OCEAN, BAR, BAY, DOCK AND RIVER

The British ship Glenalvon, Captain King, 140 days out from Antwerp, with cement, for Whittier, Fuller & Company, at Portland, entered port yesterday, after a stormy, but not unnecessarily long voyage. She will go on to the metropolis on the first tow that offers.

The Callender steamer Melville went out on the Deep River run yesterday in place of the steamer Gen'l Washington, now under repair, and the Jordan will probably take the run today and keep it till the Washington comes off the ways.

The steamer Lurline made it in and out of this port on time last evening. When she left she took with her as passengers: W. M. Killingsworth, P. S. Mitchell and Mrs. G. E. Chamberlain.

The British steamship Katanga arrived in yesterday morning, from Union Bay, B. C., and left up at once for Portland, where she will load grain for the United Kingdom.

The steamer R. D. Inman arrived down yesterday from Portland, and went to Knappa, to finish loading lumber for the Bay City.

The steamer Homer came in from San Francisco yesterday morning, and discharged about 16 tons of local freight at the Callender pier, after which she went on up the river.

The Alliance made it in from Coos Bay yesterday on her regular schedule, with a fair list of passengers and plenty of freight for this port.
