HIGH TIDES FLOODING NUMEROUS CELLARS

SEVERAL DYKES ARE BROKEN IN ON THE LEWIS AND CLARK RIVER.

The high tides the past few days have attracted much attention all along the waterfront, and many reports of damages of a minor nature are being received.

On the Lewis and Clark quite a number of the dykes were washed out in places, and while the damage is not so very great in dollars and cents the floods will cause no little inconvenience at the least.

It was also reported that as far up as Olney the high waters caused damage, for the dyke on the Bennecke place there is said to have been broken in by the water.

The tide yesterday as indicated in the tables was 9.5 feet, while today it is indicated at even higher—9.7. But because of unusual circumstances the water is rising very much higher than the tables indicate.

MERRY CLOTHING WAR IS STILL ON

NEARLY EVERY MAN IN TOWN BUYS NEW SUIT OF CLOTHES

The little clothing "war" that has been raging between two of the prominent clothing stores during the week has proven one of the most diverting things that Astoria has run up against in a long time.

Last Monday morning one of the Commercial street clothing stores announced "Any Suit or overcoat in the store for $12.50."

Promptly a rival store gathered its wits, and like a general meeting an unexpected attack, tried to turn the enemy's wing.

It announced "Any suit or overcoat in the store for $12, and alterations and pressing free."

Then the men hurried. They went into the stores and began to pick over $15, $20 and $30 suits—even $35 suits—and for only $12 or $12.50.

Again yesterday there was a rush. Every man who could beg or borrow $10 bought a suit. Probably it will be many a year before there will be a sale like this in Astoria again.

BATH ROBES

THE HOME OF HART SCHAFFNER & MARX CLOTHES

taken in by the two stores will be upwards of $17,000, and when it is considered that all of this was paid over in cash by Astoria men at a very dull season of the year it speaks pretty well for the savings bank accounts of the town.

But it may be that a lot of old, though perfectly good stock, is disposed of, and all sales are for cash! The store can at once put in a $10,000 order for a new stock, and having the cash to pay can get perhaps as low as 10 per cent discount.

It is understood that both of the stores are going to put thousands of dollars into new stock right away, so the city will be sure of having the best of new things on hand.

Just as a little hint it may be said that the storekeepers don't figure that way. They figure that the sale of suits this coming spring will be just as large, if not a little bit larger, than usual.
