

Mlle. WESTERLIND AND HER FINE PROGRAM

ASSISTED BY MISS BATCHELOR, A BRILLIANT PORTLANDER, SINGS TONIGHT.

Mlle. Sigrid Westerlind, the noted vocalist, has arrived in the city. This evening her grand concert will be given at the Astoria theatre under the auspices of the Norwegian Singing Society, when she will be assisted by Miss Frances Bachelor, of Portland, a brilliant pianiste, and it is expected that the entertainment will be among the notable events of the present winter.

Miss Bachelor is a native of Portland, Oregon, but 17 years of age, which makes her achievements all the more remarkable, and seems destined, as she becomes better known, to rank among the few really great women pianists of the world. She is a home-trained musician, whose past and future achievements may prove a European course utterly non-essential.

Mlle. Westerlind will sing through a program of 10 beautiful numbers as outlined below, and this in itself indicates the very high quality of the performance:

- Emblem of Freedom.....Larsen
- The Singing Society.
- Aria from Tannhauser (German)..... (Dich Theure Halle).....Wagner
- Morgonsang ur Hoga visan.....
-Melartin
- Ro ro Ogonsten (Lullaby).....Sjogren
- Segedille from Carmen (French).....
-Biset
- The Rosary.....Nevin
- A Memory.....Goring Thomas
- My Hearting is Singing.....Saus Souci
- My Old Kentucky Home.....Smith
- The Singing Society.
- Aria from Figaro's Wedding (in Swedish).....Mosart
- Fra Monte Pincio.....Grieg
- Ved en ung Hustras Baare (At the Bier of a Young Wife).....Grieg
- Minor Ballade.....Chopin
- Miss Frances Bachelor
- Sunnuntaina.....Jernefelt
- Sweetheart Thy Lips Are Touched With Flame.....Chadwick
- The Cuckoo.....Lehmann
- Den Store Hvide Flok.....Grieg
- Mlle. Westerlind and Singing Society

CONSTABLE FAILED TO MAKE SERVICE

GOODS WERE NOT ATTACHED AND NOW A. JALOFF BRINGS SUIT FOR $57

Suit was filed in the circuit court yesterday by A. Jaloff vs. Jack Sayer, Constable, alleging that the officer had "failed and neglected" to make a certain attachment on goods belonging to Mr. and Mrs. H. Mankowitz, who were leaving town with their possessions. The plaintiff, Mr. Jaloff, asks for $57.25 damages, and suit is brought through Attorney C. J. Curtis. John Fuhrman and N. W. Nyman, who are sureties on the Constable's bond, are also made defendants in the action.

While the amount involved is trivial, the story back of the matter is not uninteresting. It seemed that Mankowitz, who has worked for Carl Franseen and other tailors about the city, was alleged to owe Mr. Jaloff the sum of $42.25, and several days ago Mankowitz returned to San Francisco without having paid any of the alleged debt. Thursday night his wife was also about to follow him by boat, and their household goods were at the Callender wharf in readiness for the boat. Thereupon Attorney Curtis filed complaint in justice court and summons was duly issued thereupon, and in addition an affidavit and undertaking in the usual form were also made out for an attachment upon the goods upon the wharf.

Constable Sayer, knowing what was coming, apparently went and looked the goods over. He says he valued them at about $175. Later the writ of attachment was placed in his hands for service, whereupon the Constable refused to act further in the matter unless an indemnifying bond was given to save him scathless in case the attachment was wrongful or unjustifiable.

But the indemnifying bond was soon forthcoming. Attorney Curtis offered one in the sum of $250, signed by Mr. Jaloff and with I. Bergman as surety. This the Constable refused. Then the plaintiff also offered his personal check upon a bank for the same sum, but the Constable apparently didn't want the check. He demanded $250 in cash, and refused to budge unless he got it in cash. The cash was not forthcoming, the attachment was not made. The boat came along, the goods were piled on board and the vessel and goods went down the river and over the bar.

Constable Sayer says he refused to make the attachment for the reason that the property was all exempt, and that Attorney Eaken, acting for Mrs. Mankowitz, threatened him with suit if he did make the attachment. Thus the Constable was between two fires, and he says he wanted to play safe with the indemnifying cash in his hands. That is the Constable's side.

The other side simply states that the Constable got scared or huffy and refused to do his plain duty.

New Little Oregonians—

Three little Oregonianettes made their happy debut into this world hereabout yesterday, each and all of the gentler persuasion, and adorning the homes of the following well known citizens, to-wit: To Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quigley of Quincy; Mr. and Mrs. Leni Knapp of Knappa; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rinnell of 129 West Bond street, in this city. All concerned are doing finely.

License Moneys—

Thomas Dealey, the city treasurer, yesterday received from the chief of police, the sum of $781, representing the license moneys collected for the last quarter. All of the licenses have not yet been collected, however.

ASTORIAN WILL HAVE ELECTION RETURNS

WILL BE BULLETINED BY MEANS OF A STEREOPTICON MACHINE SO ALL MAY READ.

The Morning Astorian has made arrangements with the Associated Press to receive a full report of the national election next Tuesday, and doubtless this will be hailed as good news by many.

It is probable that fairly definite knowledge of the outcome should be had before midnight, and perhaps it may be possible to accurately forecast the outcome long before that. The chief interest will probably lie in a comparatively few states—New York, Indiana, Ohio and perhaps one or two more. The bulletins will come flying in thick and fast. The methods that the great newspapers of the big cities have of sifting and tabulating the returns as they come in are really wonderful, and with them of course goes all the aid that the state and national committees can give. Hardly will the polls be closed before accurate forecasts will begin to come.

The Astorian will announce the bulletins as soon as they come over the wires.

