

ENJOY LIFE.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gave us grandeur of mountains, gleams and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up, disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that "Greer's August Flower," will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five percent of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Constipation, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of "August Flower" will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles, 10 cents. Try it.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boscher's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Cough, Croup, Asthma and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying, consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case was reported where it failed. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try, sold at ten cents. Regular size, 10 cents. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, in the United States and Canada.

The Dishonest Man.

"I never saw a greater rascal in my life than old Smith is," remarked a farmer.
"What makes you think so?" queried a friend.
"Why, he said that the first sack of oats that I sold him was too light, so I put a large iron wedge in the next sack of oats, just to please him, you know, and..."
"Did he kick against the wedge?"
"No, he would have split his foot if he had kicked against the wedge. He did worse."
"Did worse?"
"Yes; the blamed old thief kept the wedge."

The gall of a man was never more exposed than in the case of the Chicago editor who boasts that that city has been free from sun-strokes for two months.

The fire company at Alexandria, Va., has been organized for more than a hundred years. Washington was amenable of it, and used to run with the machine and kick with the boys.

George Miller died at Akron, O., aged 80. His coffin was made out of lumber from a cherry tree which he planted nearly sixty years ago, remarking that he would grow lumber for his own coffin.

Napoleon's Money.

One of the most remarkable historical incidents of this century was the disappearance of the first Napoleon's fortune. In 1810 he was far the richest individual in the world. He came out of the Italian campaign, ending in 1800, with $3,000,000 according to his own account. This he maintained as his property. Taking the statements that he made to his friends and others at Helena, he must have hidden away when he left France the last time the enormous sum of $40,000,000 or 200,000,000 francs! This would make him very much the wealthiest man in the world, for that sum then was equal in influence to $200,000,000 now. No sovereign of his time could begin to approach him in personal fortune. Marshal Soult, the last of the imperial marshals, (who died in November, 1851, just about a year before his great antagonist, the Duke of Wellington,) told a venerable French general officer who reported it to the writer, that when the emperor went to Elba he had 600,000,000 francs covered up in Paris then.

Of the $212,000,000 hard cash paid over by the United States to Napoleon as first consul, it was common rumor—not very general, you may be sure, however, that 7,000,000 francs of the sum was never accounted for in vouchers. This might easily have been. Napoleon was then first consul for life. He could do what he chose, and nobody dared call him to account. It is not very difficult to hide money in large sums, too, so it could be the search ever so successful. Ferdinand Ward had some millions cover up, and no human being has ever yet found a clue to the stolen treasure. It is said and believed by people, too, that Stephen Girard, of Philadelphia, had a large sum in his hands belonging to Napoleon I., which he would have handed over to him had he succeeded in getting away to the United States after Waterloo, as he tried to do. Louis XVIII. thought his minister of finance, did all in his power to discover this hidden treasure, but those who knew would never tell. They probably took it themselves when the Emperor died, in 1821. But it is a very interesting and romantic story, the disappearance absolutely of the greatest fortune in the world's history up to that time, leaving not a trace behind.

A switchman at Joliet was run over by an engine and had his right arm crushed above the elbow. The surgeon concluded to try an experiment, and proceeded to re-attach the comminuted bone, which re-attached about four inches of the arm, and by joining the two ends together, fastened them with silver wire, and waited. The loose part, the crushed muscles, healed and the patient at work again within a few weeks. It was before this time that all conservative surgery like this would save many an arm and leg that would have otherwise been lost.

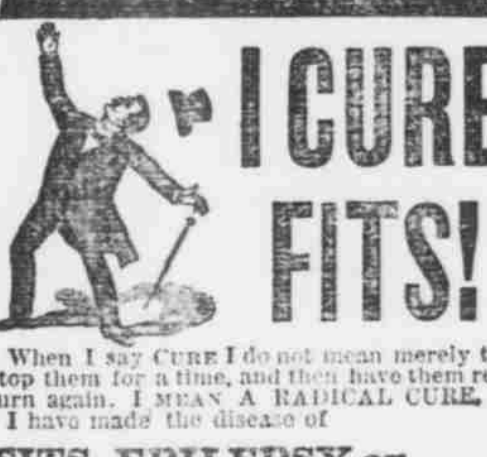

CAPTAIN S. GREENWOOD, Master of the Steamship Kankwa.

About a year ago he observed a strange change in his feelings. He felt tired instead of vigorous, nervous instead of strong. His appetite became poor and his sleep became restless. In other words, his feelings, but they would notice. He then noticed pain and friction in the water courses, and that he had passed very often thin and with a sum on top or a little of sediment at the bottom. All these were the symptoms of that fatal disease, Catarrh of the bladder, which he at once consulted a physician, and they continued until the Captain was in a deplorable condition. But he is the picture of health and vigor today, and he owes it entirely to that wonderful medicine, Hunt's Kidney & Bladder Cure. It was the best remedy for the case of the Captain, and it is the best remedy for the case of every sufferer who consults it. It is the best remedy for the case of every sufferer who consults it. It is the best remedy for the case of every sufferer who consults it. It is the best remedy for the case of every sufferer who consults it.
