SEES DANGERS ARISING FROM AUTOMOBILES

ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE TO CONTROL THE USE OF THE MACHINES.

BLAME WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Every Year Makes Laws More Necessary Because Machines Become More Complicated Every Season—May Bar High Powers From Street

CHICAGO Aug. 21.—First Assistant Corporation Counsel E. C. Wetten announced yesterday that alarmed by the increasing number of automobilists the next legislature would be asked to pass a law compelling classification of the various kinds of machines, the licensing of all drivers, and possibly barring from the city streets those cars whose high power makes speed far in excess of the city's regulations.

DECLARES BIG DIVIDEND.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—At their meeting at Oleum yesterday, the Union Oil Company directors took the final steps to increase the company's capitalization from $10,000,000 to $50,000,000. The action was authorized at a shareholders' meeting held earlier in the day. The regular September dividend was declared, payable September 20. The directors declared a dividend of $200 per share, payable out of the surplus earnings. The regular monthly dividend of 50 cents a share was also declared.

HOP PICKING NOW ON.

JUNCTION CITY, Or., Aug. 21.—The picking of early hops commenced in the yard of J. E. Lee yesterday, and Edward L. Ayers commenced picking in his yard today. Eighty cents per hundred will be paid for picking this year. The hops are free from hop lice and are of very fine quality.

GLASS IN HIS EYE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Theodore Norman, an engineer at Avon-by-the-Sea, fell down a flight of stairs at his home in Hemburg, Germany, 26 years ago and received a deep cut over the right eye that would never completely heal. Yesterday when blood started to trickle from the wound Norman pressed his handkerchief against it rather roughly. The handkerchief caught in something and when the engineer gave it a yank, he pulled from the wound a piece of glass about three-quarters of an inch in length. Then he remembered that he was carrying a glass bottle at the time he fell down the stairs.

AN AUTO TURNS TURTLE.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21.—Joseph Bobb, a chauffeur, was killed at midnight when a car which he was driving turned turtle after a tire had exploded. The automobile caught fire and was destroyed. The passengers included C. M. Keene, a real estate dealer, who sustained a fractured shoulder and other injuries; T. M. Ford, another real estate man; Mrs. Francis Wilson, and Miss Gladys Price, all of whom sustained slight injuries. The accident occurred on West Jefferson street while the machine, a 60 horsepower affair, was traveling at a high rate of speed.

Big Preparations Being Made For Their Reception.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt has accepted the chairmanship of the general committee of the Olympic reception committee and has contributed $500 to the fund. Mr. Vanderbilt's letter, which is dated Newport, R. I., indicates that he will take an active part in the reception. Contributions are coming in daily and it is expected that there will be enough money subscribed to cover all the expenses, including the medals. The total amount received and promised up to last night was $4000.

TILLAMOOK - ASTORIA RAILROAD

ment Hill officials in this city, left quietly this week for Tillamook from Seaside. He walked along the surveys made by Hill engineers down the coast from the present terminus of the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad at Seaside. That he took enough interest in the country to be opened up by the projected mileage to walk over the surveyed route indicates that things are brewing for the extension of the road south into Tillamook and the Oregon coast country.

ANIMALS AMBIDEXTROUS.

Why Man Gives Preference to Right Hand Over Left.

Right handedness and right eyedness came with genus homo. Dr. George M. Gould has watched for them in squirrels, cats that strike at insects in the air or play with wounded mice and many other animals, but he is certain no preference is given to the right side over the left.

HER PROTECTOR.

"Well, sir," explained young Mr. Sooberbs, "it was like this: I thought my wife might be afraid of tramps, so I bought her a watchdog. He was a fierce looking bull, and I reckoned he'd about fill the bill. I got him in the morning and had him sent right out to the house. When I got home that night one of the toughest looking hoboos you ever saw was sitting on the porch. 'What in thunder are you doing here?' I asked. 'Well, boss,' says he, 'I come lookin' fer a handout, an' de lady she gimme 50 cents to stick around an' protect her from dat dog o' yours. She's sure scared of 'im.'—Kansas City Newsbook.

THE UNPRODIGAL SON.

The president of a club of New York waiters said the other day of a parsimonious young man:

"He resembles a chap they tell about in Bucks county.

"This chap lived alone with his father. On the old man's death he would inherit the farm.

"Well, finally the old man took sick. His end drew near. The son sat up with him a night or two, expecting him to pass away, but he lingered on.

"On the fifth or sixth night the son, instead of sitting up, put a lamp, turned low, very, very low, on a table by the bed and went off to his own room with the caution:

"When you feel that it is all over with you, father, don't forget to blow out the lamp."—Washington Star.

A RARE SOUVENIR.

A curious souvenir is preserved in the Bank of England in the shape of a note for £1,000 with which Admiral Lord Cochrane paid his fine when he was falsely accused of spreading with an interested object a rumor that Bonaparte was dead in 1814 so as to cause a rise in the price of stocks. The sum mentioned was raised in subscriptions of a penny by his Westminster constituents. The note is indorsed with the name of the intrepid but ill used sailor and has inscribed on it a sentence in which he expresses the hope that one day he will prove his innocence and triumph over his accusers. That consummation was not effected until eighteen years later, when he was reinstated by William IV. —London Telegraph.

SUBMARINE NAVIGATION.

The idea of the submarine is certainly as much as 200 years old, but most of the earlier plans were flat failures. In 1774 an inventor named Day lost his life during an experimental descent in Plymouth sound. Bushnell of Connecticut in 1775 contrived a submarine vessel propelled by some kind of screw. Robert Fulton also in 1796 invented a box which when filled with combustibles might be propelled under water and made to explode under the bottom of a ship. It is hard to say who was the originator of the idea of the submarine boat unless it was Day. —New York American.

A HARD CASE.

"His wife earns her own money." "Indeed! I did not know she was employed."

"Oh, yes; hard at it all the time." "What does she do?"

"Works him to give up."—New York Journal.

WHAT'S THE USE?

"Ought we not to do something more for the preservation of our forests?" "Oh, what's the use?" answered Senator Sorghum impatiently. "Trees can't vote."—Washington Star.

MONKEYS HAVE SENSE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Professor Melvin E. Haggerty of Harvard University, who has been studying monkeys in the Bronx Zoo park for the past month, has proved to his own satisfaction that some of them at least, are not merely imitators of the human species, but have an initiative. In one of his tests he had a platform built extending about five feet outside the cage occupied by the orang outangs, Mickey and Minnie. On the extreme end of this he placed a bunch of bananas and some luscious peaches. Then he placed in the cage a long stick with a hook in the end and went away.

He had not been gone five minutes when Mickey looked at Minnie, winked and laughed. Minnie laughed and laughed too. Then Mickey got the hook, raked in the fruit and they had a delicious meal. Later Professor Haggerty tried the trick on Baldy, the chimpanzee, but he got the fruit within close range before the hook was ready and there was no need to go any further. Baldy also had an enjoyable time. The Professor has some other tricks in stock which, he believes, will demonstrate the theory beyond any doubt.
