as it illustrates quite well the aims and scope of the Child Labor Commission, though it is hardly probably that there are any bad violations of the law in this city:

"Portland, Or., Nov. 16, 1908.
"Mr. John Sayer, Constable, Astoria, Or.

"Dear Sir:—In order to more fully carry out the provisions of the Child Labor law of this state, the Child Labor Commission asks your cooperation. We have placed the issuing of certificates in the hands of Prof. Clark, but we do not feel that we can burden him with the inspection of the factories, stores and messenger service as well. There are no funds with which to pay for any service rendered, so that if you help us, it will be a labor of love, and of interest in the welfare of the children.

"I enclose a copy of the law—also a blank copy of the certificate each child must file with the employer if he be legally employed during the school term. No child under the age of 14 can work during the school term. No child under 16 can work after 6 at night nor before 7 in the morning. No child between the ages of 14 and 16 can secure a certificate unless he can take 6B work in school—that is—he must be through the 6A grade. Any child holding this certificate can work the year round at any time (except after 6 and before 7, as above)—and at any place. He must file his certificate with his employer until he quits working at that place he must then take it with him and file it at his next place of employment.

"Should there be any violations of the law, will you please advise me as the law directs that the Commission must prosecute.

"Hoping to receive a favorable reply—I have advised Prof. Clark of your appointment as deputy—I beg to remain, most sincerely

"MILLIE R. TRUMBALL,
"Secretary."

Police Officer Wilson is at present engaged in rounding up the truant cases reported to the police department by the board, and it will be seen from Mrs. Trumball's letter that only such children between the ages of 14 and 16 may work who can pass the "6B" school work—that is they must have been through the 6th grade studies. It is hardly probable that any effort has been systematically made to ascertain if those children between the ages of 14 and 16 who are at work have their clearance certificates as the law provides. It is also probable that some between these ages are working after 6 o'clock at night. Perhaps employers do well to protect themselves by seeing that any boy or girl they employ under 16 has the proper certificate. While a law of this nature is usually indispensable in large cities, it is seldom that vicious violations of its provisions are found in smaller communities, yet agents of the society are apt to swoop down upon a city at any time to see if the laws are being lived up to.

WHERE DID IT GO?

ALL MISERY OF INDIGESTION VANISHES PROMPTLY

STOP THE FOOD FERMENTING

Free Yourself From Dread Stomach Trouble by Taking a Little Diapepsin Which Digests All Food and Stops Fermentation—An Absolute Cure For All This Misery is Waiting for You.

Where did it Go—No. 2—Med Ad.

As there is often some one in your family who suffers an attack of indigestion or some form of Stomach trouble, why don't you keep a case of Diapepsin in the house.

This harmless blessing will digest anything you can eat without the slightest discomfort, and regulate a sour Stomach five minutes after.

Tell your pharmacist to let you read the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily see why they cure Indigestion, Sour Stomach, Heart burn and prevent at once such miseries as Belching of Gas, Eructations of sour undigested food, Nausea, Headaches, Dizziness, Constipation and other Stomach disorders.

Some folks have tried so long to find relief from Indigestion with the common every-day cures advertised that they have about made up their minds that they have something else wrong, or believe theirs is a case of Nervousness, Gastritis, Catarrh of the Stomach or Cancer.

This is a serious mistake. Your real trouble is, what you eat does not digest; instead, it ferments and sours, turns to acid, Gas and Stomach-poison, which will putrefy in the entire digestive tract and intestines, and, besides, poison the breath with nauseous odors.

A hearty appetite, with thorough digestion, and without the slightest discomfort or misery of the Stomach, is waiting for you as soon as you decide to try Pape's Diapepsin.

One candy-like Triangle, taken after eating, will promptly digest all your food, the same as a strong, healthy stomach would do it.

WALL STREET "TIPS."

Best Place to Plant Them if They Come Your Way.

A seasoned Wall street campaigner condenses a life of practical observation in the remark: "Stock market 'tips' are, as a rule, founded on nothing better than guesswork or pure invention. Although usually without value, openly peddled out to the public and not possible to trace to any reliable source, they come clothed in such a garb of mystery and apparent importance that there are always a lot of ill informed persons who will accept them and act on them as on gospel truth.

"Often these so called 'tips' are but the whispered suggestions of some manipulator who was confident that his mysterious, semi-confidential hint would travel and be made the basis of large buying of some stock he was especially anxious should be largely sold.

"It is told of one great speculative magnate of the past generation that when he was approached by the pastor of a rich and fashionable Fifth avenue church in search of means by which he could become suddenly rich he put his lips close to the clerical ear and whispered: 'Buy Pacific Mail. It's a sure thing. If you lose on it I'll make good your losses.'

"The pastor departed gleefully. Some two weeks later he called at the office of the manipulator and deplored the great financial losses he had incurred in following the confidential 'tip.' 'How much were they?' asked Mr. G., and on being told he drew his personal check for the amount.

"The minister took it and after expressing his thanks hesitated a moment and then said: 'But how about my parishioners? You placed no ban of secrecy on me, and their losses have been enormous.'

"The financier smiled grimly as he remarked, 'You see, doctor, those were the fellows I was after.'

"This story may be true or may not, but it points a moral. If you get a 'tip' on Wall street bury it in the backyard and forget it."—Cleveland Leader.

LIES ABOUT THE FEET.

A Shoe Clerk's Comments on His Customers' Peculiarities.

"I don't see why people always lie about their feet," said the shoe clerk as his customer departed after giving him a bad half hour. "I don't mean on the size of their foot, for it's only natural to wish to have, or, rather, to make other people think you have, small feet. But why a great, burly man with his feet nubby with bunions should insist that his shoes never trouble him and that he never has any trouble in getting a fit is beyond me. Why, if I put an ordinary shoe on such a man he would cuss with pain, and he knows it. He knows also that I have to hunt around until I find some freak shoe that will fit his misshapen old foot, but all the time he declares that he never has bunions or corns like most people. Women who seem to be sensible enough in all other ways come in here and declare that they do not know what a corn is, when they wince with pain every time I touch their little toe. When they are forced to declare that the shoe hurts in one spot or another they insist it is because their feet have a shape peculiarly their own. Sometimes they will admit they have a 'little calloused place,' but a corn, oh, dear, no! Sometimes in a thin, lightweight shoe I can fairly see the corns bunching out under the leather, but I have to say diplomatically that the fit is 'not good,' or that the customer has a 'peculiarly sensitive foot,' or some other nonsense, if I want to keep their trade."—New York Press.
