A wife and apparently very rich mineral ledge away up on the east fork of Canyon creek is attracting an unusual amount of attention. As soon as the result of assays are known we will give them to the reading public.

The editor of the Hagen News has shipped by the silver beams of the moon, leaving his lady to mourn his sudden departure. It is thought he has joined Chief Pio, to obtain his allotment of land on the Cancellation reservation.

D. L. Shick, the murderer of Jensen, who was to have had his preliminary examination here last Monday was examined before the justice of the peace for the prisoner in which the deed was committed, the result of which we have not heard.

The cleanup at the Fred Miller mine was very unsatisfactory to the owners and they are almost discouraged. This was most likely the result of their inexperienced, for Mr. Butt thinks he could make one dollar a day with a mortar, pounding the rock. At that rate they should have made $100 per day with the mine.

Friday afternoon about five o'clock Jimmy Robinson's horse about eight miles up the creek back fire from the kitchen stove to the absence of Mr. Robinson and burned to the ground with all its contents. Mrs. Robinson was washing, and the clothes burned in the tub, and during the fire she was severely burned about the breast and arms. By almost superhuman effort she and the little girl saved the organ and sewing machine, but besides these everything, even all their clothing and bedding was lost. The blow falls heavily on the afflicted family, but they have courage, and will begin life's battle anew.

WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE.

Weekly Budget of News as Furnished by our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 21, 1888.

When John Sherman arose on Tuesday and announced to the Senate that he would "briefly" address that august body on the resolution to inquire into our relations with Canada, there was no trace of irony in his tones. He read his speech, rather an unusual thing for Mr. Sherman to do, having only occurred once before during this session, that being when he challenged the President's tariff utterances in his annual message. Mr. Sherman's speech is about two hundred words a minute, and as he talked one hour, the speech was long enough, at least, to be a complete review of the case. The attendance was unusually large. The remedy advanced, and which was insisted upon with much new and novel argument, and this set speech was perhaps more interesting than most of Mr. Sherman's official manifestoes of his party, and so was received on all sides.

It pleased Senator Morgan, in his reply, to pursue a light not to say chaste jest, but a vein of thought. He described a portion of Mr. Sherman's speech as being a "post-mortem examination of the recent fisheries treaty," at which remark Mr. Sherman's eastern face relaxed into a wrought-iron smile. In response to a question, Mr. Morgan said that while his party had no intention resorting to extreme measures, it would make an honest and strong effort to pass the bill. Republicans, of course, took this to be a threat of filibustering. The Committee on Foreign Affairs took hold of the House bill on Wednesday, but no result can be hoped for until several sittings are held.

The Democratic caucus of Tuesday night called together the majority of the Democratic members, and the discussion of adjournment was long and vigorous. Mr. Buckley, Missouri, presided, and it was soon discovered that he was opposed to the Oates resolution to adjourn October 1.

Other speakers said that, as the Republican Senators had no idea of passing a tariff bill this session, that adjournment was wise and most economical and creditable to the party. If the Republicans in the Senate do not introduce their bill on next Tuesday, another caucus will be in order.

The way the Scott Chinese bill was rushed through the Senate on Wednesday, was bewildering. There are Chinese merchants of San Francisco now revisiting China, under the sacred passport of the United States, who would never, under this bill, be allowed to return. There are no November elections to hasten actions in China, and the government of that country might take six months to consider a treaty. In the end, however, action would be dignified and effectual. We don't want the Chinese, and China don't want to lose them. Senator Edmunds did the proper thing when he requested that the bill should be examined by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, but many Republicans were afraid of the political effect of delay. I do not think, as is predicted that the bill will now be delayed in the House. This act of needless disregard for common international courtesy will be completed.

