LOCAL BREVITIES.

Sheriff Gray.
Grand July Fourth!
Election is over and the campaign lies have taken a vacation. If you are waiting for something to turn up, just step on a barrel hoop.
I. H. Wood, with his family, moved out to his ranch in Silvies valley this week.
Oregon has given a republican majority of about seven hundred, and made more.
Observe the day when G. Wash. fought and bled and died to save America.
The Republican National Convention convenes on Tuesday, the 19th inst., at Chicago.
Most people believe in "the greatest good to the greatest number," and the greatest number is number one.
Bro. Mael feels lonesome in the Clerk's office, but has a kindly feeling towards the republicans for their votes.
Lee Miller's brother arrived during the week from Cottage Grove, and will engage in the blacksmith-business at this place.
Multnomah county has $20,922.07 in the Treasury. Grant county lacks nearly that much of having anything in her treasury.
It is said a band of sheep ran over the democratic party in Oregon, and that a republican can be distinguished by the wool in his teeth.
What has become of that big gold mine which our Quartzburg correspondent mentioned lately? Tell us all about it as we are on the anxious seat.
John Powell delivers each Saturday, to customers in Canyon City, good, fresh butter. Give him your orders, or leave the same at Gundlach's store.
Notice is given to "hogs" in another column that it will be unlawful after sixty days for them to run at large in Grant county. Hogs and other hogs must heed the warning.
Phil Metschan and Wm. Miller took their departure for Linkville, Klamath county, during the week, as witnesses in the action of Grant vs Lake county, to be tried in the Circuit Court of Klamath county.
Politics is often compared to a machine. It is a well known fact that when the gearing is out of order the machine will not work. That is what is the matter with the Democratic party this year. Its Gearing is out of order, and hence they are gone.—Prineville News.
The ladies of John Day City will give a Garden Party and Strawberry Festival in Mr. Hazeltine's orchard on Thursday, June twenty-first, '88, (afternoon and evening.) In the evening a programme, consisting of Recitations, Vocal and Instrumental Music will be offered for the entertainment of guests.
The way political papers "carry on" over the result of the recent election is amusing. Republicans display the old-time roster at the head of their editorial columns, but the defeated Democratic Wasco Sun, displays a guilt-edged, concentrated, double geared ladies, corsat, with which he claims his party was "vined" by the Republicans.

Commissioner's Court.

At the adjourned term of court held last Saturday, the following proceedings were had:
Louis Racine & Uvalde Cato, of Burns, granted a liquor license.
G. D. Rickard, of Canyon City, same.
Henry Breyer, of Canyon City, same.
Wm. Coatsworth, of Harney, same.
T. Stillman, of Burns, same.
In the matter of the proposed county road commencing at John Day and leading to the old bridge on the west fork of Beech creek. John Fisk, Wm. Luce and E. Hayes were appointed viewers, and J. H. Neal surveyor.
In the matter of the proposed county road leading from the 27 mile stake on the road from Harney to Diamond valley, the viewers and surveyor having failed to receive their notification in time, they were allowed until the 25th day of June to do their work.
Circuit Judge Fee.
Mumps are epidemic in this city.
Rains and winds and storms these days.
The Spring term of public school closed Tuesday.
John Laycock is attending the Grand Lodge of Masons at Portland.
Eastern capitalists are looking after the Baker county mines.
Mr. Stevenson, a jeweler from Cottage Grove, is in town, and will probably locate here.
Butz & Thomas are busy on their quarry ledge, putting up buildings, and an arrastra.
No marriage license has been granted by the county clerk for the past two weeks. What ails love's young dream?
In this issue we publish the official vote of the county, by precincts. Paste the same in your hat for future reference. The vote between Bro. Hayes and Johnny Daly for School superintendent was the closest of any, resulting in 8 votes in favor of Bro. Hayes.
The members of the Grand Army at John Day have given up their Fourth of July celebration in favor of the Canyon City Fire Department and they will attend and help to make our celebration a success. This generous action on their part should not be forgotten, as the Veterans have sacrificed a considerable, and when they do have an entertainment let us all aid them, and show them that we appreciate the kindness they have rendered us.
An old gentleman who came in from the South last week was told by some person in Bear Valley that the Indians were on the war-path, and had murdered a family in the valley, but our citizens investigated the matter and found it to be only an idle rumor. The old gentleman was sincere, however, but stated that he obtained his information "from a fellow who was told by a sheep-herder," or words to that effect. Should the Indians commence their raids they would not last long, as the county has a larger population now than it had in 1878, and Howard and the U. S. army are not in the way either.

A PUBLIC BENEFIT.

The following, which we see in the last issue of the Long Creek Eagle, is a very sensible suggestion, and we copy it and give the plan to our readers, that they may consider it, discuss the matter among themselves, and if the project is a feasible one, take some action:
Why can't the business men of Long Creek, Canyon City, John Day and Hamilton, form a joint Stock Co., and purchase the wire and instruments of the Heppner Telegraph Company, and establish a line of telegraph communications between these points and Heppner, where it can connect with the O. R. & N. telegraph line; thereby giving us daily news from all points in the United States.
The material of the Heppner Co. can be purchased at a very low price, and as the railroad, now approaching Heppner, will necessitate the construction of a telegraph line over which to transport their road business, and will thereby throw the telegraph material of the Heppner joint-stock company upon the market. A line can be established at a very reasonable expense, as the material can be secured at a very low figure, and the route being through a heavily timbered country, the cost of poles and other material of that class, would be very limited.
The advantages of a telegraph line would be great. Wool-growers would receive daily reports from the various wool markets, which would enable them to sell their wool at the highest market price, so also would the merchant, and in fact the entire community be benefited, for where the producers, and traders are enabled to take advantage of the markets, the consumers will also derive their share of the benefits.
Although the project would be to heavy a weight for any one of the above mentioned towns to bear, by organizing a joint-stock company, composed of the business men of these four places, it would prove profitable to themselves, and beneficial to the entire community.

