

Grant Co. News.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Circuit Court next Monday. See Notice of Haptonstall & Dart.

Republican County Convention to-day.

See "ad." of the ball to be given at Prairie City, to-morrow night.

Roads across the mountains between here and Baker City are said to be simply awful. No hotton to the mud.

Rev. J. H. Wood will hold Divine service at John Day next Sabbath, at 11 A. M., and at Canyon City in the evening.

Grass is flourishing on the hills, and with several good showers of rain the range would be in excellent condition.

The Baker County Democratic Convention took twenty-two ballots for the candidate for Sheriff, and at last nominated Wm. Killburn.

"Doc" Cannon takes his defect for the nomination for Sheriff quite philosophically, and is now busy with his duties as County Assessor.

Grant County's mountains contain beds of marble that will some day be a source of wealth, to say nothing of her mines of gold, silver, coal and iron.

Even while we write an item in regard to fine, Spring weather, along comes a snow-squall and knocks the poetry all out of it. That is Grant county's weather, at present.

Danger to the fruit crop is apprehended, although apples and harder kinds of fruit are thought to be perfectly safe, as yet. The cold weather is keeping the buds back nicely.

Notice: A Social Dance will be given at Masonic Hall, in Canyon City, on Friday evening, next, April 6th, 1888, to which all are invited, and a pleasant time assured.

There is more mourning in "undisciplined" Boston over the defeat of Pupilist Sullivan than there would be over the roasting of ninety and nine missionaries by the cannibals.

Tom Smith, Jr., is prospecting the carbonates up the creek. It is his intention to sink a shaft fifty feet in depth. By so doing the chances are that he will strike something worthy of mention.

Democratic delegates to the State Convention departed in due time. Convention met at Pendleton, last Tuesday, but of course, nothing has been learned as yet, concerning their business.

John Buntion, of whom we would mention last week, was made over in the sum of $500, to appear in the Circuit Court, at The Dalles, in May. He gave bonds and returned home, arriving here Sunday night.

A. C. Hall has sold his horse, "Johnny Knox," to Gilliam Bros., of Harney Valley, for the sum of $1,000. The horse is worth much more than that amount, and if he had proper training would be as valuable a horse as Oregon contains.

Gardening has commenced in some localities of the pleasant John Day valley. While blasting blizzards are howling about our Eastern neighbors, our farmers are sitting on the fence watching the potatoes grow—only potatoes are not up yet.

We hope the next Legislature will repeal the law compelling central committees to purchase paper to be used for ballots, of the Secretary of State. They pay that dignitary an exorbitant price for the paper, and such a law is a nuisance, and should be repealed before another election.

Notice: Coaxing is entirely out of order, and members of the shaving fraternity, knowing themselves to be indebted to the Canyon City Barber, wishing to retain their good reputation, will save extra expense by calling and settling their "Little Accounts," before it is everlastingly too late. "And don't you forget it!" * 3

Ye who lost stock last winter console yourselves with the glaring fact that a ranchman in Hunt county, Texas, lost four hundred and twenty head out of a herd of five hundred head, during a cold tidal wave a few weeks ago. A Texas paper is our authority for this same, which shows that Oregon is not the worst state in the Union.

People who get up "when the birds are singing their sweet notes, at 5 o'clock in the morning," will do well to keep a look out for the brand new count which is now coming North at rate of a degree a day. It is reported to possess a very brilliant nucleus and a tail as straight as a crowbar. It was discovered at Cape Town, last month, and rises early every morning, and will in a few days be visible to all who stay up late or get up early enough.

Another Pioneer.

Last week Mr. I. H. Wood handed us a copy of the "City Journal," bearing date of March 9th, 1868, the first issue of the first paper issued in the State East of the Dalles. In it we find an interesting description of Grant County and the Canyon Creek gold mines, which it is our intention at a future period to publish, as it would interest every resident of the county.

The paper states that J. J. Cozart & Co., shipped from this place to Camp Harney, 1,300,000 pounds of grain. The grain was shipped by pack trains—Wolfinger & Workins cleaned up 305 ounces from their claim in four days' run, working six men.

