

REGATTA AND RAIN DIVIDE HONORS

lent. The flower show is lamentably small and hardly should be taken as a fair indication of what Astoria can do in the way of flowers. Yet while the exhibits are small and apparently have not been as well developed as they might have been, nevertheless a visit to them will be found well worth while.

People who are not familiar with what may be grown on Oregon soils will be amazed at the size of some of the fruits and vegetables shown. The wild grasses, and the timothy and clovers, and also the grains, will also amaze the visitor by their quality and great heights.

There are turnips that look like enormous cabbages, so big are they, and cabbages that look like—well, one must see for himself. The visitor should not forget to ask Mr. C. S. Dow, in charge of the exhibits, to show him the specimens of bamboo that were grown in Clatsop county. Many are probably not aware of the fact that bamboo may be successfully grown here.

"I am fairly well satisfied with the farm exhibits," said Mr. Dow. "The season was late for both grains and vegetables, but the samples are pretty good. Yet despite the bad season one may see for himself just what may be grown in this county."

There is enough variety in the exhibits to add interest, and it is a pleasure to see some beautiful preserves, with the fruits as bright and beautiful, apparently, as when first "put down." And there is a loaf of bread so white and crisp that it is enough to make one's mouth water, and perhaps it should create a spirit of emulation in the breasts of other housewives who know they can make bread just as good. At all events there is assuredly nothing that adds more interest to an exhibit of this nature than the entries made by farmers' wives or other housewives.

Following is a list of the flower entries, believed to be a complete one.

By Dr. Finch—Roses and sweet peas; by Mrs. J. E. Ferguson—Dahlias and roses, the dahlias being especially fine; by Mrs. Sanders—carnations; by Mrs. C. J. Fulton—various entries, especially sweet peas, Mrs. Fulton's entries being numerous and excellent; by Mrs. B. H. Vidalin—passion flower; by Mrs. Hustler—some fine petunias; by Mrs. G. Ziegler—red sweet peas and roses; Miss Elizabeth Glaser, begonia.

Some nine apples and green-peaches were shown by H. A. Cameron, of Knappa. The apples were of fine quality; Mrs. John Erickson also showed some apples; E. S. Deane of Warrenton, shows some strawberries, and L. S. Lounsbury has a ne exhibit of berries and other things.

Agricultural exhibits are as follows: A. J. Gragg, Lewis and Clark, enormous cow horn turnip; Jacob Sture, Knappa, onions; L. E. Wilson, Lewis and Clark, great English turnips; Mr. Spicer, Lewis and Clark, cabbages, carrots and mangels; Frank Spittle, Astoria, some great cucumbers; Jas. Elliot, Warrenton, very fine looking potatoes, well worth while an inspection; J. B. Baumgartner, Olney, lettuce, carrots, turnips, string beans, all of ne quality; Poole Bros. Glenwood farm, squash; E. S. Deane, Warrenton, kohlrabi; H. A. Cameron, Knappa, potatoes and rutabagas; James Jamison, Jewel, cow horn turnips; and besides these there are fine exhibits of honies, cheeses, etc.

A cake, "aged 10 years," is an exhibit in the name of Fred N. Hurlbut. A loaf of bread is in the name of Mrs. F. N. Hurlbut.

Mrs. J. Jameson has an exhibit of butter, and the name of Lucy Hunter appears on some beautiful preserves.

In the exhibits of hays, grasses, both wild and cultivated, and other like exhibits, the following names appear:

Stephen Abrahamson, Elsie; Frank Busch, Jewell; David Tweedle, Vine Maple; C. C. Jones, Vesper; Cornelius Rierson, Elsie; Herman Ahlers, Nicanicum; Mrs. Knapp, Knappa; O. I. Peterson, Lewis and Clark; Mrs. Svenson, Svenson; Dr. B. Owens-Adair, Warrenton; Bagley Stock farm, Knappa; and by C. S. Dow.

BALLOON ASCENSIONS.

