REMAINS OF NOTED DETECTIVE WILL BE BROUGHT BACK TO NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Arrangements for the funeral of Police Lieutenant Joseph Petrosino who was assassinated in Palermo, Sicily, presumably by the black hand, will be announced here as soon as the body is shipped from Palermo. Mayor McClellan has decided to pay all the honor to the dead detective that is accorded to a dead police official of the highest rank. A parade will be held in which more than 5000 men will participate. Solemn requiem high mass will be held in old St. Patrick's Cathedral at which Mgr. Kearney and 12 other priests will officiate. Among them will be Father Murphy, who was formerly rector of the American College at Rome.
 Young Mrs. Petrosino, the widow, is still in a critical condition because of the shock of her husband's death. She eats but little and can sleep only when drugs are administered.

RIVAL OF PANAMA CANAL

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—Representatives of the Tehuantepec National Railroad are studying the commercial situation of Los Angeles. This is in connection with a general investigation of Pacific Coast opportunities, which will lead to a greater diversion of European shipments to the direct route in this part of the world. E. H. Mundy of London, general European agent of the Tehuantepec road, and H. E. Moore of Oaxaca, Mexico, its general freight and passenger agent, arrived yesterday. They left last night for the Northern Pacific Coast cities and will go through to Vancouver before making the journey east.

REWARD FOR BRAVERY.

San Francisco Firemen Make Gift To Women Who Aided Their Families.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 19.—With the presentation speech embraced in an embarrassed "For Her," the firemen of the burned district presented Mrs. Linda Hoag Hale, a society leader of this city with a magnificent silver flower basket. The gift was in appreciation of her service to their wives and children while they were busy fighting the flames during the great conflagration of April 1906.

A delegation of brawny fire fighters appeared at the home of Mrs. Hale yesterday, and when they found she was not in the leader carefully deposited the gift, and with the laconic "For her," led his plainly relieved fellows away. Mrs. Hale was much affected when she returned and found the gift. Following the fire Mrs. Hale organized a number of the girls of the younger set into a special committee which secured clothes and food for the families of the firemen and it was through her efforts that the Red Cross Society laid aside its rule of not helping the families of those who were getting a regular salary.

FRENCHMEN OBJECT TO TARIFF BILL

WILL OPPOSE NEW MEASURE SO FAR AS IT EFFECTS FRENCH IMPORTS.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Prominent Frenchmen of New York are preparing to oppose the new tariff measure so far as it affects imports from France. A meeting was held here last night at Le Section du New York du Comite Republican du Commerce de L'Industrie et de L'Agriculture. Sixty members attended. After the meeting this statement was issued:

"If the reformers of the tariff do, as they threaten, revise the Dingley tariff so that only the luxuries of life will be affected, this organization, of which 30,000 manufacturers, wine growers, agriculturalists and business men generally are members in France, will not remain idle. They will be materially affected by the proposed change and the American people may rest assured that those 30,000 will not sit serenely by and watch threatened increases put into legal effect."

PENNY LUNCHEONS

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—Under the direction of the women of the Civic Association, the Ann Street School children enjoyed their first penny lunch yesterday, which from now on will be served to the children at noon.

The hungry boys and girls were seated at four long tables covered with plain white oil cloth, with white enamel plates and cups at each place. Each of the children was served with hot soup, fresh buns and a variety of fruit.

The Ann Street School was selected for the experiment on account of the urgent need of something of the kind in that district. Although the food served cost about four cents for each child, the expense to each will only be one penny, and this amount will secure as many bowls of soup and as many buns as desired. The penny payment is to instill a spirit of independence in each child. Similar lunch rooms will be established in all other city schools.

TAGGING THE HORSES

SAN FRANCISCO, March 19.—All of the horses driven over the streets of this city from the plodding dray animal to the high stepping carriage horse will be compelled to wear a tag if an ordinance prepared by the tax collector meets with the favor of the board of supervisors. The tags like those worn by dogs must be displayed on the left hand side at the headstall and the horse that appears without this decoration will be summarily removed from the vehicle which he is drawing and removed to the pound. The license fee will be $1.50 a year. The present ordinance is designed to take the place of the one requiring wagons to be licensed.

TESTED AND PROVEN.

There is a Heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well-Earned Reputation.