That was the year in which Grant and Seymour ran for President, and the result of the November election in the county is given as follows, by precincts:

Table with columns: Precincts, Dem, Rep. Rows include Upper Canyon, Lower Canyon, John Day, Union, Granite Creek, Rock, Elk, Olive, Total.

Total 355 343 Democratic majority—12. The little sheet, yellow with age, is prized as a relic, and we are pleased with the favor from Mr. Wood.

Messrs Clifford & Williams are in attendance at the State Convention, at Pendleton.

Mrs. Geo. Morgan, of Drewsey, is seriously ill, having required the medical assistance of Dr. Orr, of this city.

A man named Anser, in Vermont, is only thirty-nine inches high. He must be the shortest answer that does not turn away wrath.

Notice: Peter Kuhl has for sale pure Plymouth Rock, Brown Leghorn and Black Spanish hen eggs, warranted to be genuine.

A proposed extension of the Southern Pacific through Lake and the Northern part of Baker and Grant counties, tapping the Short Line at or near Ontario, is the latest.

Many a weary youth, sitting in his solitary room at midnight, and driving a big needle through a button with the back of his jack-knife, is wondering whether he will be doing his own sewing in 1889.

One of the arithmetical problems at a recent examination was as follows: "The total vote cast at an election was 2,205, one candidate receiving a majority of 302, what number of votes did each receive?"

A dispatch from Yankton, Dakota, says that the people of the upper Missouri are in a state of intense anxiety lest they shall be visited with one of those disastrous floods which sometimes take place in that section of the country.

We desire to call attention to the fact that correspondents must not appropriate our "we" in writing articles for publication. As Conkling says, there are only three persons entitled to the use of "we": to-wit: Kings, editors and the man with the tape worm.

Theophrates of tale, swaddled between porphyry and granite walls, carrying oxide of hard-tung and pyrites of hard times, together with indications of great expectations, is the assay of a mine recently discovered near here, but the assay is merely guess-work.

What is all this gossip about gentlemen marrying their typewriters? The typewriter is a machine and a very oily and icky one at that. It is frequently operated by ladies who would make charming wives, but the typewriter itself wouldn't make even a good hired girl.

If the names of any of the delegates to the Republican County Convention have been omitted from the published list, they will please not go to shooting, for we found it impossible to get them in time for this issue of the News, which is printed on Wednesday afternoon.

Charles J. Newton, a trapper well known throughout the West, was drowned in Green river, Utah, in September last. He was a native of Oregon, and is supposed to have relatives living some where in this state. If there are any such they will communicate with J. E. Wing, Woodside, Utah.

A little boy who had lost his pet sheep through death was somewhat consoled on visiting a cemetery one Sunday afternoon. "Mamma," he said, as he discovered a number of marble figures of lambs on the tomb-stones, "I guess I ain't the only one that's lost a sheep. There seems to be lots of 'em buried here."

REPUBLICAN DELEGATES.

Delegates to the County Convention, which meets to-day, so far as we have been able to learn, are as follows:

Canyon City—Phil Metschan, I. H. Wood, Horace Sloan and D. G. Overholt.

John Day—Ed Timms, Chas. Timms, H. M. Basford and J. S. Haptonstall.

Marysville—Frank Fisk, F. Markham.

Union—Robt. Hall, W. R. Fisk, M. Howell, W. A. Turman, Sam French and M. N. Bootham.

Mt. Vernon—Jas. Pope and Walter Carsner.

Fox—Henry Murphy and Wm. Shanks.

Harney—V. J. Miller, F. M. Conn, M. M. Bryerly and G. W. Gillham.

Burns—W. W. Johnson, A. J. Wilson and Hank Lewis.

Happy Valley—D. H. Smyth and W. Y. King.

Diamond—Chas. Richardson, Dayville—J. T. Tharp and A. S. Litch.

Silvies—Chas. Eeyer, Drewsey—A. J. Vanhorn, Wm. Willie and Miller.

Want You To Come. The ladies of Canyon City will give an entertainment at Masonic Hall, on Wednesday evening, April 11th, consisting of Dialogues, charades, tableaux, music, etc., the proceeds of which will be applied to the Building Fund of Homer Lodge, A. O. U. W. Come everybody, and bring along your cousins, aunts, sisters and best girl.

April breezes blow. Business rather slow. Tell us all you know.

