. package of Lemon JELL-O dissolved in 1¹/₂ teacups boiling water. Pour into mold and when cold garnish with candied cherries. Serve with whipped cream, or any good pudding sauce. JELL-O is sold by all Grocers at 10c. per package.

Irritation of the throat and hoarseness are relieved immediately by two or three little swallows of Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure. Grip patients should make a note of this.

A cough cure than can be given to children without chance of harm is Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure. It does not contain poisons or harmful drugs. Druggists sell it.
