TERSE TALES OF THE TOWN

Mr. Pohl Appointed-

W. C. A. Pohl returned yesterday from Medford, where he had been in attendance upon the convention of Redmen. Mr. Pohl was re-appointed grand trustee.

Placed In Charge-

C. S. Dow, the fruit inspector, has been given charge of the country fair by the regatta committee. This exhibit will remain permanently in the basement of the court house.

Fire Near Cathlamet-

It was reported here yesterday that a forest fire was burning in the woods about six miles back of Cathlamet. According to the reports that reached here the blaze was around the Bradley logging camp, in the old slashings, but had not yet reached the green timber. Some of the camp machinery had been destroyed, it was

One Lone Drunk-

E. Larson got drunk. Chief Gammal saw him, and saw that he was that he was drunk, sure enough, but that he got drunk because he had Anderson replied to this argument by merely saying, "One dollar or two days,"

Wound Up Yesterday-

Mr. Houston, of the firm of Ferguson & Houston, who contracted and built the new barracks at Fort Stevens, returned from there yesterday afternoon, and reported that he had completely finished and turned over the structure to the government, and that the same had been accepted by the authorities, and his firm discharged in the premises. The new quarters will be alloted to the new company of troops due to arrive at Fort Stevens in the very near future.

LAND OWNERS ARE FREELY AND GENEROUSLY GIVING ELECTRIC LINE ROUTE.

The surveying crew engaged in layed Gearhart yesterday. F. L. Evans. in charge of the work, said last evenespeically in the viciniy of Gearhart everything is going smoothly. For a distance of seven or eight miles there the line will run almost as straight as a gun barrel, with a magnificent view appreciate to a marked degree the fact that the line is coming, and the surveyors say that in nearly every instance they are gladly welcomed and are given every assistance possible. Already, says Mr. Evans, he has been freely offered as a voluntary matter on the part of the landowners, fully ninety-five per cent of the rights of way that will be required for the electric line.

While it was expected that there would be little or not difficulty in securing the rights of way, nevertheless it was expected that it would naturally require some canvassing in the field to get them. Therefore the voluntary actions of the land owners as reported by Mr. Evans comes as excellent news. The 5 per cent that is still lacking does not mean that not come forward and offered them, though they may do this yet. To have every inch of the rights of way freely and voluntarily offered would