For months Astoria readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

J. Pederson, 613 Commercial street, Astoria, Ore., says: "For two years I suffered more or less from kidney complaint. At night there was such a steady aching through the small of my back that I would be unable to sleep and would arise in the morning tired and worn out. I was languid and nervous, had severe headaches and dizzy spells and at times would see spots floating before my eyes. At last I procured Doan's Kidney Pills, used them according to directions and received a complete cure." (From statement given January 19, 1906.)

The Cure Proved Permanent.

On Sept. 3, 1907, Mr. Pederson said: "I can still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and it gives me great pleasure to state that I have not suffered from kidney trouble since 1906." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

THE BEY'S GUEST.

He Was Ready For the Emergency and Conquered the African. A show of force is often the best kind of diplomacy. A writer in the Paris Temps tells a story of the French admiral Dupetit-Thouars, who had been intrusted with the mission of exacting reparation from an African bey who had insulted a French consul. As Dupetit-Thouars' demands were supported by the forcible argument of loaded cannon, the bey acknowledged that he had been too hasty and professed profuse apologies. He even invited the admiral to his table and had a sumptuous repast prepared for his guest.

The consul warned the admiral to be on his guard.
 "The bey is inclined to be unalicious," said he, "and when he strokes his beard and smiles you may be sure that he is concealing some mischief."
 "We shall see," was Dupetit-Thouars' reply.

He reached the bey's palace in good time. Profuse compliments and salutations were exchanged. All at once the admiral's foot met some soft, hairy substance lying on the carpet under the table. He bent down and saw a huge lion showing his formidable teeth. The bey smiled and stroked his beard.
 Dupetit-Thouars did not wince, but called his dragoman.

"My pistols," was all he said.
 The servant saluted, retired and brought back a pair of pistols on a silver tray. The admiral took them and placed them on the table before him. But the bey, still smiling, continued to stroke his patriarchal beard.
 "Tell the commander," he said to the dragoman, "that if those pistols are for the purpose of blowing out my lion's brains they are quite insufficient and perfectly useless."

Then, like a skilled fencer countering his opponent's thrust, after the bey's ironical advice had been translated Dupetit-Thouars replied:
 "Tell his highness that my pistols are not there to kill his lion, but to blow his own brains out at the first movement of this objectionable carpet."
 Gravely, but a little pale, the man interpreted.

The smile died away on the bey's lips, and he no longer stroked his beard.
 "My lion," said he, "is too well trained even to scratch one of my guests, but since he is not wanted he shall be sent away."
 At a word from the bey the lion slowly and heavily left the room, like an obedient dog.

No More Cradles.

"A cradle," said the salesman. "Oh, no! You don't want a cradle."
 He smiled.
 "First kid, ain't it?"
 "Yes," admitted the young father, frowning.
 "I knew you weren't experienced, or you wouldn't ask for a cradle," said the salesman. "You see, they're gone altogether out. We don't sell two a year."
 "Why did they go out?"
 "Because they're unhealthy, bad for the kid. They lower the temperature, hurt the heart and bring on nausea, colic, regular sickness. It stands to reason that the violent rocking of a cradle can't be good for frail little baby any more than the violent rocking of a ship in a storm is good for the passengers. Moreover, they keep somebody busy rocking the baby to sleep. Now the baby goes to sleep of its own accord."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Won With Whips.

According to Herodotus, while the Scythians were away on a long campaign their slaves took the opportunity to rebel and seize all their masters' property. The latter on their return promptly attacked them, but were continually defeated until at last one of them hit on the brilliant idea of attacking the slaves with whips only. That, he said, would remind them of their origin and so cow them that they would never dare to stand. The Scythians followed his counsel, and it fell out as he had predicted. When the slaves beheld their masters riding down upon them flourishing the terrible knotted whips they knew so well they threw down their arms and fled.

Roused His Suspicions.

A naval officer was speaking of the extortions of innkeepers in out of the way parts of the globe.
 "In Montenegro once," he said, "I asked for my bill after having slept overnight at a certain inn, and as soon as the document was handed to me I took out my purse to settle it. I did not bother to verify the various items. What would have been the use?"
 "But my readiness to pay amazed the landlord. He thought a moment, and then he said unhesitatingly:
 "'Will you let me have another look at that bill, sir? I think I have omitted something.'"

THIS IS ALRIGHT!

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Representative Conroy of Missouri has just introduced what is probably the shortest bill so far presented during the present session of Congress, yet if enacted into law it would probably attract more attention than the Sherman anti-trust law.

After the enacting clause the entire bill is as follows: "That from and after the passage of this act all corporations shall pay a license tax of one tenth of one percent on their capital."
