OCEAN, BAR,
BAY, DOCK AND RIVER

News is at hand this morning of the collision between the British bark Iverna and a harbor tug, off the port of Newcastle, N. S. W., some time ago, in which the tug, with seven of its crew, were lost. The Iverna was the vessel about which there was so much ridiculous hubbub in the Portland papers in the fall of 1906. She was off this river for 22 days before she was able to get in.

Portland's claim, as voiced in the Oregonian of yesterday, as being the only fresh water harbor on the coast, is causing a lot of merriment down this way, where the Columbia still flows and furnishes, for as much fresh water as it ever needed to clean a ship's bottom.

The lumber laden schooners Robert R. Hinds and William Bowden are ready to leave down from Portland at any moment; the former for San Francisco, and the latter for Molendo, Peru. They should be down on the Harvest Queen, which is sure to come down after the British ship Glenalvon and the schooner Lottie Bennett (the latter vessel going up the river only as far as Westport.

The Kamm liner Lurline had the black luck to break one of her crankshafts yesterday coming down the river, and she was compelled to come down on "one side," but she made good time, however, and was but an hour late in departing up stream. She had on board D. B. Wood, C. Johnson, F. M. Quinn, N. P. Sorenson and J. Elevander.

ONLY ONE SALARY IS PUT HIGHER

SENATE SUSTAINS GOVERNOR'S VETO OF TWO CLATSOP BILLS.

According to telegraph reports received last night the senate refused to concur with the house in the case of the bills pertaining to the increase of salary of the county treasurer of Clatsop county and also in the case of the bill authorizing the Clatsop assessor to appoint his own deputy. By thus refusing to concur with the house on these two bills the governor's veto is upheld and the two bills stand killed. But the senate did concur with the house in the case of the bill increasing the salary of the Clatsop county school superintendent from $600 to $900, and this is now law. However, there was some slight ambiguity in the reports in relation to the passage of this latter measure, but it appears to have passed.

The house of representatives of the Oregon legislature had passed three of the "more" bills over the governor's veto; these three bills all pertained to Clatsop county and were as follows:

H. B. 119, Leinenweber—Giving Assessor of Clatsop County power to appoint his own deputies without consent of the County Court.

H. B. 50, McCue—Increasing salary of County Treasurer of Clatsop County from $900 to $1200.

H. B. 49, McCue—Increasing salary of School Superintendent of Clatsop County from $600 to $900.

The first of these bills, introduced by Mr. Leinenweber, should not properly be classed among the "more" bills, for heretofore the assessor has not been able, under the existing state of the law, to appoint his necessary deputies and this bill merely gives him that appropriate right. Heretofore the matter has been gotten around by the county court making the appointment.

The other bills are for the increase of salaries of the county treasurer and the county superintendent of schools, both introduced by Mr. McCue. The governor had vetoed these bills, as being objectionable on the ground that they were increasing the salary of officials during their term of office, but the house deemed it best, apparently, to pass the bills over the veto. In the United States constitution there is a provision, pertaining to all federal officers, that the salary of no official may be increased during his term, and the same provision is incorporated in the constitutions of practically all of the states, Oregon being an exception to the almost universal rule. Hence it would appear that the legislature has the right to pass such increases if it so desires.

PREPARE IT FOR YOUR KIDNEYS

SIMPLE MIXTURE SAID TO PROMPTLY OVERCOME ALL DISORDERS OF THE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.

There are more cases of kidney trouble here now than ever before, while recent reports show that more people succumb each year to some kidney disease than any other cause.

When there is sickness, examine the urine. Rheumatism is only a symptom of kidney trouble. It is nothing more or less than excessive uric acid in the blood, which the sluggish, inactive kidneys have failed to sift out, leaving it to decompose and settle about the joints and muscles, causing intense suffering; frequently resulting in deformity; often reaching the heart, when death ensues.

Pains across the back, frequent painful and suppressed urination and other symptoms of weak bladder are not the only signs of kidney trouble; many cases of stomach disease, headache, pain in the heart, inactive liver, etc., are but symptoms; the cause of which can be traced to feeble, clogged kidneys.

A simple test of the urine is to void a small quantity in a bottle or glass and let it stand over night; next morning, if there is a reddish brick-dust sediment, or white fleecy substance present, either consult some reputable physician or take a good vegetable treatment. The following prescription is recommended highly in these cases, and the sufferer can mix it at home: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

Where any of the symptoms enumerated above are present, good results are sure to follow immediately the use of this simple prescription.

RUNS DOWN A TUG.
British Bark Iverna In Collision Off New Castle, N. S. W.

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 11.—From New Castle news was brought by the Moana of the sinking of the tug Advance by collision with the bark Iverna, one man only of the eight on the Advance being saved. The Advance was going to throw a line on the Iverna when she crossed her bow and the bark struck her heavily on the port quarter, overturning the tug. Chief Officer Will, the survivor, told a thrilling tale of watching Captain McKenzie and the six others going down after struggling on gratings and pieces of wreckage. The Iverna was towed into New Castle in a damaged condition. The Moana brought news of serious rioting following a mining strike at the Broken Hill mines involving 3,000 men, influenced by a socialist leader. Several outrages were committed by the strikers, including the blowing up of the railroad track. Women carrying babies took part in the rioting, carrying red flags.

With her captain and mate dead at sea of fever, the schooner Eugenie had returned to New Castle before the Moana sailed from the Solomons. One white man was the only navigator left with the crew of 12 natives.

News was brought from Samoa of mass meetings held by natives to express dissatisfaction with German rulers. Old Samoan flags were raised and many chiefs counselled appealing to America and Great Britain. Several of the chiefs are approaching open revolt.

FOUND DEAD IN BATH.

SEATTLE, Wn., Feb. 11.—John C. Considine, father of John W. and Thomas J. Considine of Sullivan and Considine theatrical proprietors, was found dead in a bathroom at the Hotel Steward, 517 Madison street, shortly after 11 o'clock tonight. That he was accidentally asphyxiated is the belief of the coroner who investigated as both the electric light and gas fixtures were turned on and it is supposed that he turned the gas on accidentally striving to turn the electric switch and did not notice the mistake. John C. Considine was born in county Calir, Ireland. He moved to America when very young and was a wagon maker in Chicago until 23 years ago. He moved to Seattle in 1900 and was 87 years old at his death. Besides the two sons living here he has four daughters in Chicago. Agnes, Lucy Frances and Mrs. Mary Young survive.

NEVER MISSED A DAY.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—John Donovan, known among his fellow blue-coats as Chicago's "most regular policeman" because of the fact that he was never absent from duty a day during eighteen years service in the police department, is dead of a complication of diseases. He was 55 years old.
