Now first comers will have the broadest selection---and many of the choicest offerings will be snapped up tomorrow morning. It would be a very easy matter to close out, at the prices we are offering, the greatest portion of the staple end of this stock to the other furniture dealers in town, but realizing that this would leave on hand a large amount of the high grade furniture this firm has been carrying, we have concluded to place it on sale to the consumer direct. Come and enjoy the great money-saving opportunity and see to it that you take advantage of it. If you want to enjoy every advantage which early buying offers---don't delay---be among the first comers tomorrow morning.

BROKERS GO TO WALL

Brown, Lewis Ginler Young, Edward F. Buchanan, Samuel C. Brown and W. Rhea Whitman. Private wires were maintained to all the principal cities. John W. Rhodes, cashier of the firm, was named as assignee with D. W. Noel as counsel. When the failure was announced, a member of the firm stated its affairs were in a badly tangled condition as a result of Sturday's trading and it was thought best to make the assignment at once. It is understood that the brokerage firms who were awaiting the delivery of stock became impatient towards noon today, and sent word that they would allow but a few more hours of grace. All attempts to secure further delay was futile and suspension followed. Friends of the members of the firm tonight declare that the collapse was due entirely to the closing of the regular channels of business by the extraordinary Saturday trading. A thousand clerks, it is explained, could not properly enter and transfer the three quarters of a million shares handled by the firm on Saturday within the space of time allowed by the exchange rules for making the deliveries.
