In Brief, And To The Point. Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature. The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order. Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics. But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad habit, and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy. Remember: No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

LATEST NEWS. The St. Petersburg papers appeared in mourning on account of the death of the kaiser. A swordfish weighing 500 pounds was caught last week from a warf at Punta Gorda, Fla. A lot in San Francisco, on which stands the California theatre, was sold recently for $127,000. Forty-five years ago it was bought for $45. Queen Victoria is an autograph collector, and she has recently added to her American department an autograph of Andrew Jackson. It is said that there are no more than one hundred negroes in all Paris, and throughout France very few persons of African blood are to be found. The substitution of wood pulp for plaster of paris in the manufacture of all kinds of building ornaments is constantly increasing under the new method brought forward in France. Mrs. Rea, the wife of the commander of the G. A. R., has a peculiar hobby. It is collecting spoons. Into whatever town she goes she buys a spoon and has it engraved with the name of the place and date. An Indiana judge did not know what a cartoon was. A lawyer sketched the body of a jackass with his, the judge's head and face attached as a specimen, and was promptly fined for contempt of court. Senator Palmer has a lake on his Michigan farm stocked with carp, and wishes he hadn't. He calls them the 'hog of the sea,' because they wallow and burrow in the mud and keep the water continually dirty. He has tried to seine them out, but cannot do so. Congressman Scott, of Pennsylvania, is not quite sixty years of age, is worth $20,000,000 and employs 10,000 men. When he was still in his teens he was a page in the national house of representatives, and thirty years ago he was a fish peddler in Erie, Pennsylvania. Australian people are particularly fond of holidays. The regular holidays are almost as numerous as those of Catholic countries, while special holidays are ordered by the government upon the most trivial excuses. Not a month goes by without a week-day holiday. The United States war ship "Enterprise," mounting six guns, arrived at Tangier, March 10th. The captain demanded the immediate release of the Moore who was under American protection who is imprisoned at Rabat, also satisfaction for the man's illegal arrest. The following ludicrous scene at the White House, is taken from the Salt Lake Tribune of the 8th, to which it was sent as special: "Six Apache Indians from the San Carlos reservation accompanied by an interpreter called upon the president today. They had a pleasant talk with the president, and one of the visitors at the end of the interview pulled a gaudily decorated doll from his pocket and handed it to Cleveland, at the same time telling him through the interpreter that as he understood the great father had no children he like him to accept the gift. The president laughed when the Indian's speech was translated, but he declined to accept the doll and returned it to the giver apparently much to his disgust."

Dr. Dawson, of Penn. Ind., commenced marrying in 1832, and has been marrying at frequent intervals ever since. The other day, at the age of seventy-six, he took his seventh wife. Miss Jenny Chamberlain, the Ohio beauty that created such a sensation in Europe, is now living in a hotel in Cleveland. She seldom goes out, receives few visitors and leads a very quiet life. A silver mine that was once worked by the Indians has been discovered in Finning county, Georgia. There is a legend that a similar mine exists in Jackson county, and a number of persons are making a vigorous search for it. It was believed for a long time that a shaft of Balm lode, near Butte, M. T., was haunted, but the recent discovery of a half starved goat at the bottom of the shaft is supposed to account for the mysterious apparitions that terrified the miners. A New York bird man says that canaries will take almost any infectious disease which may infect members of the household. He thinks that hundreds of birds die of scarlet fever and diphtheria, and says they should always be removed from a sick room. The oldest pensioner on the government is Mrs. Nancy Pains, who receives a pension of $8 a month for being a widow of John Pains, a revolutionary soldier who served under General George Washington. She is now ninety-six years old and is helpless and infirm. The discussion of the tariff bill will not begin before the middle of April. The opposition to the reduction to the duty on lead is especially strong among all the western members, while the placing of wool on the free list has alienated a large number of tariff reformers from the support of the measure. A wild boy has appeared in the Georgia mountains, near Mount Alto. The child is apparently about ten years of age and almost destitute of clothing. A hunter came up with him the other day, but he could not or would not talk. He lingers about the cliffs, but where or how he lives cannot be discovered. When the late D. R. Lock, "Nasby," of the Toledo Blade, was alive, he took particular pride in the fact that none of his buildings had ever been damaged by fire. It is a singular fact that since his death three of the best edifices erected by him in Toledo have caught fire, and in each instance at the top of the building. A tropic dimer given in Philadelphia was the height of luxury. Twenty courses were served, and a bouquet of ten strawberries was placed before each guest. Roman punch was served in oranges hanging on natural trees, so that the guests could pluck their own fruit. The floral decorations were all tropic. There is a wonderful brown and golden bird in Mexico, a species of beemartin, that is a remarkably expert bee catcher. He has a way of ruffling up the feathers on top of his head so his crest looks exactly like a beautiful flower. When a bee comes along to sip honey from this delusive blossom it is snapped up and devoured.

While plowing in a cotton field the other day, Jack Reinhardt, of Lincoln county, North Carolina, stumbled upon a rich vein of gold. He has been offered $20,000 dollars for it, but refuses to sell. The famous Bo tree under which Buddha sat and meditated until he became "enlightened and overcame the last temptation," is said to be slowly falling to pieces. It is believed to be the oldest tree in the world, being credited with 2,300 years. Buenos Ayres, in the Argentine Republic, is now the largest city in South America, the census of 1887 giving in a population of 434,000. The population of the entire country has increased 175 per cent in the last twenty years, while that of the United States in the same period of time has increased only 75 per cent. Several small loys of Portland organized a knife stealing society. Two or three would go into a store, and while one was buying an inexpensive article the others would grab what knives they could reach. But one of these young thieves fell out with the others, and they trashed him. Thereupon he gave them away to the police, who recovered $200 worth of knives. Of the 40,000 Sioux Indians there 25,000 of them still in heathenism. There are sixty-six tribes on the western prairies for whom nothing is yet done. There 40,000 Indians of school age, but when every school is packed to its utmost only 12,000 can be accommodated. This includes government schools, Roman Catholic schools, and all, so that those under mission teachers would be a far less number than 12,000. Senator Ingalls and Congressman "Sunset" Cox are each very fond of reading Homer. Before he prepares a speech Mr. Ingalls usually looks over a few pages of the old Greek's sonorous verse and treasures up for some of the winged words the old chiefs were wont to hurl about in the vigor of their expressions. The duties of the early justices of the national supreme court could hardly be called onerous. During the first twenty years of the court it had very little business. From 1820 to 1851 the cases submitted to it averaged only about fifty-five a year. After 1860 the dockets became crowded, and now a new case is not ordinarily heard for five years. At a recent law suit in Texas thirteen expert cattle-branders swore that when cattle were branded in "the dark of the moon" the brand will never get larger than the first impression, no matter how much the cattle grow. But if the branding-iron is applied in "the light of the moon" the scar will spread, and the lighter the moon the larger will be the spread. A few years ago a school man in Cumberland county, Maine, was presented by her bean with deeds to some California lands. Both considered them worthless; but a woman hates to part with anything, so she put them away. Recently she received an offer of $250,000 for the land, valuable mineral deposits having been discovered, which she promptly accepted.