LONG CREEK LYRICS.

Long Creek, June '88.
Branson beat Goff by one vote for Justice of the Peace. Pretty close.
Mr. Chas. Lee will start on a hunting tour as soon as the rain lets up.
The election passed off quietly, with the exception of one or two minor fights.
Barney McGill of Fox, paid the town a visit, renewing old acquaintanceship.
While Newt Leslie came down to vote somebody jumped his ranch. Newt says he'll jump too.
Chas. E. Dustin got there all the same. He is now "Chief Marshal" of Long Creek precinct.
Ivan Laam was arrested for driving a pistol, but was discharged by Justice Branson on account of insufficient testimony.
Kit Carson got himself once more into the clutches of the law, this time for taking hogs not his own.—LATER: Deft. put under $300 bonds.
Mr. Waterbury went through town with a band of horses, on his way to Wash. Territory, where he expects to find a market for the same. It seems like carrying coals to Newcastle.
Sam Smith made complaint before squire Branson that a man by the name of Barger, living near Wall Creek, had branded and was claiming horses belonging to said Smith. Chas. Dustin was authorized to arrest Barger and bring him into court.
There is a great complaint by the farmers about squirrels destroying grain. They seem to be worse this year than they have ever been before. Mr. Ballance says they cut ten acres of his grain so completely off that it is not worth looking after.
Mr. Fry Wilson came to town, treating everybody, when asked what was the matter, whether his man got elected or not, said: "Man elected be—blessed. It is a girl just arrived."
Come to the celebration.
In shaving dried beef for breakfast, if the razor be sharp, no lather need be applied.
For ventilation, open your windows top and bottom. If that is not sufficient, knock out a pane or two.
Hazeltine was offering a reward for a democrat the other day. He wanted to take his photograph.
By the Grace of Harney valley—not of God—the democrats elected two of their candidates, clerk and commissioner.
The state teacher's institute will be held at Salem, July 5th, 6th and 7th. The national teacher's institute will open at San Francisco July 16. Oregon will send a delegation.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

Washington, June 7th, '88.
At the present writing Gen. Sheridan's condition is very critical, and ere this reaches you, you will probably have heard of his death. His improvement of the few past days was a decided one, but suddenly there came a change, and this time the heart trouble has returned complicated with a congestion of the lungs.
Two days ago there seemed to be a chance that the General might pull through and the soldiers were congratulating themselves Wednesday (Memorial Day) that they were spared one melancholy duty which two days before seemed an inevitable part of the Decoration day programme. Gen. Sheridan has faced death many times and in many shapes during his adventurous career, but probably never came into such close quarters with the great destroyer as during his present illness.
A long session of Congress is predicted. It is the opinion of some prominent members of Congress that the tariff bill cannot be brought to a final vote in the House before the middle of July, and then if the Senate should conclude to consider it, it would be sometime in August before the bill would be returned to the House, and then a conference committee would have to consider it. So from this standpoint it will be September before Congress can adjourn.
Since the Mills tariff bill reached its crisis—its consideration by sections or a final vote as it stands, the republicans have canvassed many times without being able to frame a substitute for the bill that would be satisfactory to the party. Therefore they decided to proceed by way of obstructing and amending the bill. Two other things they decided upon, that they would have the Blair educational bill and all the general pension bills on the calendar brought up for consideration as early as possible.
The end of the contest for secret executive sessions came on Monday last when by a vote of twenty-two against twenty-one, a strict party vote, the republicans decided that the Fisheries treaty should be discussed in open session, with open doors and crowded galleries. The debate on this question has been hot through all the half day sessions behind closed doors which it has occupied, but on Monday it was hotter than ever. Senator Sherman's motive in turning Senator Sherman's motive in turning around, after having voted and reported against the open session resolution, was very freely criticized. The Senate was plainly told that Mr. Sherman was at the bottom of the whole open session movement, and that his candidacy for the Presidential nomination was the manning of his actions.
The recent talk about nominating Judge Thurman for Vice-President recalls the fact that every occupant of that place who was more than sixty years old when elected has died in office. The list is limited to five, and all the names are well known to readers of American history: Clinton, Gerry, King, Wilson, and Hendricks. If elected, Judge Thurman would be seventy-five years old within a few days of his election, and hence, as regards the probabilities of his survival, would have fifteen years on the wrong side of the account. However, the Judge has doubtless put a stop to any further discussion of his eligibility to any public office by his recent statements; "If the people believe me to be an honest man they will let me alone," and "all I want now is a seat in heaven."
Senator Sherman was very irate over the President's veto of the Youngstone, Ohio, public building bill. He drew a parallel of the President's veto power and that of the Czar of Russia, and the Sultan of Turkey and announced the fact that he would make an effort to pass the bill over his veto.