As the bulletins come in they will be bulletined in front of this office by means of a stereopticon machine.

MARINE NEWS

The Oregon Patrol, of the State Department of Fisheries, will soon be in commission again, after a series of repairs and changes, among the latter of which is that will have six feet more housing. Water Bailiff Mack has charge of the work and it has been well done.

Charles H. Callender, expects the hull of the company's new steamer, now being finished at Prosper, on the Coquille, to be launched about the 20th of November, when it will be brought here and charged with engines and general equipment.

The British ship Brablock, Captain Baxter, well known in this port where she laid idle all one season lately, is on her way back to the mouth of the Columbia, cement laden from Antwerp. She will come as an old friend and baymark, and her master will find plenty of people to welcome him.

The State of California will depart from the O. R. & N. piers very early this morning. She takes from this port the following named people: Miss Holda Anderson, A. Peterson, Mrs. F. Mankowitz, Mrs. M. Glexman, and J. C. Jenkins.

The steamship Geo. W. Elder arrived down yesterday morning early and went to sea and the California coast with a big lot of people on board and all the freight she could carry.

The flagship Lurline did not get down until 9:30 last night, and when she went back took all the stuff she could handle and a number of passengers, among whom was W. Grimes.

The French bark Vincennes is on her way down the river wheat laden for the United Kingdom, for orders, and will leave out on the first tow-line the Wallula can give her.

The Elmore motor schooners Evie and Gerald C., are due to leave out this morning for Tillamook Bay points, and both are carrying all they can stand for.

The disabled steamer M. F. Plant has arrived in San Francisco, on the tow lines of the tug Columbia, and will go on the drydock at once.

The steamer Sue H. Elmore went over the bar at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, with all the cargo she could carry and a long passenger list.

The Norwegian ship Dahgill is the next vessel due down from the metropolis, and carries wheat for Falmouth for orders.

The steamer Northland was among the get-aways from this port yesterday, being headed for the Bay City.

The Hassalo-Hercules collision is to be duly investigated by the federal inspectors of hulls and boilers at an early date.

MISSING MAN IS VERY MUCH ALIVE

H. LINDQUIST, THE PAINTER, WHO DISAPPEARED, IS IN ST. LOUIS.

The mystery of the disappearance of H. Lindquist, the painter who suddenly dropped out of sight several weeks ago, was cleared up Thursday night by the receipt of a letter from him. The missive was addressed to John Toikka, of Uniontown, a friend of the missing man.

Lindquist stated that he is in St. Louis, and that he likes it there and may make up his mind to settle there permanently.

Police Officer Wilson had been specially detailed on the case when it became rumored that perhaps Lindquist had met with foul play, and the officer made a thorough investigation of the matter. Officer Wilson arrived at the conclusion that Lindquist had simply skipped out, leaving behind him a number of debts, and rumors, evidently carefully prepared before his sudden flitting—to the effect that he had met with foul play. What determined the police officer in his conclusion was the fact that the missing man's relatives showed small concern over his absence.

Nevertheless the matter is still somewhat in mystery. Lindquist left debts, true enough, but as far as is known they were not so very large nor very pressing, and it is even said that he had contracts for painting that would have virtually covered every cent he owed. It is further said that he did not even collect certain outstanding accounts before he left. One theory is that the young man was unused to business affairs and when his accounts became somewhat involved that he simply lost his head and took French leave. He has quite a number of friends and doubtless they will be relieved to learn that he is still in the land of the living.

By an old coincidence a representative of the firm of Nason & Company, of Portland, the big paint company, came to Astoria Thursday to look into the matter and he made a pretty thorough investigation. This agent found Lindquist's affairs in such comparatively good order that he made up his mind that the rumors of foul play were probably correct. There is also some probability that Lindquist's mind is slightly affected. He apparently suffered under the hallucination that someone wished to kill him. He started a story that once he had to jump into the river to save his life.

Dies At Maygers

Mrs. Anna Hendrickson, of Maygers, died on Thursday, aged 50 years. She was the wife of John Hendrickson, and the mother of Selma, Hilda, Anna, Henry and Mirjam. Mrs. Hendrickson was born in Finland, November 1, 1858. She came to the United States in 1881 and was married to John Hendrickson, January 10, 1886, at Pendleton, Or. Mr. and Mrs. Hendrickson came to Columbia county in 1889, settling in Quincy, residing there until two years ago. Mrs. Hendrickson was a member of the Lutheran Apostolic Church.

Hallowe'en Party a Success—

There was some very genuine fun at the Hallowe'en Social, or "Poverty" Social, given at the First Presbyterian Church last night. It was largely attended and the devices used to entertain were original, attractive and entirely successful. The young people made the most of the occasion and enjoyed every detail to the limit.

Biggest of the Year—

When the steamer Nahcotta docked at the O. R. & N. pier yesterday afternoon, she discharged the biggest oyster shipment, from Shoalwater Bay, recorded for the current year. It consisted of 660 boxes and sacks of fine bivalves, and was consigned to San Francisco, and will go out on the State of California this morning.

Lost His Watch—

D. H. Welch lost his watch yesterday, but he hardly knows just when or where the loss occurred. He carried it loose in his pocket, and only noticed its absence when he wished to see what time it was. The watch was a valuable one, gold filled, American make, and Mr. Welch will pay the finder a liberal reward for its return.

NAME MEANS SOMETHING.

When A. E. Petersen built and named the "Modern" barber shop, he meant that it should stand for what it was called. No patron has missed a single feature of the modern tonorial parlor at that house; and every new device in the way of perfect comfort and service is constantly added as it develops. The latest is an expert bootblack, the best in the business; a qualification that makes his employment really modern.