Defeated candidates go. Grass continues to grow.

In June they meet the foe! Snow! the beautiful snow!

The best family remedy is undoubtedly Pfunder's Oregon Blood Purifier. Harmless, it accomplishes relief where many other medicines failed to do. It may be safely given to the infant as well as the adult.

The Iowa Legislature passed a law prohibiting railroads from bringing whiskey into the State. The Supreme Court of the United States have declared this law unconstitutional, and now the railroads are carrying lots of whiskey into Iowa.

The government has just provided the Navajo Indians with a car load of wagons. A few months ago they furnished the Moquis with a car load of spring mattresses. Citizens of Holbrook are expecting that the next will be a train load of plug hats and bustles.—Pr. Scott Miner.

The Inter-Ocean very truthfully says, that the candidate who does the least in tearing down the good reputation of his opponent and arouses the least antagonism, is the one—all other things being equal—that gets there. Attempting to reach high honors by pulling others down is a mistake which has been verified a thousand times.

LONG CREEK CORRESPONDENCE.

Long Creek, March 28, 1888. Two whiskey drummers paid our town a visit and made it quite lively for awhile.

The nominations made by the County Convention, seems to give satisfaction to the Democrats of this part of the county.

We have a butcher shop but no meat, for you know this is a cattle country, and they raise and fatten cattle to ship and not for home use.

At last it has leaked out, there is no humbug this time, every thing is arranged and Tommy Henderson is going to get married, sure, sure.

Burt Allen feels blue, discouraged and out of sorts. Well, I think the girl was just trying him, and would make up again if he would only try.

The sawmill will start in sawing next Monday, which will deprive us of Burt Hynie's company, but he leaves his best girl here, so there is some consolation after all.

There came very near being a tragedy enacted in town. A man by the name of Jackson was bothering "Levy," when he grabbed an ax, and would have used it to a good advantage, had not some friends interfered.

Thursday it snowed nearly the whole day long which was satisfactory to farmers who need snow or rain to wet the dry ground, while the poor stockman looked gloomy, and was wishing for fine weather; so you will see, that even God Almighty can't please everybody in Grant county.

Next Monday the new school term begins, and where the teacher will put all the children is a question. It is a shame for this district to let school go on in that little old building. A new and commodious school building is needed badly, and I hope the directors will come to the same conclusion soon.

A little half-breed boy, about 8 years old, got lost while hunting for the cows, and for three days and nights wandered without coat or boots and with nothing to eat. When about worn out he was found and taken care of, by Mr. Carry, who sent him to his home near The Warm Springs.

CASES FILED.

A list of cases filed with County Clerk, up to last Monday, for disposition by the Circuit Court is as follows:

FANCIES FROM FOX.

Fox Valley, March 31, 1888. I told you I was going to Long Creek with dad. Well I was there, and we started early in the mornin' and came along past John Shrier's stage office. It is a new log house, about 18 by 21, and is hewed outside and in, and has a roof on it. Most of the cabins in this valley don't have any roof—just covered with with shales like ours—and the rain shakes right through onto the floor. That's why they call them shales, ma says. She says some of the batcheldors don't have any floor in their cabins, and that is why they have veget blea all the time. Anything will sprout in them places.

Across the acclimated avenue from the stage office is Mr. Connor's nice new frame dwelling. About two miles North of Connor's you come to the old Woods Carter place, and here you have an exhibition of the enterprise of a truly good man, "John Curry's Lane," as it is called. Dad said he'd bet that lane was over 16 feet wide. Some say it is 20, but I ain't, and it is full of rails, etc., all ready to catch your wheel and sometimes fly up and scare a man off his seat. It is awful good in the country to get such men to settle on our roads, for they give strangers a chance to notice our enterprise.

After leaving this lane you come upon the old Short place, now owned by H. Y. Backwell, "the horse jockey," who has erected a fine dwelling, one story and a half high. Henry and his family—Old Mike—will make this their future home.

As we got to the West side of the valley, we saw a big story and a half, double action, log house, about a mile and a half off the road, and dad said as low that this house, on the road, stank Frank McGinn's two story and a half hotel, and as he had a barn you want to see. Slade trees all around the house, and he has about as many children running around his place as Jake Smith. Another good man for the country, I suppose. Adjoining his place and north, is Banney, his brother, with a new house, a new wife and everything new around there, and he's a rustler from away back.

