Woman Interrupts Political Speaker
A well dressed woman interrupted a political speaker recently by continually coughing. If she had taken Foley's Honey and Tar it would have cured her cough quickly and expelled the cold from her system. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar contains no opiates and is in a yellow package. Refuse substitutes. T. F. Laurin, Owl Drug Store.

More Than Enough Is Too Much.
To maintain health, a mature man or woman needs just enough food to repair the waste and supply energy and body heat. The habitual consumption of more food than is necessary for these purposes is the prime cause of stomach troubles, rheumatism and disorders of the kidneys. If troubled with indigestion, revise your diet, let reason and not appetite control and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and you will soon be all right again. For sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

The life of every man is a seamless garment—its wool his thoughts, its warp his deeds. When for him the roaring loom of time stops and the thread is broken, foolish people sometimes point to certain spots in the robe and say: "O why did he not leave that out!" not knowing that every action of man is a sequence from off fate's spindle.

Fifty Years a Blacksmith.
Samuel R. Worley of Hixburg, Va., has been shoeing horses for more than 50 years. He says: "Chamberlain's Pain Balm has given me great relief from lame back and rheumatism. It is the best liniment I ever used." For sale by Frank Hart and leading druggists.

Nature punishes most sins, but blasphemy, sacrilege and heresy are things that nature does not provide any punishments for; therefore man has to look after these things himself.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE
Will cure any case of Kidney or Bladder Disease not beyond the reach of medicine. No medicine can do more.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—With its final week of actual campaigning ahead, all Gotham is today straining with suspense over the outcome of the most energetic state and national fight that has been waged here in years. While previous political battles for the presidency have roused the metropolis fully as strongly as strongly as the one just coming to a tumultuous close, it has been seldom that the whole people here have been stirred as deeply over a change in the administration of the state. That every ounce of the preponderant democratic strength below the Bronx is to-day ready to be swung for Chanler at the polls seems now assured, while the leaders of the republican minority declare that strong support for Hughes will not be lacking even in this stronghold of democracy. With small fortunes being booked at odds of 10 to 7 on the democratic candidate and the head of the republican national ticket backed at even greater odds, the whole town is agog over the result as it has never been in recent history.

OPERA OPENING.
With hundreds of imported chorists folk rehearsing for a nightly round of performances at two huge opera houses, and divas and maestros arriving on every incoming ocean liner, the little island of Manhattan has today begun to tingle with the approach of the swell season of song. Signor Gatti-Casazza, whose beard sounds not unlike his name, is rivaling with Signor Campanini in hourly promising operatic sensations at which each is to preside. Already the ly niches in the box tiers of the houses are bespoken and many a plush pad engaged by crowds of waiting applicants who seemingly find no money barrier between them and the fashionable diversion. These days of opera opening serve as only one of many signs that the old plenty of the prodigal pleasure crowd is to be flaunted abroad here this winter as of old.

DANGEROUS DOCKS.
The lesson of Newburgh and loss of life and property in the burning of the familiar Hudson liner "New York" is being impressed today upon this city, where similar catastrophes are ever staring the public in the face. No one has forgotten the hideous night when all the waterside was lit with the blazing boats of the German ocean fleet, ignited from just such a wharf fire on the Hoboken shore. Human beings by the score as well as many a precious ocean greyhound were the torches of this baleful illumination as they drifted about the island, helpless and hopeless. Since this awful night the last half a dozen years have seen steel piers and sleepless watch established at many points on the shipping stretch. Ample tinder for just such a blaze as horrified the upper river, however, still lies about here, only too defenseless before the slightest spark.

SINGULAR SEASONS.
That even the trees are confounding the topsy-turvy seasons on Manhattan Island is evidenced by two benighted buckeye trees whose unfurling of spring shoots is the talk of Battery Park today. Ever since the languor of late spring has hung over this city, in place of the chill that all October has always fastened in the air, New Yorkers have begun to wonder if Father Time had not really reversed the blade of his sythe of seasons. Since these Battery buckeyes went to sleep for the winter at the first untimely chill of late August only to emerge in vivid green to-day, everyone has begun to believe the seasons sadly out of joint.

CAMPAIGN COMEDY.
Threatening to invade the polls in this city to vote, as they have done to register, the rampant lady suffragettes have to-day taken steps to vindicate woman's right to the ballot in the courts. As a result of these threats and scores of determined invasions which have been made upon the registration places all over town, a badly rattled set of election officers are preparing to stand their ground against future onslaughts of the fair who rumble up in automobiles to vote or die. It is some years since this particular mania has attracted so much attention in the metropolis and the diversion it affords is welcomed by everyone except the besuagled male officials.