Members of the Regatta committee instituted enquiries yesterday in relation to the daily balloon ascensions and the daily tight-rope walking that have not been seen. According to the contract made with Arnold, the man to whom was given the right of having the various concessions on the city streets, there were to be daily balloon ascensions and also exhibits of tight rope walking. These were to be free to all. Yet the members of the Regatta committee had not even heard up to last evening why this part of the contract had not been lived up to. But an even more surprising thing happened yesterday. A request was made to the Regatta committee, by Mr. Arnold, that a ruling be passed that for the remainder of the Regatta an effort be made to stop the sale of confetti. It is said the Regatta committee gave Mr. Arnold a vote of thanks for this and took steps to instruct the police to prohibit the sale and use of the confetti. To this ruling various merchants at once raised an indignant protest, and they voiced their protest so vigorously that they made themselves heard all over the city. To them it appeared preposterous—so they averred—that an effort should be made to prevent them from selling an innocent product like the confetti, while the outsiders who have the street concessions are selling anything that they can get money for. The merchants who were "kicking" stated that they live here the year around and spend their money here, while the concessions are apparently going to take hundreds and even many thousands of dollars out of the city with them when they go. Besides, no one had the slightest authority to prohibit the sale of confetti, except as such matters may be prevented by the city ordinances, and while the city ordinances prevent the abuse of the use of such things, they do not prevent their sale or purchase.

MACBETH'S WILD WEST SHOW

Promptly at 8 o'clock tonight—"rain or shine"; don't forget it, rain or no rain—Macbeth's aggregation of Wild West funmakers will start on their parade through the city streets. It will not be possible to miss the Wild West show for all who are on the downtown streets, for the long parade will go everywhere. Promptly at 8 o'clock the red fire will begin to glow and the rockets to fly in the air. The Wild West aggregation will form on Exchange street, at Foard & Stokes' hall, and will then move to Twelfth street, thence to Bond, then to Sixth, and thence to Duane. From that point the parade will then march eastward taking in all the cross streets on the way, until Twelfth street is reached, and from there they will then march west on Commercial and back again. Thus every inch of the downtown streets will have been covered and if the parade doesn't cause a lot of side splitting fun it will be a wonder. Mr. Macbeth, who has the entire matter in charge, has put his whole heart into it and he has worked up something that is going to cause a lot of merriment and surprises. The Wild West is saved for the last and with it the Regatta will come to an end. While there is to be a lot of good natured fun during this feature, rowdiness of every kind will be strictly prohibited.

THE SAENGERFEST.

The Saengerfest, which promises to be a brilliant affair, will present its first concert tonight at 9:15 o'clock, in Logan Hall, and this should prove the crowning event of the Regatta week. This afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be a parade of the Scandinavian singers, and the order of the parade is as follows:

- TUG OF WAR.
- The international tug of war tournament opened last night under favorable auspices and all indications point to a great success. Long before the first pull was called Foard & Stokes' hall was crowded to the doors a large proportion of the spectators being ladies. The Finn band of 21 pieces discoursed some excellent music at the opening of the event and during the intervals between pulls. Shortly after 8 o'clock, the officials of the tournament, Judges Lebeck and Olof Anderson, Referee Chief Gammal and Timekeeper H. F. Prael marched to their stations on the platform while the band played a spirited air. The captains of the different teams were called forward and after being introduced by Judge Anderson they examined the paraphernalia and expressed themselves as being perfectly satisfied and the first contest was soon on. The Austrian and American team were the first to meet and evoked enthusiasm by their appearance. They were soon at it and it did not take long for the Austrians to show the results of their training and weight and the Americans the lack of the same requisite. The American team were much lighter than their opponents and have not had the opportunity to properly condition themselves and as a result the contest was short and sweet they being pulled over the cleats in one-half a minute.
- Great interest was manifested in the pull between Sweden and Finland. The Finland team won the championship last year the Swedes being third. Determined to do better this year the Sweden team was strengthened and the contest between these teams was looked upon as the "whole show." The partisans of both teams made themselves much in evidence as their favorites marched to the platform, by continued applause. When the word "go" was given both teams settled down to business and after a hard pull Sweden gained two inches on Finland and much as their opponents endeavored to overcome the lead no change showed on the indicator. For fourteen and one-half minutes the immense strain was kept up on the contestants without the Finns regaining their lost ground. At a signal from Capt. Stromberg the Swedes made a final effort and within one-half a minutes of the allotted time for the pull they pulled Finland over the cleats for three feet. Finland and America then pulled, after an interval of about 15 minutes and the Americans were again unsuccessful in about the same length of time as in their first contest.
- The results last night are as follows: Sweden wins once, Finland lost once and were successful once, while America lost twice.

NEW TO-DAY

All Things Modern.

"The Modern," the beautiful tonorial establishment of Arthur E. Petersen, at 572 Commercial street in this city, is unquestionably the real resort for the most perfect treatment in this behalf, and the most critical finds nothing to criticize there, howsoever often he visits the place.

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over 60 years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate glands. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rockport, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure, I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 91 years old." There is more health for the digestive organs in a bottle of Electric Bitters than in any other remedy I know of." Sold under guarantee at Charles Rogers & Son's drug store. 50c.