"That is the last house on the North side of the valley," says dad, "and now my son, we are going up the mountain, and you get your gun ready for cougars and wildcats, and just then dad struck a stump and broke an axle, and we camped for the night, and it a raining.

There is a lot of company just come, and I will have to wait till next time to tell you about Long Creek.

Lord! if you could hear how some of these Missouri winnins are going on about that boy what told sich stuff in the last paper, you'd spit.

Yours from the same Box, Georgia is, or is supposed to be, a prohibition state, as only forty-six thousand four hundred and seventy-seven men have been present there during the last ten years for illicit whiskey distilling, mostly in the mountain districts.

Senator Bowen went to Colorado from Arkansas ten years ago, broken in health and poor. One night he won a hundred dollars at poker and gave it to a prospector for a grub stake. As a result of this venture he gained the Little Annie and Colorado mines which have paid him as high as $10,000 a day in hard cash. A conservative estimate places the ore in sight at $2,500,000.—EX.

Stray Notice. Came on the premises of the undersigned, about two years ago, One dark iron-gray mare, five years old, about 16 hands high, and branded with monogram "J. A. N." The owner is requested to call, pay charges and get the same.

SAMUEL FRENCH, Prairie City, Or., March 19th, 1888.

A Twenty-Five Dollar Reward! Strayed from the ranch of the undersigned: One small white mare, brand on shoulder, S. L. Gage, nine; one bay mare, branded J. L. connected with above brand, on side, age 4 years; 2 black 3-year old fillies, branded same brand on side—one having a very large white face and legs, the other a blaze face; one bay horse, 3 years old, with large white face and legs, branded same as fillies on side.

I will give $10 for information that will lead me to their whereabouts, or will give $25 for their delivery to me at my ranch four miles West of Canyon City, or $5 a piece for what may be found.

JAS. A. LORTON, Canyon City, March 26, 1888.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

Weekly Budget of News as Furnished by our Regular Correspondent. Washington, March 31, 1888.

Senator Blair, of New Hampshire, the author of the Educational bill has just introduced another measure over which the mere question of reference caused quite a spirited debate. It provides that in appointments to civil service positions the wounded and disabled ex-Confederate soldiers shall be given preference over other Confederates. Speeches were made by Senators Platt, Hale, Berry, Blair, Hoar, Kiddleberger, Hampton, George, Maclanders, Daniel and Hawley.

The Southern Senators, while expressing the kindest feelings for the generosity and philanthropy which had prompted the introduction of the bill, disclaimed all desire on the part of the ex-Confederates for the passage of any such exceptional measure. But thought that as a matter of courtesy and uniformity of practice, the bill should be referred to its appropriate committee. The Northern Senators were of one accord in condemning the measure as unwise and ill-considered.

Senator Blair said he had introduced his bill in entire good faith. He understood that in the one state of North Carolina, there were to-day 20,000 ex-soldiers of the Confederacy who lost limbs in the service, and that most of them were in pain or circumstances. It seemed to him that if the Government in this or any other Administration gave appointments to men who had been disloyal to the Union, preference should be allowed to those who were disabled, (other things being equal).

The widow of General Hancock will be presented with a handsome brown stone and brick house in this city, about the first of April. Some friends of the late General have been actively engaged in trying to raise sufficient money for its purchase, and have met with success. They lady will take possession of her new home at once.

The dozen or more authors who have been visiting Washington during the past week and giving public readings from their works for the benefit of the Copyright League, were entertained at the White House on Monday after the readings. The old Mansion was in gala dress for the occasion and supper was served about midnight. The authors want an International Copyright law, you know, and a bill to that end has just been reported to the Senate.

On Wednesday a terrific thunder storm caused something of a panic on Capitol Hill. It was thought that the dome had been struck and there was a general rush to see if the Goddess of Liberty had lost her balance. In the Rotunda the crash was appalling and the echoes reverberated up and down the corridors for some time. Every electric light in the building was put out and fery balls of electricity were sent through the corridors, cutting off telegraph communication and giving the elevator conductors a severe shock. The flash which accompanied the thunder, silenced the Congressmen who had the floor, and sweeping into the press gallery over the telegraph wires caused the operator at the keys to make a hasty and undignified retreat. No real damage was done to the Capitol, although the presence of the electric current was plainly felt at different points by men around metal work.

