Manager Belland, of the C. R. P. Association, just home on the St. Nicholas, gives out the following fleet news from Bristol Bay. The ship Berlin, of the Warren Packing Company, was due to leave out from there on Sunday, August 23rd, and will probably make this bar and port sometime next week. The bark C. B. Kenny, of the Northern Alaska Canning Co.; the bark Guy C. Gloss, of the Northwest Fisheries Co.; the ship Columbia, of the North Alaska Salmon Co.; and the ships Indiana, L. G. Morse, and Isaac Reid, and the barks Electra and L. Burgis, and the Star of India, of the Alaska Packers' Association, of San Francisco, were all loading when the St. Nicholas left out, and the first in her wake will be the Goss and the Reid. Every one of the ships will have a full cargo south. The steamer Nushagak is supposed to have departed for Karluk when she finished loading her ships. The steamer Kudiak was to have left the north on September 1st, bringing down all the cannery superintendents of the Alaska Packers' Association, direct for the Bay City, from Behring Sea. And when these vessels have sailed the great Alaskan bay will be utterly deserted.

The steamship Breakwater went to sea and Coos Bay yesterday noon. Captain Macgenn had some trouble with his firemen on the arrival of the ship here, as they all walked ashore with their dunnage because he denied them a hot meal when coming off watch, which has been the rule of the ship for some time. On his attempt to instal a lot of non-union firemen from this city, the cooks and stewards walked out, and only by conceding the original proposition, without any strings to it, were the old firemen induced to return to the ship, along with those in sympathy with them, and this was accomplished by outside influences. Mr. and Mrs. Nate Tallant were passengers for the Coos country, whither they go to try out some fisheries and canning properties the Tallant-Grant people have recently purchased from Elijah Smith. They will be down there for the next two months at least.

When the pilots had the bow-sprit of the Pulitzer unstepped yesterday morning and it was lying along the dock, it was found that someone who had a hand in building her back in New York 14 or 15 years ago, had nailed a horse-shoe to the heel of her sprit, an old, and worn, horse-shoe, a ure preservative of her good luck, and it was at once declared their purpose to nail it fast to the heel of the new spar before it was served; and this was done; hence, the life, prosperity, and fame, of the beautiful bar schooner, will never in anywise diminish by reason of misfortune; she must rot out and wear away. She will probably be ready to go out to her station tomorrow.

The U. S. Engineer steamer Arago, Captain Buchanan, will be engaged for some days in barging down about 500 extra piles from Stella, for use in the maintenance of the jetty, but not for extending it, as that limit has been reached and the sea-end has safely withstood the onslaughts of a winter's seas.

Captain and Mrs. Antonson, of the good ship St. Nicholas, are glad to be back among their numberless friends in Astoria. The captain reports the voyage, which was as a matter of fact, a honeymoon trip, was thoroughly enjoyed, and both return to Astoria in superb health and delighted with the novel experiences in the far north.

Louis Hansen, one of the employes of the C. R. P. A. in Nushagak and who arrived home on the St. Nicholas, was taken to St. Mary's hospital yesterday morning, suffering from asthma; the sea air having brought on an aggravated degree of his malady, which, it is hoped, will quickly subside in the land and home airs.

The steamship Geo. W. Fenwick, of the Hammond fleet, arrived in from the California coast yesterday morning and went direct to the Hammond Lumber Company's docks at Tongue Point, where she will load out for the return voyage.

The steamer Charles R. Spencer continues to do her daily stunt between Astoria and Portland. Yesterday afternoon Miss Badollet, of this city, took the Spencer accompanied by several young kinspeople for a further stay at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. G. Howell, there.

The French bark Eugenie Fantrelle arrived down from Portland early yesterday morning on the hawsers of the Harvest Queen. The Fantrelle is wheat-laden for Europe. The Queen went back with the French ship Vincennes, while the Oklahoma took the Vigo up stream.

The barkentine Puako, 31 days out from Santa Rosalie, Mexico, crossed in yesterday noon, after a voyage that beat Captain Mitchell and the Irene from San Diego, by just one day.

TEA
U S imports but little more in 1904 than in 1864.
So much poor tea.
Your grocer returns your money if you don't like Schilling's Best; we pay him.

The Puako will load lumber out of Portland.

The North German Lloyd steamship Herzogin Cecile, training ship for the apprentices of the great line, is due in this port shortly, as her mail is beginning to gather at the British vice-consulate here.

The steamer J. Marhofer is taking on 20,000 feet of lumber at the Astoria Box Factory and will depart today for Portland, to get "all that's coming to her."

The punctual and reliable Lurline was at her dock last evening on time, with good business, which had not deserted her when she started up the river at 7 o'clock.

The steamer R. D. Inman arrived down last evening from Portland and will finish her load at the McGregor mills, sailing today for San Francisco.

Captain Johnston, of the McCabe Stevedoring Co., will put a gang of men on the St. Nicholas today and broach her big cargo of salmon.

