OCEAN, BAR, BAY, DOCK AND RIVER

The cadet ship Hera Sophie Charlotte, now in port awaiting orders and expecting them today, will in all probability, go hence to the Australia. Yesterday the starboard watch came ashore and spent the afternoon. There were 35 of them on leave, and a fine, husky lot they are; well built, straight, lithe, clear-eyed, and healthy and hearty; quiet, dignified, gentlemanly under all circumstances, and a credit to their nation and service. Today the port watch will be on shore, and the ship is likely to sail early tomorrow morning. Her presence here has been a matter of pleasure to Astorians, who will always hail the news of her arrival or that of any of her fleet consorts, with interest and pleasure. All hands here will wish the officers and crew "bon voyage."

The new steamer Umatilla, under construction for the government at Celilo, is nearly completed and will be in shape to turn over to the United States Engineers within a week. The vessel has been given a trial trip and has met all requirements. Asbestos is being placed on the steam pipes and boilers, and she will then be turned over to the Federal officers. She was built for river improvement work on the upper Columbia and the Snake rivers.

Word was received at the office of Agent G. W. Roberts, of the O. R. & N. Co. here, yesterday, that the steamship Senator, well known in these waters, will relieve the State of California on this voyage to the Bay City and will be up here on the S. F. & P. run one week from Monday next. The State will sail very early this morning for the California metropolis.

The steamship Nebraskan came down the river yesterday morning and went to sea and Puget Sound, where she will finish loading for the Nicaraguan Isthmus, at Salinas Cruz.

The steamer Lurline made it from Portland in good season last evening and left up at 7 with the following people on board: E. P. Millman, J. C. McDonald and G. R. Strom.

The fine German steamship Arabia, of the Portland-Asiatic line, entered port yesterday morning, from Hong Kong, via San Francisco, flying rather light as to cargo. On her way up stream she saluted the Hera.

AN EASY WAY TO OUST THE STUMPAGE

INTERESTING STATEMENT OF RECENT SUCCESSFUL ENDEAVORS IN THIS LINE

In conversation with a well known Astorian yesterday he said, speaking of the trouble and cost of clearing stump land:

"In the Sound cities Mr. J. J. Hill stated, and repeated, that the future resource to be depended upon for their prosperity was the clearing and cultivation of the logged-off lands. The same condition exists about Astoria.

"The difficulty and expense in clearing such land is not as great perhaps as has been supposed. One of our townsmen recently took a Sabbath day's outing on his ranch, and, for amusement, took a few dynamite sticks with him. He thrust a crowbar under some large stumps inserted a dynamite stick, lighted the fuse and was surprised to see the stump jump fully out of the ground and split open. He started a fire in the rift and by night the stump was nearly consumed. As the dynamite costs but a few cents, he intends to spend his odd moments now punching holes under the stumps with his cane and thrusting in sticks of dynamite just for the fun of seeing the stumps jump into the air.

"There is much fine bottom land on the Necanicum, that is ready for this kind of fun. A townsman who owns about 200 acres there proposes to throw out the stumps the same way, and what can not be burned without piling he will draw together with a donkey engine. As it injures the soil to burn it, the more the stumps to be burned, are congregated, the better."

DISTRIBUTED $75,000 HERE YESTERDAY

COLUMBIA RIVER PACKERS' ASSN. DECLARES SEMI-ANNUAL DIVIDEND.

Among the innumerable items of the commercial world of Astoria, noted, and unnoted, yesterday, there is one that speaks very plainly, and directly, to the city's interest, as such things are figured in this day and age, to wit: There was declared, and distributed, a semi-annual dividend of $75,000 and upward, to the stockholders of the Columbia River Packers' Association and its allied concerns.

This is the company built up and maintained by Samuel Elmore, and rated in the commercial and industrial centers as one of the best managed concerns in the Northwest; and certainly it so stands in the city that it is about to choose Mr. Elmore for its chief executive a few weeks hence.

AMUSEMENTS

THE VITALITY OF GENIUS
Few, if any, of the religious plays have had a life of more than two or three seasons. The fact that Clarence Bennett's "The Holy City," after three years of growing success, is, today, a stronger attraction than ever, and that its return dates are greeted everywhere, with crowded houses, proves that it has in it something of real and powerful dramatic worth, outside of its religious interest. It is not mere curiosity to see a play out of the ordinary, a sort of dramatic innovation, that causes the great public to go to see it again and again, and that makes each one who has seen it, an enthusiastic advertiser for it. The reason for this is, that, outside of the fact that it narrates the most dramatic and thrilling incidents in the history of the world, a story that is inwoven with the very fibers of our faith and our hopes for time and eternity, it tells that story with such an earnest, devout and reverential spirit that it disarms the criticism of the most religious and, at the same time, develops that grandly tragic theme in such a powerful and dramatic way, giving such splendid opportunities for superb acting, telling so vividly the love of a beautiful, passionate, willful woman's love, hate, revenge, remorse and triumph, presenting it all with such lifelike surroundings of beautiful Oriental scenery, gorgeous costumes and splendid stage settings and dramatic climaxes and wonderful stage situations, that, aside from its religious interest, it stands alone upon its dramatic merits as one of the greatest, strongest, most thrilling and interesting dramas of modern times; the beauty of its language, scintillating with gems of eloquence and poetic expression, its wonderful portrayal of character and expression, running the entire scale of human emotion from laughter to tears, from mirth to horror, from hope to despair, from love to hate, from joy to death! These all appeal directly to the heart and make us forget that it is only a play! To us, for the time being, it becomes a living reality. It is as real and as correct and powerful as the Passion Play, with a large and powerful cast of excellent actors, most gorgeous costumes, elaborate and beautiful scenery and surroundings. It is a real play and the greatest one on the stage. It will be seen at the Astoria theatre next Monday.
