

The Daily Market Report

PORTLAND, Sept. 19.—The prospect is for a general advance in butter prices early next week, though as yet no predictions to that effect have been made in the city creamery trade. One firm today raised the price of its best grade product to 34 cents per pound, and the management believes there will be no difficulty in maintaining the price.

The other city creameries report the market very firm, and the sentiment seems to be general that an advance about this time is to be expected. The supply of cream has for some time been on the decline, until now the butter-makers of the State are producing but little in excess of actual home requirements. With the surplus so small as to hardly be considerable, Oregon is now in a manner independent of outside markets—to the extent, at least, of needing no outlet for a surplus.

The local market is of course to some extent subject to the influence of the eastern market, but conditions in the east are now such that it is believed no great quantities of eastern butter would be unloaded here with local products selling even at slightly higher prices than now prevail. Such butter as now comes from the east is a storage product, and local makers hold that the preference of home consumers for the fresh article would make it impossible for imported goods to materially weaken the trade in Oregon butter.

Truth and Quality

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

FINDS HER CONSOLATION.

New York Widow Retires From The World of Wealth and Fashion.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—An event which was common in mediaeval times but is rare in these days has just taken place at the Dominican Monastery of Corpus Christi in Hunters Point, L. I., a New York woman of birth having taken vows which will make her an inmate of the building for the rest of her life.

Mrs. Geo. Merriam Hyde, daughter of the late O. P. Bel, is the woman who now by a promise to the Mother Prioress of the Monastery involving the vows of poverty, chastity and obedience becomes Sister Mary of the Tabernacle in the convent of the Perpetual Adoration. A year ago in such finery as a bride wears she crossed the gravelled path from the monastery door to that of the church, followed by her matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas F. Ryan, the capitalists wife, clothed in black. That was Mrs. Hyde's last appearance outside the monastery, for she pronounced her vows after months of ascetical probation on that occasion and returned to adopt a religious garb for life.

After impressive services participated in by several priests and by fellow sisters, Mrs. Hyde was inducted by the mother prioress with the black veil.

Mrs. Hyde, or Violet Buel, was a convert to Catholicism as well as her entire family. Through her mother's family, the McDougalls, she has many affiliations with the army.

Oliver Price Buel, her father, was senior partner in the firm of Buel, Tonori and Whiting, counsel to the U. S. Life Insurance Company.

Her brother, David Hillhouse Buel, is now president of Georgetown University. On January 11, 1898, Miss Buel was married to George Merriam Hyde, a literary man, son of Dr. Jas. T. Hyde of the Chicago Theological Seminary. Miss Buel was a sunny girl, fond of social life. She had a talent for painting and her canvases were accepted by the Academy and the Society of American Artists. Mr. Buel was taken suddenly ill and suffered greatly. This and his death greatly affected Mrs. Hyde. One day he disappeared. After three months' search his body was found in the Hudson River near Weehauken, N. J.

DIPHTHERIA EPIDEMIC

Sickness in Pennsylvania Town Is Traced to Bad Sewers

GREENSBORO, Pa., Sept. 19.—That the drouth is responsible for diphtheria, now near the epidemic form here, is the opinion of board of health members. A portion of the Seventh street school building was closed yesterday, nine cases having been reported among the pupils. The patients are members of four families, and yesterday a little girl from one of the families escaped from home and went to school. Pupils in that room were dismissed at once and in others later.

The drouth has made the flushing of sewers impossible in the ward, and President Clements, of the health board, states the diphtheria cases are directly due to this. The children had been playing over a stagnant sewer, it is said.
