FACTIONS STIRRED UP.
Candidates For Knox's Seat From Many Walks of Life.
PITTSBURG, Dec. 19.—The acceptance by Senator Knox, of the portfolio of secretary of state, has precipitated an interesting battle between ambitious Republicans of this vicinity and has stirred into action every faction of the Republican party. It is pointed out that while a majority of the legislators elected last November were pledged to support Senator Penrose for re-election, the probability of Mr. Knox leaving the Senate was not dreamed of, and that therefore the members are free to exercise their own wills in choosing his successor.