Representatives Matson and Hovey, the rival candidates are both in their seats in the House this week, having returned from Indiana Tuesday. General Hovey is confident that Harrison and Morton will carry Indiana by 8,000 majority, and he adds, "you see, in that state, we have a slight advantage on the tariff question." Col. Matson is no less confident that Cleveland and Thurman will carry the state, though he refuses to guess at the majority. He cheerfully winds up his assertion with the opinion, "you see, we have a decided advantage on the tariff question." Both candidates are united, however, on the necessity of getting back to Indiana as soon as possible—adjournment or no adjournment.

The wife and daughter of the new chief Justice Fuller arrived in Washington this week, and are engaged in fitting up beautiful "Belmont" the mansion on Columbia Heights, which the family will occupy. The supreme Court commences on the first Monday in October, and Mr. Fuller will arrive at that time to commence his career on the bench.

The sad news that comes from Paris to the effect that Senator Stanford of California, is the victim of a queer malady, making him sleep when he wants to be awake and stay awake when he wants to sleep, or rather makes both candidate involuntary marks the breaking up of a great physique, and foreshadows the political end of one of those famous early Californians who used to cut such a wide swathe in Washington. These men, all of them genial and most of them generous, bold and resourceful, have nearly all passed up of notice. The oft-repeated story of the vanity of riches is told in their life stories with the inexorable voice of fate, and the scores of men in Washington that Leland Stanford has lifted up into the sunlight of prosperity watch with sorrows his "passing under the rod."

Deaf Thirty-one Years.

How a Lady was Cured by an Advertising Doctor.

A Palpable Reason Why they Should Not All be Adjudged Impostors.—Free Treatment Continued.

From the Chronicle.

It is invariably the rule that among advertising doctors, one out of a hundred perform the cures and relief he advertises to, and among few who cure, Drs. Daring stand in the lead. Their testimonials alone are sufficient to bear witness to the foregoing assertion, and it is doubtful whether among the thousands of advertising doctors in the country there is a single one who has met with such eminent success as those above quoted, as the following testimonial will show. The lady referred to is well known and her word can be relied on.

Mr. Editor—For many years I have been a victim of the most excruciating pain in my eyes, weary days and nights of intense suffering from which there seemed but little relief, were prostrating my whole system. For years I have been troubled with catarrh, liver complaint, and deafness for thirty-one years; also a lump in my side, thought by some to be an ovarian tumor. It gave me great pain. Having tried many remedies without success, I concluded to see what merit Drs. Daring's electro-magnetic treatment possessed. I put myself under their care and to my joy and satisfaction I am cured and now enjoying the priceless boon of health and being. My child was also cured of an aggravated disease, as well as many of my neighbors. Refer anyone to me at Meadows, Lewis county, W. T.

MRS. A. BANISTER.

The Drs. Daring are located at 235 Fifth street, corner Main, Portland, and Sime House, Walla Walla, W. T. Office hours from 10 to 4 daily; evening, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 12. All eligible chronic and private diseases, catarrh and deafness are confidentially and successfully treated. Most cases can receive home treatment after a visit to doctors' office. All communications strictly and confidentially. Consultation free; the poor treated free from 9 to 10 A. M. daily. Call soon, as the doctors' stay in Portland is limited.

To Fruit Dealers, Shippers and Consumers.

1,000 bushels of choice Winter Apples and 2,000 gallons of cider vinegar now offered for sale at lowest cash rates.

I will sell apples by the quantity at the orchard, 50 cents per box—or 1 1/2 cents per pound, cash in hand or take merchantable firm produce on delivery at lowest cash rates.

Special and reduced terms offered on heavy orders, or for the entire crop in the orchard.

The above designated rates to hold good during gathering time, or from Oct. 1st to Nov. 1st, 1888.

By close attention, pruning and cultivation, I can now offer to the public apples of superior size and flavor, and as good keeping varieties as are to be found East or West of the Cascade mountains. Come and see and judge for yourselves.

Orchard situated two miles east of John Day, and one-half mile south of the Prairie City and John Day road. Residence in Poplar Grove north of the orchard.

Hard cider, cream cider and Sweet cider free to customers while holding.