The steamer St. Helens is taking on 20,000 feet of lumber at Rainier, and goes from there to Portland for the balance of her cargo.

The British steamship Cambrian King, direct from Comox, B. C., entered this port yesterday morning and went on to the metropolis.

The British steamship Braemont, wheat laden for Europe, went to sea early yesterday morning.

The steamer Harold Dollar is loading lumber at Prescott, at present.

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Leleh Gilbaug, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gilbaug, will leave this morning for a visit to their old homes near Baker City. She will probably be gone about six weeks.

"Bob" McLean and Miss Fossett have returned from Gearhart, where they were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Holt for a few days.

Mrs. C. Schoenbaeher from Mount Angel and Mrs. J. F. Kinsley and three children, of Portland, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Llewelyn.

W. O. Nisley and family are at Ocean Park for the season. Mr. Nisley came over to Astoria yesterday on matters of business.

The wedding cards of Mr. Nicholas J. Haas and Miss Emily A. Rodney of Salem, have been received here by the friends of the young people, and there are those in Astoria who are warmly wishing Mr. and Mrs. Haas long life and prosperity. They will be at home after the 16th inst., at No. 191 South Church street in the Capital City.

Mr. Richards, brother-in-law of George L. Colwell, was in the city yesterday. He is a Chicago lawyer and has been in attendance upon the lawyers' convention at Seattle.

Heirs of J. W. Bitterling, deceased, to J. H. Howell, east half of SW. 1-4 S. 24, T. 7 N., R. 10 W.; $700.

Cut Prices Make Business.

Yesterday was another very busy day with the Eilers Piano House at 422-424 Commercial street. Shrewd buyers are finding extremely satisfactory bargains at this great demonstration sale of pianos.

It is no wonder that these fine instruments are moving so rapidly, for never before, and we doubt if ever again, will such a supremely high-grade stock of pianos be ever sold in this vicinity at such extremely low prices, and extraordinary easy terms. A mere pittance of 20 cents a day will place a fine piano in your home, and at the same time a buyer can now save from $156 to $248, a sufficient amount to pay the cost of instruction in music of the whole family.

Came Through Scatheless—

Dr. Thomas Ross, of Tillamook City (but primarily, and finally, of this city), has emerged from the recent case at law, forced upon him by a bumptious patient down that way, entirely scatheless, and with his professional name and ability justified and proven beyond all controversy. His bill has been paid, also his court costs, the plaintiff contributing the requisite sums in this relation. Dr. Ross was alleged to have improperly set the broken arm of one J. E. Stevens, which charge went to the ground under an ex-ray analysis made at Portland during the course of the trial there, by the testimony of an eminent physician, the friend and partner of Dr. Geisy, and the suit was at once withdrawn on the ascertainment made by the delicate and incorruptible machine used in the expert demonstration. While the charge is nearly two years old, the practice of Dr. Ross all over Tillamook has swept on and up since it was brought against him, and this, in conjunction with the developments in the trial, have contributed much to his happiness and success. He went to the man's relief when no other physician could be found to serve in the case, and in the middle of a wild winter storm; the refusal of the patient to pay the bill, and the subsequent dishonorable reflections cast upon the doctor, being matters of pure greed and spite. All of which is appreciable news among the many friends of the young physician in this city and county.

Coming to the Astoria Theatre.

In this era of foolish and nonsensical musical plays, it is a pleasure to observe that occasionally there comes an attraction of genuine musical and dramatic merit under the heading "Musical Comedy" or "Comic Opera." While "Little Dollie Dimples" has show girls, pony ballet, chappie chorus and all that sort of thing, still the play is founded on a good, strong, well-laid plot and a pure wholesome story that is strong dramatically and musically. Miss Cameron's part gives ample opportunity for the display of the versatile talents of this dainty little comedienne and the music she interprets was written with regard to displaying her remarkable high tones and to the dramatic quality also of this distinguished little artiste.

Many will remember Miss Cameron's clever work in the famous roles she had created including the Bostonians' "Maid Marian" in "Robin Hood," Yvonna in "The Serenade," Daphne in "Foxy Quiller," Marion Northington in "The Tenderfoot," Cordelia Allen in "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," Estelle in "The Telephone Girl," the Maid in "The French Maid," Julie Bonbon in "The Girl From Paris," etc., etc., and her many admirers will be pleased to learn that in her new play, "Dollie Dimples," Mr. C. H. Kerr has fitted her peculiar talents more correctly than in any of her previous successes. The play "Dollie Dimples" was fashioned after the character and song with which Miss Cameron set Broadway humming when she played the long engagement at the Casino Theatre in New York as Little Dollie Dimples in "Piff Paff Pouff."

The supporting company in "Dollie Dimples" is a most notable one and the production is elaborate in every detail, with proper scenic, electrical and mechanical equipment.

Dies At Oak Point—

Miss Marie Mathiasen died at her home at Oak Point, up the river, yesterday morning and the funeral will be held today, the funeral arrangements being in charge of W. A. Gilbaug. Interment will be at Oak Point.
