So far as Oregon are concerned, the season is practically ended. A few small lots remain in growers' hands and it is expected that the producers will get $2 or a fraction better for the remnant of the crop-

The potato market shows a moderate degree of strength as the result of improvement in the South the past few days, but dealers generally are not disposed to raise prices or buy in a free way, so trade continues small in volume.

A new provision list issued today shows a considerable number of changes in the cost of meats and packing house products, some items being lower and others higher than the last quotations. Hams generally are up te and smoked dried beef from 1c to 2c above the last prices. Nearly all brands of bacon are raised half a cent and all grades of lard are up a quarter of a cent. In fresh meats beef and mutton cuts are for the most part a fraction lower, while some port cuts are raised half a cent. The new list goes into effect Monday.