Congressman Crain, of Texas, is very hopeful in regard to his Constitutional amendment during the Inauguration day. "The weather of the past two weeks has been sufficient to warrant a change, and I believe the next President will be inaugurated on the 20th day of April." Mr. Crain will make an effort to have this question considered on the 2nd proximo. There is a pronounced feeling in the House in favor of changing Inauguration day, and there is but little doubt that the change will be made.

On Wednesday evening, Belva Lockwood, looking in excellent health and spirits, occupied the platform of Grand Army Hall and spoke for an hour and a half to about 150 people. Her alleged subject was "Washington Social and Political Life," but she did not allow herself to be trammelled by it and branched off in different directions.

Speaking of politics she said that as Blaine had resigned and Geo. W. Childs and Robert Lincoln and others, that when Cleveland resigned, she also would publicly tender her resignation. She believed the coming man would be a woman. All she asked for the District of Columbia at present was that the women be allowed to vote on licensing the Saloons. The greatest act of President Cleveland's life, she thought was that of taking unto himself Frances Folsom for a wife.

Representative O'Neill of Missouri, made an aggressive fight yesterday for right of labor to be heard in the House.

A Chicago inventor has perfected an electric contribution box for church use. An alarm bell on the inside rings violently when ever a tin tag or a flattened button is dropped in the box.

THE OLD CLOSET.

It was an old house, a very ancient mansion, with its several gables facing the street, showing its Dutch origin. Permitted to go through it on a tour of inspection, a closet emitted a peculiar odor and attracted attention. It was that pungent scent which reminds one of the pine woods and aromatic shrubs of the mountains, and which, once smelled, brings to mind the greatest remedy of the age. It was evidently the family closet, where remedies for minor aches and pains had found place for handy use, and in modern years the greatest of all these, known by its peculiar odor, had worked its wonders for the happiness of mankind, as the following examples attest: General G. C. Kniffin, War Department, Washington, D. C., February 23, 1887, states: "For many years my wife suffered excruciating pains, frequent and violent. In 1884 she tried St. Jacobs Oil. It cured her, and prevented any recurrence. She has not had any return of pain. I trust it may reach the remotest parts of the earth to prove as much a blessing in other houses as mine." Mr. Levi Hotel, Corydon, Ind., under date of June, 1887, writes: "In April, 1884, he had his collar-bone broken, and it was very painful. He used two bottles of St. Jacobs Oil. It got entirely well, and the remedy worked like a charm. No return of pain, and used only the one remedy. Mr. Arthur G. Lewis, editor Southern Society, Norfolk, Va., June 27, 1887, writes: "Nothing I can say with regard to St. Jacobs Oil will do it justice; have used it for a number of years for all aches and pains, with effects almost marvelous, and for such, in my opinion, it is unsurpassed." Mr. Chateau Bizon, 299 Spruce street, Philadelphia, Pa., under date of February 4, 1887, says: "Have used St. Jacobs Oil in my family for ten years; two years ago broke my leg; pains very severe. It cured the pains and gave strength to my leg. If you desire to publish this, I will be pleased."

Grand Ball!

A Grand Ball will be Given at Grange Hall, Prairie City, Or.,—On the Evening of—FRIDAY, Apr. 6, 1888

The proceeds of which will be donated to the sufferers by reason of the late fire in Prairie City. COME, EVERY ONE.

Notice to Sheepmen.

The Stockmen and residents of Silvies Valley and vicinity have organized and pledged themselves to do all that they can to keep sheep off of their range in order to protect their own stock and property.

By virtue of an Execution issued out of the Honorable Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Grant on a transcript filed in said Court, on the 20th day of February, 1888, in favor of Mrs. M. Haat, Plaintiff, and against S. P. Morgan, Defendant, for the sum of one hundred and two Dollars, and twelve Cents and three cents costs, together with eight per cent. per annum interest and accruing costs, I have levied upon and will sell at Public auction, on Saturday the 7th day of April, 1888, at 2 o'clock P.
